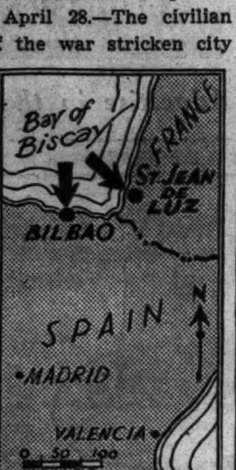
BILBAO FACES MASSACRE; ASKS RESCUE BY SEA

British Navy to Aid; Rebels Near City.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—The civilian population of the war stricken city of Bilbao, hungry and terrified by the guns and bombs of the Spanish Fascist rebels, was promised assistance today from the British navy.



Civilians to be evacuated from Bilbao to St. Jean de Luz, France.

Authorities of the Basque capital, on the northern coast of Spain, fearing the prospect of an army of Moors running wild through the city, the population of which has been swelled to 400,000 by war refugees, appealed to the French and British governments for help in evacuating civilians. It was emphasized that this did not mean that the Basques were contemplating surrender of their capital, but is merely intended to give the fighting forces greater leeway to resist the rebels.

Begin Sailing in Two Days.

The British response to the Basque appeal was announced in the house of commons by Wilfred Roberts, Liberal member. The British navy, he said, will begin the evacuation from Bilbao, probably, within two days. Refugees will be taken to St. Jean de Luz, France, he said.

Roberts, who said he made the announcement with the approval of the British foreign office, declared:

"There is a feeling of concern at the ghastly possibilities for 400,000 people, including some 100,000 children, should Mola [Gen. Emilio Mola, rebel commander] carry out his threat completely to destroy Bilbao, as was done Monday at Guernica."

Eight hundred citizens were slain in the air raid on Guernica.

The prospect of such destruction and its terrible consequences to the population of Bilbao were greatly enhanced today when the besieging rebels occupied the city of Durango, keystone of Bilbao's defensive system. Durango is 16 miles southeast of Bilbao.

Smash Through 60 Mile Front.

An announcement from rebel headquarters at Vitoria said the Basque resistance had been smashed along a 60 mile front and that the defenders were "completely demoralized" and were fleeing in disorder toward Bilbao.

Five thousand Basques and government troops with twenty tanks made the last stand in Durango, said the rebel communique. The city was taken by an encircling movement by the rebels and hand to hand fighting was reported before the defense suddenly crumpled.

Earlier in the day a desperate band of government defenders was reported to be making a last stand in the Durango Church of Santa Maria. They dragged cannon into the church and for many hours prevented the rebels from making any headway through the town.

Push Line to Seacoast.

The rebels reported that north of Durango the forces of Gen. Mola swept westward, capturing several towns extending to the region of Lequeitio, on the Bay of Biscay coast. At least four tactically important mountains were gained in this phase of the advance.

Rebel officers estimated that the defenders of Bilbao had lost more than 10,000 killed, wounded or captured.

The rebel right wing was reported pressing on Guernica, eight miles north of Durango. At nightfall the advance had carried them to within half a mile of the town.

The "massacre and terrorism" of yesterday's rebel air raid on the Basque cradle of liberty at Guernica was assailed by Labor and Liberal members of the house of commons today. The Basques attributed the raid to the orders of a German-Italian staf with headquarters at Deva on the northern Spanish front.

3 DEMOCRATIC SENATORS TAKE ADVERSE STAND

Unfavorable Report Now Assured.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—An adverse report by the senate judiciary committee on President Roosevelt's bill to pack the Supreme court was assured today when three uncommitted members declared their absolute opposition to the proposal of adding six justices to the highest tribunal "at one fell swoop."

The declaration of these three senators, Pat McCarran of Nevada, Carl Hatch of New Mexico, and Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, all Democrats, made a total of ten out of eighteen committee members who are definitly against the President's bill.

Besides assuring an adverse report by the judiciary committee, the stand taken by these senators, each of whom had been counted upon to support the President's bill on the final showdown, makes it apparent that the administration's best hope is for a compromise permitting an increase of the court by not more than two members.

Proposes Increase of Two.

Senator McCarran, who is urging an amendment providing for a flat increase of two members, without regard to the age or retirement of the present nine justices, electrified the judiciary committee when he spoke for an hour and a half denouncing the President's bill. The committee was in executive session, but it was learned that both supporters and opponents of the measure congratulated Senator McCarran when he had concluded.

McCarran later made a statement of his position to newspaper men declaring that the President's proposal would destroy the independence of the Supreme court and the confidence which the people have in its decisions. Senators Hatch and O'Mahoney quickly fell in line, blasting the proposition of adding new members to the court for the purpose of changing a line of decisions.

That this is the real and only serious purpose of the court packing scheme was frankly admitted by the President himself in his radio "fireside chat" on March 9, when he said: "I will appoint justices who will not undertake to override the judgment of congress on legislative policy."

For Independent Court.

"The Supreme court of the U. S. should be an independent part of the government," said Senator McCarran. "It stands as an independent arbiter between the state and the government; and when I say the state I mean an orderly and organized body of people—the source of all law.

"A constitutional government like ours requires an independent arbiter to say when any government in power oversteps the constitution.

"In my judgment, the Supreme court should not be a department of government subject to the will of either of the other two branches of government. While the Supreme court and every other court that interprets the law should at all times keep abreast of the law and therefore be progressive, it is not for any other branch of the government to say it should reform its views to carry out the will of another branch.

"For that reason I am opposed to and will continue to oppose the President's bill, because it is in my judg-

Governor Gets 3 Cent Sales Tax Extension

Springfield, Ill., April 29 [Thursday].—[Special.]—The Illinois senate in an early morning session today voted, 35 to 5, for the extension of the 3 cent state occupational [sales] tax to Feb. 15, 1939.

Three bills accomplishing the purpose were passed. All previously had been approved by the house. They now go to Gov. Horner for his signature. Had the senate not taken the action the tax would have reverted to 2 cents next Saturday.

The senators who voted against the extension were George C. Dixon of Dixon, Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton, T. Mac Downing of Macomb, Edward E. Laughlin of Freeport, and Oral P. Tuttle of Harrisburg, all Republicans.

Hold Up Tax Rate Bill.

After one of the warmest tilts in this session the house of representatives temporarily defeated a bill to allow all Illinois cities and villages except Chicago to increase their general tax rates 35 per cent. The measure fell four votes short of the constitutionally required 77 and it was kept alive only by that motion, unique to Illinois, that further consideration be postponed.

This opposition to boosting taxes was displayed even after the house by votes of 84 to 29 and 84 to 26 passed two unprecedented bills establishing minimum salaries for policemen and firemen in all cities and villages whose populations range between 10,000 and 150,000.

Indorsed by State's Labor.

Importance also was attached to the written indorsement of all three bills by the Illinois Federation of Labor. Some fire fighting units already are organized and affiliated with the federation, but there have been no police unions announced in this state.

There was a buzz of excitement in the house when Representative Jos. Sam Perry [D., Glen Ellyn], who has been a warm supporter of Gov. Horner, introduced new bills to increase the present 3 cent sales tax and public utilities tax to 4 cents.

Perry denied emphatically that Gov. Horner even knew of the bills and said they were his own idea of the way to include high schools under the benefits of the state distributive school fund now limited to grade schools. The school angle was covered by a third bill. All three went to committees.

By a vote of 31 to 0 the senate passed Senator Harold G. Ward's bill to increase the number of Cook county Superior court judges from 28 to 34.

SEEKS TO KEEP HIS FEET WARM AND GETS HOT FOOT AND SPRAIN

Monroe, Wis., April 28.—[Special.]—A desire to keep his bare feet off the cold floor of his bedroom while he undressed sent Gottfried Notter of Monroe township, to a doctor today for treatment of burns and a badly sprained back. Property damage amounted to $20.

After removing his trousers last night Notter stepped on them to keep from touching the floor. A bunch of matches in his pants pocket thereupon ignited. His sock and a window curtain caught fire.

Forgetful of water in the house, the excited Notter sped for a bowl of milk from the pantry and threw it on the blazing curtains. The flames continued unabated, so he got the garbage from the kitchen. The swill put out the fire. But a box in a corner was still burning. Notter grabbed it up and rushed outside, only to slip on the steps and wrench his back. While he was painfully returning to the battle, Mrs. Notter threw out the burning sock.

Blaze Put Out on Train Carrying Tons of Gold

Washington Court House, O., April 28.—(AP)—Firemen learned today they had extinguished a blaze aboard a train bearing tons of gold. The train, rerouted because of high water along the Ohio river, was halted here late last night on its way to Fort Knox, Ky., as firemen were called to extinguish a blaze in the dining car.

Sherif Sadly Reports a One Man Arbor Day

It is not generally known, but for many years the Englewood police station has harbored a nature lover in the person of Detective Ernest Schloeman.

Stern, serious minded, and a deft thief catcher, Detective Schloeman is known to his associates as the Sherif of Englewood.

But behind the rugged exterior of the doughty detective beats the heart of a man who looks often on more gentle pursuits than snatching burglars. Detective Schloeman loves trees.

Spring Comes to Englewood.

Since the gentle breath of spring touched the grimy windows of Englewood station on a recent warm day the patrolmen and detectives have been aware of Schloeman's passion, a suitable arbor for the treeless parkway and back yard of the station house.

Schloeman suggested collecting a fund to purchase a row of fine shade trees. But his brother officers only laughed.

So yesterday the sherif of Englewood laid out four of his own dollars and bought four young poplars. Proudly he carried the saplings to the station. His comrades continued to snicker.

A Labor of Love.

Detective Schloeman set to work. He dug two deep holes in the parkway flanking the station door. In each hole he planted a sapling and watered it.

In the afternoon he began similar procedures in the back yard. Toiling for an hour, Schloeman fashioned two holes. Then he turned to pick up the saplings which he had set against the buildings. He was ready to complete the arbor.

A few minutes later his brother officers saw Schloeman bending over the complaint book. In it they saw him write: "Stolen, two young poplars from the back yard of the station."

Chicago Auto Massacre Is Biggest in U.S.

Chicago led all cities of the nation in number of trafic deaths for the first quarter of 1937 with 196 persons killed, the National Safety council reported yesterday.

But Los Angeles' trafic death rate was by far the highest of any of the nation's great cities. In Los Angeles, during the quarter, motor victims were being killed at the rate of 47 for each 100,000 of population annually, while in Chicago the rate was only 22.5. The Los Angeles rate is in contrast with New York's 10.2, the lowest of any large city in the nation.

National Death Rate 26.5.

Chicago's 22.5 rate was exceeded by that of four other cities besides Los Angeles, Detroit with 23.8, Baltimore with 25, Cleveland with 28.3, and Buffalo with 28.7. The national death rate for the quarter was 26.5. At this rate, safety council officials said the nation's death toll would reach the new all-time high of 38,000 for the year.

The 196 persons killed by motor vehicles here in the first three months of 1937 exceeded by 15 the city's total for the same period last year and topped by 14 the number killed in New York in the first quarter of this year.

New York's Increase Largest.

New York nevertheless showed the greatest proportionate increase in number of deaths of any large city, with 42 more this year than in the first quarter of 1936. Last year New York was grand prize winner in the council's national trafic safety contest.

There were approximately 8,500 trafic fatalities in the United States in the first quarter, 26 per cent more than the 6,760 killed in the same period last year. Illinois' 444 fatalities represented a 36.5 per cent increase.

Toll Heavier in Large Cities.

Numerical increases in deaths included: Los Angeles, from 123 to 159; Detroit, from 73 to 99; Philadelphia, from 51 to 85; Cleveland, from 50 to 65; Boston, from 22 to 32; Milwaukee, from 17 to 20, and San Francisco, from 27 to 36.

St. Louis alone of the cities of over 500,000 population showed a decrease in trafic deaths. It had 36, five fewer than in the first quarter of 1936. Bayonne, N. Y., with a population of 91,100 was the nation's largest city without a motor death.

17 Illinois Cities Escape.

Seventeen of the 60 Illinois communities of over 10,000 population had perfect "no death" records. These included Wilmette, Winnetka, and Freeport, which had no fatalities last year. Suburbs without fatalities for the first quarter this year numbered in addition Maywood, Elmwood Park, Waukegan, Forest Park, Park Ridge, and Brookfield. Other communities in the state that had no motor deaths in the first quarter were Decatur, Champaign, Ottawa, East Moline, Sterling, Moline, Dixon, and Mattoon.

Second only to Chicago in Illinois for number of deaths was Peoria,

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHATEAU DE CANDE, Monts, France, April 28.—The bishops and barons can sleep easy. Their coronation will not be crowded off the front pages by the marriage of their tribal ex-god with the American commoner whom he thought more important than the crown of England.

This is the firm belief prevailing at the Château de Cande, where they ought to know, and it appears to be the belief of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson herself, although she avoided any direct reference to the reports of the coming marriage in a long conversation with THE TRIBUNE correspondent at the château this morning.

May Wed in June.

While the date of the marriage, like other details, still is said to be unfixed, this correspondent was led to believe—not by Mrs. Simpson, but nevertheless in informed quarters—that it will not in any case take place until after the coronation of King George VI. of Great Britain on May 12 and probably not for another month.

Naturally after a separation of nearly five months Mrs. Simpson and Edward, the exiled sovereign, are not going to wait that long to see one another, and it can be stated categorically that Edward is arriving in France in the very near future—probably at the beginning of next week.

It is not certain, however, that he will come straight to the Château de Cande. Mrs. Simpson may run up to Paris for a few days to meet him in the house of some friend there. Whether it is Paris or the Château de Cande probably will not be decided until the last minute.

Listen in on Phone Calls.

Only when Mrs. Simpson and Edward have had a chance to talk things over will the time and place of the wedding be settled. One reason why it has been impossible to make any hard and fast plans is that it is very difficult for Mrs. Simpson and her fiancé to communicate rapidly and discreetly. An exchange of letters is unsatisfactory for settling such matters, and the long distance telephone is not trusted for such confidential discussions.

Mrs. Simpson's telephone calls are systematically listened in on—by local newspaper men, for one thing, and perhaps by other and more censorious ears. This is one of the technical details which keeps the life of the most envied and glamorous woman of this century from being the bed of roses which uninformed minds imagine.

While definite plans cannot be made before the ex-king's arrival, the expectations in the château seem clearly to be that the wedding will take place here toward the end of May. Probably this is Mrs. Simpson's idea or preference and subject to Edward's approval. If his resentment at the recent attacks on him is as hot as pictured, it may be he will not want to wait until after the coronation to get married, but no one at the Château de Cande believes this to be the case.

Castle Not for Sale.

One rumor can definitly be disposed of. Mrs. Simpson is not going to buy the castle of Charles E. Bedaux of New York nor rent it. In fact, it is not for sale. Mrs. Simpson acts as hostess, not as the Bedaux's house guest. She runs the place as if she were renting it because Bedaux placed the property at her disposal on a purely friendly basis and instructed his servants to take orders from her during her stay. Bedaux is in London and his wife has been in Paris for some time, so Mrs. Simpson has the fifteenth century castle and huge park entirely to herself at the moment.

The authority for the statement that Mrs. Simpson is not going to buy or rent the château is Herman L. Rogers of New York, Mrs. Simpson's minister of press and propaganda, who, with his wife, accompanied Mrs. Simpson here from Cannes, France. It is Rogers who talks to newspaper men, gives out news, if any, about Mrs. Simpson, and protects her as far as possible from excesses of zeal on the part of reporters.

Rogers, a pleasant spoken, alert young man, did not realize what he was letting himself in for. Now he has got a job on his hands that would make a hardened veteran of any one's foreign office or the public relations counsel of a great corporation quake in his boots.

Questions Are Taboo.

Rogers does not look like he has been losing much sleep, however, and talks authoritatively on press releases, deadlines all around the world, the peculiar problems of the news agencies as distinguished from special correspondents and other technical subjects.

Unlike most official press agents he realizes that handouts are not enough for correspondents and occasionally arranges informal meetings between Mrs. Simpson and correspondents. Quotations are taboo at these chats, and this is the condition on which THE TRIBUNE correspondent talked with Mrs. Simpson this morning.

The conversation started in the long raftered library of the fifteenth century castle where the wedding may be held, and then moved to a big living room in the new wing with a roaring fire on a renaissance herth. A glass of sherry was offered as an antidote against the rain.

Wears Black Wool Dress.

Mrs. Simpson was wearing a simple black wool dress with a blue jacket over her shoulders. Her only jewelry was a big platinum ring studded with five diamonds and a platinum chain on her left wrist with blue and green enameled crosses dangling from it. The big, high ceilinged rather heavy room was lightened by a number of flowers.

Mrs. Simpson appeared cheerful and talked vivaciously and freely over a wide range of topics ranging from the American press to the war in Spain. She asked a lot of questions, and intelligent ones, and seemed as thoroughly familiar with the workings of the press as Rogers, who also was present.

Though her famous poise equaled its reputation, she kept twisting her hands nervously and frequent outbursts of laughter sounded a little strange.

Relaxes by Playing Golf.

Visiting the famous châteaux region and golf on Bedaux's eighteen hole championship course are her principal relaxations. The château, like most French ones, does not possess a ghost, which is a relief to Mrs. Simpson, and she was not at all disturbed at having no definite plan for the immediate or more distant future. In fact, she has always thought it bad luck to make plans over twenty-four hours in advance.

She laughed over a story in the French papers describing her "museum" in Baltimore, and over the various doubles she is supposed to have in France, including a cloak girl at the Hotel de Crillon in Paris who, Mrs. Simpson thinks, does not look like her.

Contrary to many reports, Rogers insists Mrs. Simpson has not been to Paris since she came to Touraine.

WALLY PETITIONS COURT FOR FINAL DIVORCE DECREE

Expects Freedom Monday as Lawyers Act.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson's lawyers today set into motion the cumbersome British divorce court machinery which on Monday, May 3, barring any last minute hitches, is expected to make it legally possible for the woman who grew up in Baltimore, Md., to become the bride of former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain.

Mrs. Simpson's solicitors—Theodore Goddard & Co.—first of all sent a member of the firm to Somerset house, the British public record office. There the lawyer filed a notice and affidavit that a search has been made and that no person had put in an appearance to object to making permanent the provisional divorce decree granted Mrs. Simpson on Oct. 27 at Ipswich. This step is a legal requirement which must be made six days before the time appointed for making absolute a divorce decree nisi.

Post Notice Tomorrow.

After filing this notice at Somerset house Mrs. Simpson's lawyers then formally filed an application with the divorce division of the high court in London. In it they petitioned that the Ipswich decree nisi be made absolute, there being no objections or interventions. Thus all necessary preliminaries have been complied with. The next event in the legalities of the affair will be the posting of a notice on Friday that an application for a final decree has been made and listing it for hearing on Monday.

A possibility exists that the application may not be heard by the high court on that day, but it is not probable, and everything indicates that Mrs. Simpson and the duke of Windsor, so far as the law is concerned, will be free to wed any time after late Monday afternoon.

Telephone Wires Busy.

With the filing of the affidavit by Mrs. Simpson's lawyers nothing now can prevent a complete and absolute severing of the marriage bonds between her and her second husband, Ernest A. Simpson.

The telephone wires between London and the Chateau de Cande, near Monts, France, where Mrs. Simpson is staying, and between London and St. Wolfgang, Austria, where Edward is living, conveyed the legal details to the two principals.

Hundreds in U. S. Cancel Their Bookings for May in London

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—A steady stream of cancelations of steamship passengers booked for the coronation in London has altered the entire picture of American participation in the colorful ceremonies, it was revealed today. Steamship officials said hundreds of American who had booked for the coronation in recent months were canceling and that the withdrawals were still coming in steadily for ships still scheduled to sail between now and May 5.

The tourists who changed their minds have given steamship officials a variety of excuses, which could be grouped roughly in two classifications.

Labor and Market Troubles.

Many business men reported that they were reluctant to leave their offices because of threatened labor troubles and the trend of federal legislation "antagonistic to big business." The wavering stock market and uneasiness as a result of the government's current fiscal problems were given as additional reasons.

Other prospective passengers have been frightened away from the coronation by what steamship men characterized as the ill-advised program of ballyhoo emanating from London, resulting in a fairly general conception of the British capital as being so packed with visitors that there is scarcely room to move in the streets.

Hundreds of passengers who had planned since last fall to attend the coronation have decided in recent weeks not to go at all because of exorbitant prices being charged for seats in the stands along the march and for hotel and other accommodation facilities.

Blame Poor Publicity.

One steamship official said today that London publicity, instead of attracting Americans to the coronation, is frightening them away with stories of fabulous costs. One hotel, he said, was charging guests for seven days, even if they remained in the hotel for only one.

Marcel Delaporte, passenger manager of the French line, said 250 passengers had canceled bookings on ships of that line in the last few weeks. The Holland American line reported 100 cancelations, with others still coming in. The North German Lloyd-Hamburg American combination reported 100 withdrawals from the Europa, which sailed Tuesday midnight, and others on the Deutschland, Columbus, New York, and Bremen.

The Cunard White Star liner Aquatania sailed today without approximately 100 passengers who had previously booked fc the celebration on May 12, and the Berengaria of the same company, sailing next Tuesday, has already lost a similar number of passengers.

Agents Seize $5,000 Opium on Liner President Harding

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Gum opium, 40 pounds of it, valued at $5,000, was seized today by special agents of the treasury on the United States Lines' President Harding. Three sailors were arrested, two of them members of the crew, charged with smuggling and violation of the narcotic drug import and export act.

Pick Engineer's Pocket as He Shakes Farley's Hand

Galesburg, Ill., April 28.—(AP)—A crowd gathered last night in front of a local hotel to shake hands with Postmaster General James A. Farley, here to dedicate a new postoffice. In it was S. P. Camper, a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad engineer. Camper pushed to the front and grasped Farley's hand. While he was doing this, he informed police later, some one picked his pockets of $100 in cash, his railroad pass, and a watch ticket.

PEERESSES BUY WIGS TO BALANCE THEIR CORONETS

Find False Hair Gives Greater Comfort.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Thousands of seats along the route which the coronation procession will follow on May 12 remained unsold today. One agency already has broken away from the "stand fast" policy of the others. It advertised a "final sale of 500 superb seats on the route at nearly half price."

Two columns of classified ads in the London Times and nearly as many in other papers show that a number of seats are left. Most of the advertisments were placed by agencies with large lots of seats. Nearly all, however, still maintain 5 guineas [roughly $26] as the lowest price.

Advertisments of a new type are beginning to appear as the public tires of waiting for a drop in the price of seats. Among these are such as the following: "Wanted: Eight good coronation seats, 2 guineas each."

Still Hope for Big Profits.

Some advertisers still held out hopefully for the profiteering prices that marked the first sales. One, for example, offered a flat to rent overlooking the route at $525 for each room just for the one day.

Another asked the same price for a full floor of a private house in Park Lane. Private suites on the route were offered for $425.

Every one is trying to get a whack at the coronation gravy.

"Lady of title," read one advertisment in the Times, "luxurious London house, willing entertain to six at coronation festivities, including best seats, balls, etc."

Second Hand Tiara for Sale.

Another offered a second hand tiara of "attractive design" for $725. A thriving business has been done in second hand robes and coronets. Prevailing prices were reported to be about $200 for good quality second hand robes.

The cost of new outfits may be seen in the fact that a peer's coronation attire, for instance, costs $650 to $1,650, including uniform, robes, and coronet.

The cheapest ordinary velvet court dress with brocaded jacket costs about $275, and even a consul needs a uniform that costs $350.

A good business is being done by wig makers who reported a heavy demand from peeresses. Those who do not need wigs for appearance like them because they make the wearing of the coronet more comfortable. Many women wear their hair too short to look well with a coronet.

The wig makers reported the heaviest demand is for silver gray and curly hair, which costs $19 an ounce. Blond hair is next. It costs $16 an ounce. About three and a half ounces are required for a wig.

A tiara is one of the costly items required by peeresses. It is understood that one of those appearing in Westminster Abbey at the coronation ceremony will contain a single diamond worth $200,000. The name of the owner was not revealed.

Edward's Picture Removed.

As the liner Queen Mary sailed today from Southampton to pick up its final load of coronation visitors in New York, it was discovered that a portrait of the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, has been removed from the main companionway. An autographed photograph of King George VI. and Queen Mother Mary replaced it.

Cunard-White Star Line officials, who apparently considered the duke's picture not an appropriate ornament for a vessel carrying crowds to the coronation of his successor, had the abdicated king's picture removed and sent to Liverpool.

The Royal academy in London also ordered the removal of a painting from its annual exhibition because it looked too much like the duke of Windsor. The painting represents a crowned figure and is entitled "The Lord of Creation." The artist, Oswald Moser, said it did not represent any living person.

PERSHING TEARS SOME SPLENDOR OFF HIS UNIFORM

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—An inquisitive group gathered outside a deck door of John J. Pershing's cabin on the United States liner President Harding today just before the retired general of the armies sailed to be President Roosevelt's representative at the coronation of George VI. and Queen Elizabeth on May 12.

A soft voiced man leaned forward as knuckles banged on the cabin door. He warned:

"The general is sore about the story of the uniform. Don't ask him about it."

A Washington dispatch earlier had described the uniform Gen. Pershing had designed to wear at the London event. It told all about the knee length, high collared coat, the gold embroidered collar and cuffs, the four gold stars on each sleeve, the gold epaulets, the buff sash, the gold stripes down each trouser leg, the "fore and aft" hat of black.

An Insensitive Inquisitor.

The cabin door opened, and the general of the armies, in a double breasted suit of dark gray, bowed formally.

"How about your uniform, general?" piped a voice.

The general's hands dropped. He rolled his eyes appealingly upward.

"The description of that uniform has been very much exaggerated," he said sternly. "It's simply a modification of the old brigadier general's full dress uniform that I wore twenty years ago. It's just changed to correspond to my present rank. It's a correct regulation uniform."

"Is the uniform in knee breeches?" some one asked.

The general looked upward again, then stared down at his questioner, and after a time he said in disgust:

"You'd better go to a CCC camp and find out."

The Old Carry On Spirit.

A sergeant in mufti had preceded Gen. Pershing up the gangplank, the general not pausing at the pleas of photographers; remarking, indeed, to the sergeant:

"Knock them down."

Also sailing in the official American party of delegates to the coronation was Admiral Hugh Rodman, United States navy, retired, former commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

"Going to wear knee breeches?" he was asked.

Admiral Rodman looked at the horizon and said:

"No. I guess I'll wear pink undies."

DENTIST KNOWS HIS GRIPS; USES ONE ON BURGLAR

Dr. Frank E. Cardio sipped his coffee. Just to be sure, he recalled a few of the holds he'd seen at wrestling matches. Then he paid his check yesterday and strolled out of the restaurant to his dental office across the way at 767 Milwaukee avenue and captured the 6 foot 190 pound burglar whom he had been watching through the window.

For Dr. Cardio it meant giving away seven inches of height, forty-five pounds weight, and considerable reach. But if he remembered those holds correctly, he calculated, he and the giant burglar would be even.

Dr. Cardio couldn't remember the names of the holds. But his memory for the way they were applied was flawless, the police said, when they arrived to find him sitting on Paul Beighel, 45 years old, of 826 South Wabash avenue.

EDWARD SEEKS LONGER LEASE ON AUSTRIAN VILLA

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, April 28.—Edward, duke of Windsor, through his acting equerry, today asked the owners of the lakeside villa Apesbach to extend his lease until May 12. That is the day on which his brother, George VI., will be crowned king of Great Britain. Edward has been staying at the villa since March 19.

Police protection was increased at St. Wolfgang this morning. It is feared that as the date of the exiled king's departure nears tourists will attempt to crash in on his privacy. Edward played golf at Ischl this morning. Tonight he made his regular telephone call to Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

The ex-monarch is living an extremely simple life. The villa's kitchen equipment is rather simple with servants placing butter on outer windowsills because there is no refrigeration. Famous Austrian desserts are Edward's only luxuries.

Gathering Wild Flowers, Child Finds 1851 Gold Piece

McGregor, Ia., April 28.—[Special.]—While picking flowers on a hill near McGregor today, eleven year old Julia Slyfield, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Jack Slyfield, found a ten dollar gold piece, dated 1851. Years ago children found a twenty dollar gold piece nearby. The belief has prevailed here since early settlement days that several thousand dollars in gold, the pay roll for United States soldiers, was buried in the Mississippi river hills near McGregor at the time of an Indian uprising.

MYSTERY OF TORN CHECK BLOWS UP AS MURDER CLEW

Slain Fence's Last Visitor Still Unidentified.

Police last night solved the mystery of the torn check found in the apartment of Albert S. Montlake, murdered fence for jewel and bank robbers. But the solution did not reveal, as had been expected, the name of Montlake's last visitor, the man who was with him only a few moments before gangland assassins shot him down Monday evening.

The check, for $394, was written by Max Solar, 50 years old, operator of a pawnshop in Des Moines, Ia. Solar's name was obtained by piecing together bits of the torn check and Des Moines detectives were asked to obtain his story.

Tells of Chicago Visit.

"I knew Montlake under the name of Sulliman," Solar declared. "I had purchased jewelry from him two or three times and when I met him in the Mallers building Monday afternoon, he invited me to his apartment at 7300 South Shore drive.

"We went there in his car. I bought some merchandise, wrote the $394 check, then tore it up when Montlake said I owed him $398.70, and wrote another for that amount.

"Montlake then took me in his auto to the loop and we parted at 5:45 p. m. I did not hear of Montlake again until Chief of Detectives Jack Brophy [of the Des Moines force] called me today and asked if I could give any clews about the murder.

Montlake was slain shortly before 7 p. m. in front of the apartment building as he went to enter his car after saying good-by to the still unidentified visitor.

Tries to Escape Assassins.

Approached by two gunmen, he retreated across a vacant lot, where he fell under a hail of bullets. Several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds were found in his clothing.

Police and agents of the internal revenue bureau who are investigating Montlake's income tax liabilities uncovered more diamonds yesterday in the fence's safety deposit box in the First National bank of Chicago. Gems valued at $10,000 and $2,150 in large bills were taken from the box in the presence of Mrs. Anna Montlake, widow of the slain man.

I. B. Goodman, Indianapolis jewelry salesman, who was present at the opening of the box, was unable to identify the jewels as part of the $35,000 loot taken from him by robbers here last June. At the time of his death Montlake was at liberty on bonds on a charge of receiving some of Goodman's gems.

Widow Claims Jewels.

"These are mine," sobbed Mrs. Montlake when the jewels were discovered. "My husband worked hard for them. No one knew how hard he worked."

Meyer Gordon, held for investigation by police since the night of the slaying, was released yesterday shortly before the time for a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus sought by his attorneys. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court on Tuesday gave police an additional 24 hours to question Gordon because of his close associations with Montlake.

Gordon and the slain fence were indicted recently in New York, charged with violating the federal stolen property law, as a result of the discovery in Montlake's possession of $21,000 in bonds taken by the Dillinger gang in a Racine bank robbery. Montlake, who was known to police as a stool pigeon, was believed to have implicated Gordon in the case.

URGED TO MARRY YOUNG MORDOFF, THE GIRL SAYS NO

Court Allows 90 Days for Change of Heart.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Ruth Middendorf, 19 years old, yesterday stoutly refused to ally herself with her father, Emil, a janitor, and Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes of the Women's court in their efforts to arrange a marriage between her and Gordon Mordoff Jr., 22.

"Of course I'd like to marry him," said the dark eyed girl impatiently when the court asked her if she didn't want to marry young Mordoff, who with the girl was in court on disorderly conduct charges. "But I know he can't support me and it might hurt him for us to marry now."

Arrested in Apartment.

The young man, son of Dr. Gordon Mordoff, Wilmette physician, and the girl were arrested on March 13 in an apartment in which they were living at 7460 Greenview avenue. Judge Hermes had declared previously that they must get married or he would punish them with fines.

Despite her father's pleas and his assurances he would support them and the court's vehemently expressed wishes, Miss Middendorf thrust her chin out and voiced her objections. Young Mordoff said nothing.

"I can't force you to marry," said Judge Hermes after long discussions, "but I'm here as a protector of the morals of the community. This little girl is on edge and she doesn't want to hurt the young man. I'm going to fine them $200 and place them on probation for three months. If they aren't married in 90 days they will have to pay the fines or work them out at the Bridewell."

A Shrug from the Father.

Dr. Mordoff shrugged his shoulders and turned away and his attorney passed out his cards to reporters.

The silver-haired, pudgy little doctor figured in the celebrated "Sonny Boy" court battle a year ago. He lost his legal fight for custody of the child, who he claimed was his and his late wife's son. The child's unwed mother obtained his custody. She was married to a man other than his father while the case was heard.

During yesterday's hearings the fathers apparently were working at cross purposes. Middendorf, a janitor at the New Trier High school, told the court:

"I think they should be married, your honor. They were living together four weeks. They have gone together since she was 15 years old."

Dr. Mordoff's Viewpoint.

"I don't object to their getting married eventually," Dr. Mordoff pleaded, on the other hand. "But this little boy of mine left my home and me three months ago, and while I don't condone any immoral act, he is only making $10 or $12 a week working nights in a garage. I cannot take care of them."

JUDGE HERMES: But her father says he will.

DR. MORDOFF: This man is a janitor. He has good intentions, and has been a fine father, but——

THE COURT: I will get your boy a job as a janitor——

DR. MORDOFF: I wouldn't care for him to start out as a janitor.

Attorney Maurice L. Gaba protested that there was no evidence of disorderly conduct. He asked time to present briefs showing that a man and woman living as man and wife outside the law were not guilty of disorderly conduct unless they were a nuisance to the neighborhood or community. He suggested the boy and girl might not be happy.

The Court's Position.

"I don't think you're right," said Judge Hermes. "I'm not looking into the future or predicting whether they'll be happy. They should be married. My experience is that when a young couple overstep as sweethearts, unless they marry immediately, they never do get married."

When Miss Middendorf left court she was arrested on a warant charging her with the theft, on March 6, of $10 from a restaurant at 601 Green Bay road, Wilmette, where she formerly worked as a waitress. Judge Hermes telephoned Police Magistrate John Peters of Wilmette, protesting. The latter allowed her to be at liberty on her own individual bond pending a hearing Saturday.

Elopement His Wife's Idea; Not His, Says Younghusband

Getting married the fourth time wasn't J. Leslie Younghusband's idea, according to the answer he filed yesterday to the divorce suit of Mrs. Lillian Younghusband.

The suggestion was hers, as he told the story. Younghusband, millionaire lipstick king, said she was so insistent about becoming Mrs. Younghusband No. 4 that he married her in Crown Point five or six hours after they met.

But anxious as he says she was to marry him, Younghusband charged, she had been having a romance with another admirer for five years. She's just trying now to get a large financial settlement, the bill said.

Things He Doesn't Like.

Asking a gentleman to marry her wasn't the only thing she did that he didn't approve, according to Younghusband. She raised her voice to a pitch that embarrassed him, said his bill, and drank too much.

As to the tooth Mrs. Younghusband's suit charged him with knocking out, he said he didn't do it. But if he did, said the bill, she forgave him and resumed their romance.

When she came back from Miami last March 7 she wouldn't return to the Younghusband home, her husband charged. The evening before she sued him for temporary alimony, though, she moved in while he was away, and he had to move out.

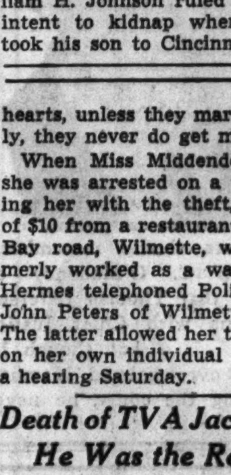
Married Last July.

Younghusband is 34 years old. Mrs. Younghusband is 30. They were married last July 25.

She recently won $125 a month temporary alimony. At that time she asked to keep their 12 room apartment at 233 East Walton street.

Younghusband's answer, in which he asks the divorce decree for himself, was filed in Superior court by the law firm of Petit, Olin & Overmyer. It brought an immediate protest from Mrs. Younghusband's attorney, Samuel A. Rinella, who termed it malicious. Judge John J. Lupe set the hearing on Rinella's petition to strike out the answer for tomorrow.

WHEATON MOTHER ORDERED TO GIVE UP SON TO OHIO FATHER



Franklin Turner.

Cincinnati, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Dr. Frank O. Turner, Cincinnati dentist, turned the tables on his former wife yesterday when he won a court order for the custody of his son, Franklin, 4 years old. Judge Charles W. Hoffman's ruling reversed a temporary order in which the child was placed in the custody of his mother, Mrs. Florence Sarty, 204 South President street Wheaton, Ill.

Mrs. Sarty divorced Dr. Turner three years ago and soon afterward married L. A. Sarty, a salesman. Last Jan. 21 Dr. Turner took the boy from Mrs. Sarty's home and brought him to Cincinnati. On Feb. 16 Judge Hoffman ruled that the mother might have custody of the child if she kept him in Hamilton county, Ohio. At today's hearing Dr. Turner charged she returned to Wheaton with Franklin in defiance of the court.

A kidnaping charge against Dr. Turner was dismissed a week ago in Wheaton. Justice of the Peace William H. Johnson ruled there was no intent to kidnap when the dentist took his son to Cincinnati.

Death of TVA Jackass Told; He Was the Real McCoy

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—The house learned today of the death of a very fancy jackass owned by the Tennessee Valley authority. David E. Lilienthal, TVA director, told the house appropriations committee the animal, purchased for breeding purposes, died just before the election last fall. "He must have been reading the Literary Digest," remarked Representative Woodrum [D., Va.].

Mother and Daughter Get Their Divorces Same Day

Memphis, Tenn., April 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Minnie P. Goodwin and her daughter, Mrs. Henri Lou Hill, got their divorces today on the same grounds but in different courts. They charged abandonment and nonsupport, and filed petitions on the same day through Attorney Robert Pharr, who represented both.

COMMITTEE 10-8 AGAINST BILL ON COURT PACKING

3 Democrats Take Stand with Opposition.

Opposes Remolded Court.

"If that court, which is the final arbiter in all matters involving the rights of the people, can be remolded to suit the will of any other department of government, then it would mean that this court, which should at all times be a stable branch of the government, would be molded to suit the will of every changing administration."

Senator Hatch, who has an amendment which would limit the conditional power of appointing new members, based upon the failure of present members over 70 who refuse to retire, to one justice a year, not only denounced the principle of packing the Supreme court for the purpose of changing decisions but contended that congress had no power to do this. He said:

"I do not think congress has the power to place men on the Supreme court to affect decisions in any way whatsoever. To do so would be an exercise of judicial power by the legislative branch of the government. If we place men on the court to change the trend of judicial opinions we thereby invade the province of the court and do that which many people have charged the court with doing."

Senator Hatch declared flatly that he would not vote for the President's bill as it stands, providing for an increase of six justices.

O'Mahoney Assails Change.

Senator O'Mahoney, one of the most ardent New Dealers and administration supporters in congress, having served as first assistant postmaster general under Mr. Farley, declared:

"The hearings have been completed. I have listened attentively to everything that has been said, and I have heard nothing to date which has convinced me that any increase of the court is either necessary or desirable."

By unanimous consent the judiciary committee agreed not to vote on any amendments or the bill itself until May 18, and to begin voting without further discussion at that time. Senator Marvel M. Logan [D., Ky.], who is doing the maneuvering for the administration in committee, had intended to propose May 11 as the date for closing debate, but he amended his proposition to extend the time for one week. This was believed to be significant inasmuch as President Roosevelt will return from his fishing cruise on May 13.

Urge Immediate Action.

While the strategy of the proponents was to delay action as long as possible, the opposition, after today's developments, began clamoring for immediate action. Pointing out that the committee can vote earlier than May 18 by unanimous consent, Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], most outspoken for the packing measure, declared:

"Now that we know where we stand, there is no reason why we can't come to a vote and report this bill out, with a recommendation that it do not pass, by the middle of next week."

In addition to McCarran, Hatch, and O'Mahoney, committee members opposed to the bill are King [D., Utah], Van Nuys [D., Ind.], Burke [D., Neb.], Connally [D., Tex.], Borah [R., Idaho], Austin [R., Vt.], and Steiwer [R., Ore.].

Those committed for the measure were: Ashurst [D., Ariz.], Neely [D., W. Va.], Logan [D., Ky.], Dieterich [D., Ill.], Pittman [D., Nev.], and Norris [Ind., Neb.].

McGill [D., Kas.], Hughes [D., Del.] were maintaining an officially noncommittal position, but administration leaders were counting them on their side.

New Deal "No Men"

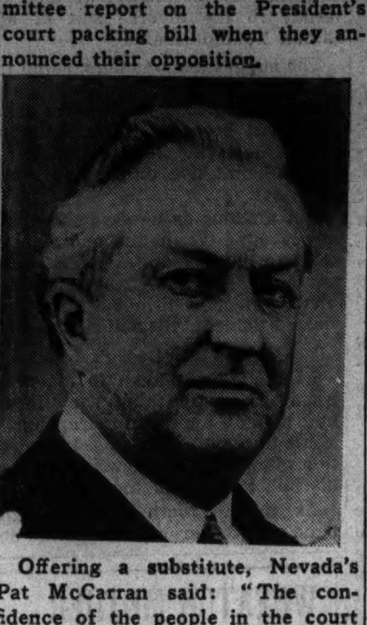
These three Democratic senators, heretofore uncommitted, yesterday assured an adverse judiciary committee report on the President's court packing bill when they announced their opposition.



Offering a substitute, Nevada's Pat McCarran said: "The confidence of the people in the court of last resort is its greatest asset, and . . . the thing on which this democratic form of government must rely."

Said Carl Hatch of New Mexico: "I do not think congress has the power to place men on the Supreme court to affect decisions in any way whatsoever. To do so would be an exercise of judicial power by the legislative branch. . . ."

"Democrats should remember," said Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, "that Thomas Jefferson locked horns with Chief Justice Marshall . . . . but though he could have overwhelmed Marshall by expanding the court, he never did it."

DENHARDT GOES ON STAND TODAY IN OWN DEFENSE

Jury Will Visit Scene of His Fiancee's Death.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Castle, Ky., April 28.—[Special.]—The commonwealth of Kentucky rested its murder case against Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt late this afternoon, and arguments were made on a defense motion for a directed verdict of not guilty on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Judge Charles C. Marshall, who heard the arguments in chambers, took the motion under advisement and announced that he would rule on it tomorrow. It also was announced by the defense that the jury will be taken in the morning to the spot on highway 22 where Denhardt's comely fiancée, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, was found shot to death with the general's .45 caliber army revolver on the night of last Nov. 6.

Judge Marshall is not expected to grant the motion for acquittal, and the next sensation anticipated in the trial, now in its ninth day, is the story of Denhardt, when he takes the stand tomorrow, as to what happened the night of his fiancée's death.

His Appearance Rehersed.

In anticipation of a denial of the acquittal motion Gen. Denhardt has already spent some time with his lawyers in rehersing his appearance on the witness stand. He refused on advice of counsel to talk at his preliminary hearing, and his explanation of Mrs. Taylor's death as suicide has come thus far from his attorneys and the few remarks he made to the coroner.

While the prevailing sentiment in this community appears to be against Denhardt, there is not much more certainty as to whether this was a murder or a suicide now than there was at the opening of the trial. The state's case will turn on the credibility and weight given to the theoretical evidence offered in the trial. If this is accepted Denhardt could be found guilty; otherwise the law of reasonable doubt may acquit him or cause a mistrial.

Blood Tests Described.

The chemical reactions in test tubes, the evidence of magnifying glasses and the filmy colors of gunpowder experiments may throw some light on the physical side of the case, but with the bald head Mussolini-jawed soldier and politician and the dark eyed Kentucky beauty who lies in her grave rest the big human story of love and tragedy. It is the general's opportunity to win back the respect of his neighbors by the picture he will paint for them on the witness stand.

Today's evidence was largely in the nature of closing up the tag ends of the scientific side of the case.

E. R. Donaldson, serologist for the federal bureau of investigation in Washington, flew here at the request of the state to tell of tests he had made of the stains found on Denhardt's overcoat and on Mrs. Taylor's dress. Both these garments they wore the November night when the automobile in which they were riding home from Louisville stalled ten miles from here and they parked it while waiting for help from town. It was there, while all alone, that death ended their romance.

Donaldson made many tests on the clothing and testified that he found human blood on both specimens and that both samples were of group A. He said about 40 per cent of the population has blood of this group and that he could not tell whether the blood on the overcoat was Denhardt's.

This left the matter of blood stains high in the air. The defense contends the blood on the overcoat came from a cut in the general's hand or face, of which he might not have been aware in the exciting moments of that afternoon and night. The spots were on the lapel and button holes and on the inside of the skirt of the coat.

Earlier in the day the commonwealth offered evidence to place a fountain pen pistol in Denhardt's vest pocket a few days before Mrs. Taylor's death.

Mrs. Taylor's death was caused by a bullet from the general's .45 caliber revolver. Two shots were heard about that time and the effort of the state was to show that Denhardt not only fired the first shot, but a few minutes later fired a second shot from his .22 caliber pen pistol as a decoy or blind to his actions.

Gen. Denhardt was within sight of George R. Baker, a farmer, at about the time the second shot was heard, and Denhardt, it was related, called attention to the second shot, not knowing then, or pretending not to know, what the first shot was, or that the woman was dead.

The commonwealth also presented evidence today to show that a series of deep heel marks by the roadside, a few feet from where Mrs. Taylor's body was found, had been made by her shoes.

Paraffine Evidence Jolted.

This would indicate, according to Roy Garr, Mrs. Taylor's brother, that the woman was in some sort of a struggle, backing away, just before she fell dead into the ditch.

The prosecution suffered a setback in its corroborative scientific evidence today when a bulletin from the federal bureau of investigation, authorized by J. Edgar Hoover, was read to the jury. In this it was stated that the paraffine mould tests for determining residue of gun powder on hands is of some value, but has many limitations.

F. C. Buckmaster, Pittsburgh chemist, who had declared yesterday on the witness stand that the tests taken of Gen. Denhardt's hands showed that he had used his own revolver shortly before Mrs. Taylor was shot with it, admitted that the federal bulletin was authoritative on the subject, but pointed out that it was written in October, 1935, and that there had been more and improved tests since that time.

Woman Tells of Tests.

Mrs. Smith Keightley, wife of the undertaker who embalmed and buried the body of Mrs. Taylor, told of tests made on her hands with the Denhardt revolver on April 20.

She said she fired two shots into the ground, and then her hands were washed with the same soap solution used on Mrs. Taylor's hands, and the paraffin molds were made. The chemical tests then were made by Sergt. J. I. Messmer of the Louisville crime detective laboratory, who testified two nitrate spots were found near the knuckle on Mrs. Keightley's right hand.

The paraffin test on Mrs. Taylor's hands was negative. According to the federal bulletin on this subject, the failure to find traces of powder on the hands of a dead person does not determine that that person did not fire the revolver.

Clarence Roberts, 18 years old, a red cheeked, bashful farmer boy who lives on a farm adjoining the 800 acre place of Gen. Denhardt in Oldham county, was the witness who said he saw the pen pistol in Denhardt's pocket. Previous efforts to get this pistol into evidence have been blocked by the defense.

Tells of Seeing Weapons.

Roberts said he often visited at the Denhardt place. He went over to see Carl Cole, son of a farmer who lives with Denhardt. Cole took him into the general's living room and showed him a collection of firearms. He was shown the fountain pen pistol and how it operated, he said. Later, eight or ten days before Mrs. Taylor's death, he saw the general in the barnyard carrying the pistol in his vest pocket.

THOUSANDS WITNESS SHOOTING OF WOMAN FOR PEDDLING DRUGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 28.—While thousands of spectators looked on, Miss Lu Tso-lan, a Chinese woman convicted of transporting heroin, was executed today by a firing squad in Hsuchow, northern Kiangsu province. The prisoner had been paraded through the streets and a large crowd followed her to the execution grounds.

Miss Lu was arrested at Hsuchow while changing trains. It was charged she was carrying a large quantity of the drug from the Japanese concession in Tientsin to Chengchow, Honan province. Eight narcotics peddlers also were executed by firing squads before crowds in Peiping.

The China Times, a Shanghai Chinese paper, published a dispatch from Hongkong stating that Kwangtung provincial officials executed 215 lepers in Paiyunshan, "despite popular opposition."

HOUSE APPROVES TEACHING GAELIC IN WISCONSIN

Cashman Quotes Swift in Backing Bill.

Madison, Wis., April 28.—[Special.]—The contributions that various nationalities have made to the progress of Wisconsin and this nation lifted the state senate to oratorical heights for two hours today before the passage of a bill, 25 to 7, to establish a Gaelic chair of Irish history and literature at the University of Wisconsin. That measure, involving an annual appropriation of $12,000, was sent at once to the lower house.

Leading the fight for passage was Senator John E. Cashman [Ind., Denmark], one of the bill's eight co-authors, all proud "sons of Ireland."

Cites Other Languages Taught.

"At the expense of Irish taxpayers of the state, you now have in the university courses in German, Norse, Spanish, French, Greek, Latin, and Polish—and it is well," Cashman began. "But the university's acting president [Dean George C. Sellery] and the joint legislative finance committee [which voted, 3 to 1, indefinitely to postpone the bill], so far as they can, say that the Irish are not welcome. Let us paraphrase Dean Swift.

Quotes Swift's Sharp Wit.

"Once over the entrance to a certain public building was written this inscription, 'Jew and Gentile may enter here, but not an Irishman.' Dean Swift wrote under that inscription these words:

"'What is writ above is writ well,
'The same is written on the gates of hell.'

"Do you want that stigma attached to the University of Wisconsin?"

Senator Harry W. Bolens [D., Port Washington], another of the co-authors, remarked that since "they teach atheism by explanation and communism by cowardice of the university board of regents," it might be well to teach "a little of the history of a race that has contributed so much to the political enlightenment of the state and nation."

26 ENTERTAINERS SELECTED FOR JUBILEE EVENTS

Twenty-six young men and women were selected last night to take part in the pageants and theatrical events to be staged in connection with Chicago's charter jubilee celebration in the coming months. The selections were made in the theater of the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street.

Two of the winners are to be sent to Hollywood for screen tests. They are Robert Fogel, 4939 Winthrop avenue, a tap dancer, and Donna Locher, 4736 Montana street, a dramatist. Both are 16 years old. Four others will travel with the covered wagon that is to tour 15 states and part of Canada, extending invitations to the celebration, and twenty others are to form the charter jubilee troupe.

The four covered wagon winners are John Francis Ryan, 8201 Paxton avenue, a baritone; Dorothy Levie, 3412 Jackson boulevard, a soprano; Carol Scott, 7035 Phillips avenue, a dramatist and pianist, and Loraine Frankenbach, 5918 South Maplewood avenue, a dancer.

THREE AUTOISTS SENT TO JAIL AS WILD DRIVERS

Matthew Kluge, 23 years old, 8715 Exchange avenue, was sentenced to ten days in jail by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court yesterday for driving while intoxicated. Raymond Newman, 5516 South Kolin avenue, was sentenced to five days for reckless driving.

Jerry Palese, 23 years old, 1124 Monroe street, Evanston, was jailed for ten days by Judge James H. Corcoran in the Evanston Municipal court yesterday for reckless driving. He was also forbidden to drive for six months. Judge Corcoran also fined Peter J. Mersch, 60 years old, 937 Sherman avenue, Evanston, $100 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Miss Cecille Collette, 30 years old, owner of a dressmaking shop at 833 Elm street in Winnetka, was fined $7 by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Trafic court yesterday for driving 57 miles an hour in Lake Shore drive on Sunday.

Falls to His Death at 91 from 2d Story Window

Christian A. Bruchhauser, 91 years old, was fatally injured last night when he fell from a second floor bathroom window of his home at 4317 North Winchester avenue. He died shortly after being taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital. His son Leo told police that the aged man's sight had been failing and that he probably mistook the low window for a door.

Overcome by Auto Fumes, Oak Park Resident Dies

When Joseph Rietz's wife returned last night to their home at 906 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park, she found her husband unconscious from exhaust fumes in the garage. The motor was running and the doors were closed, police said. She summoned a fire department inhalator squad, but efforts to revive her husband, who was 47 years old, were vain.

NAPS AT WHEEL; HURT

Mrs. Patricia Eells, 23 years old, 6434 Cottage Grove avenue, was seriously injured yesterday when she fell asleep while driving at Lake Shore drive and Scott street. The car crashed into a light post on the center parkway of the drive.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the deaths of William Riskowski, 65 years old, of the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind, and Miss Esther Goodman, 39, of 3541 West 63d place. They were run down by a car driven by Thor Forsberg, 22 years old, 1726 North Kilpatrick avenue, while Miss Goodman was helping the blind man across Western avenue at Cermak road on April 16. Forsberg, who refused to testify yesterday, is to be arraigned on May 6 on a charge of manslaughter.

Pedestrian Dies of Injuries.

Frank Bergen, 48 years old, 717 North Homan avenue, died early today in the Franklin boulevard hospital of injuries suffered several hours earlier when he was struck by an automobile at Chicago and Homan avenues. The driver, Frank Damaske, 31 years old, 4452 North Ashland avenue, was held by the Austin police.

By 4 p. m. yesterday 353 persons had been killed in Cook county trafic accidents since Jan. 1, the coroner's office reported. Chicago trafic caused 277 of the deaths and 6,380 injuries in the same period.

DRIVERS TO FACE ARREST IF AUTOS ARE NOT TESTED

Unless motorists are more prompt in having their cars tested in one of the city's 18 testing lanes the police will be asked to issue summonses to those who lack safety stickers.

"We don't want to make arrests," said Edward J. Gorman, deputy public vehicle license commissioner, in making this announcement yesterday, "but we will unless the numbers of cars coming to the lanes for tests is increased in the next faw days. We have been open a month with a capacity for handling 250,000 cars but only 102,000 cars and trucks have received stickers. The lanes are open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. every day except Sundays and holidays."

Records of City Clerk Peter J. Brady show that there are 509,806 motor vehicles carrying city vehicle tags, which means, Gorman said, that 407,000 lack safety stickers.

Fined $100 for Practicing Medicine Without License

Judge Albert E. Isley of Jasper county, sitting in the county court, yesterday fined John W. Gilmore, 54 years old, 5659 West North avenue, $100 for practicing medicine without a license. Gilmore, a chiropractor, pleaded guilty. He has a license for Michigan, but only a registered pharmacist's license for Illinois. His conviction was the third in the recent drive against alleged medical quacks.

DRIVERS' LICENSE COMPROMISE BILL OFFERED SENATE

Seeks to Do Away with Disputed Provisions.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—With the house of representatives continuing a cat and dog fight over a drivers' license bill since last January, a new bill was introduced in the senate today. It is sponsored by members of both political parties and is free of provisions that have caused much of the rumpus in the lower branch of the assembly.

The bill was introduced jointly by Senators Arnold P. Benson [R., Batavia] and Louis J. Menges [D., East St. Louis]. On the highly controversial question of whether the regulation shall be administered by Gov. Henry Horner's highway department or by the secretary of state this senate proposal sides with Secretary Edward J. Hughes.

Would Eliminate Patronage.

The Benson-Menges bill would eliminate most of the patronage that would be created under the governor's proposals pending in the house. The senators would charge no fee for the license, whereas the governor would collect $1 every three years from at least 2¼ million drivers.

The senators have deleted provisions for an examination of drivers. The value of such examinations has been challenged in the house, where it also has been pointed out that a corps of examiners would burden public pay rolls.

The Benson-Menges bill would empower the courts rather than a political appointee to revoke or suspend a license for the more serious trafic offenses or for a repetition of less serious violations.

Note Change in Opposition.

In yesterday's hearing on the house bills it was noted that some of the representatives have dropped their opposition to the governor's proposals. Chief Ernst Lieberman sat on the speaker's dais during the session. Representatives seeking roads for their districts address their appeals to Mr. Lieberman.

An indication that Secretary Hughes might strike back was seen in the current issue of a periodical published by the Automobile Club of Illinois. On page one he is quoted as saying:

"I am in hearty accord with the idea of reducing automobile license fees." The highway department receives the revenue from these fees.

Next Tuesday the Horner drivers' bills will be on the floor of the house as a target for a barrage of amendments now in the hands of members. On the same day in the senate the roads and highway transportation committee will act on the Benson-Menges bill.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

[ADVERTISMENT]

DOES BLADDER IRREGULARITY WAKE YOU UP?

You can make this simple test. When irregularity bothers help the bladder as you would the bowels. Help nature eliminate waste and excess acids which can cause the irregularity that results in getting up nights, scanty flow, frequent desire, burning, back ache, or leg pains. Use buchu leaves, juniper oil and 6 other drugs made into little green tablets called Bukets, the bladder flush. Get your test packages from any druggist. Walgreen Drug Stores.

REBELS INVADE LAND OF 'OLDEST RACE IN EUROPE'

Basques Fight to Preserve Ancient Customs.

The present Spanish rebel drive, rapidly gathering force in northern Spain, is directed against the Basques, who proudly claim that they are the oldest race in Europe—the almost unmixed descendants of the aborigines of the Iberian peninsula.

The typical Basque is strong and well built, with pointed chin and prominent curved nose. The Basque language [Euskara], which is wholly unintelligible to the modern Spaniard, is spoken by about 500,000 persons. The natives are traditionally Catholic.

The Basque country consists of the three provinces, Vizcaya [Biscay], Guipuzcoa, and Alava in northeastern Spain south of the angle of the Bay of Biscay. They are bordered at France by the Bidassoa river which flows into the bay and on the southeast by the Ebro which flows into the Mediterranean.

Land of Wooded Valleys.

Through the middle of the region runs the eastern end of the Cantabrian range. On the slope to the sea are gorse covered hills, rocky farms, and deeply wooded valleys. This slope is famous for its apples and cider; the shore towns for their steel industries. On the inland slope through Alava to the plain of Vitoria wine growing is a principal occupation.

The whole region of 2,739 square miles and population of 947,559 forms roughly a triangle of about 70 miles on a side with the base on the Bay of Biscay. Alava, whose capital is Vitoria with a population of 43,111, includes about half the area of the Basque country, but only about a seventh of the population. Viscaya and Guipuzcoa include the industrial centers and their capitals. Bilbao and San Sebastian have peace time populations of 175,000 and 86,292, respectively.

The hilly nature of the sea slope resulted in the preservation of the physical type and ancient culture of the Basques. The Basque tongue does not belong to any of the Indo-European group. There are 13 simple vowels and 38 consonants, and peculiarly "r" is never used to begin a word. Originally there were not written characters.

An Expressive Language.

The vocabulary is meager, but the words are meaningful and phrases are short. There are many peculiarities of word order and there are as many as eight dialects—part of them used by the Basque speaking people on the French side of the Pyrenees.

The counts of Haro were lords of Biscay [Vizcaya] from 1093 to 1350, but Guipuzcoa united with the crown of Castile in 1200 and Alava in 1332. There were many wars of nobles in the provinces until 1498, when Ferdinand V. united the provinces, but the region remained a land apart. They preserved their own laws, customs, and special privileges, which the Spanish kings swore to observe and maintain.

This kind of independence and autonomy lasted until the death of Ferdinand VII. in 1833. His brother, Don Carlos, claimed the throne and started the Carlist wars. During these wars Bilbao was repeatedly besieged but never captured. When the Carlists were defeated in 1876, the Basque government was assimilated into that of Spain.

Periodic demands for Basque autonomy continued. Finally, under the stress of the civil war, the cortes [parliament] on Oct. 1, 1936, voted a statute giving the Basque country home rule powers similar to those of Catalonia. The Basques then fought loyally for the Madrid government.

eral leader, charged that "civilians were deliberately pursued by airplanes with machine guns" at Guernica and added:

"It was a deliberate effort to use air power as an instrument of massacre and terrorism."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, asked to protest the destruction to rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco, said the British government would "continue to examine the question" to see if it could "prevent a recurrence of such deplorable events."

The government received a protest from Gen. Franco, charging that the British destroyer Firedrake had "violated" the Spanish three-mile limit in the Bay of Biscay during a "convoy" of British food ships to Bilbao. The board of trade notified British shipping of a broadcast warning from Gen. Franco which said:

"All ships of whatever nationality which navigate Spanish territorial waters of Northern Spain between capes Video and Machichacho and which do not halt at the request of the nationalist [rebel] fleet will be fired upon and bombarded by the nationalist fleet and aircraft."

Four Food Ships Make Dash.

Four British freighters loaded with food supplies for besieged Bilbao left St. Jean de Luz tonight with the intention of running the Franco blockade. These four merchantmen had been waiting for several days for the arrival of the warship Royal Oak, which yesterday relieved the Hood from duty.

When the quartet of freighters arrive at the three mile limit outside the harbor entrance early tomorrow morning not only the Royal Oak but the cruiser Shropshire and three British destroyers are expected to be nearby.

The British steamer Backworth, toward whose cargo Lloyd George contributed $1,250, arrived at Bilbao this evening, having been accompanied by a British destroyer to the limit of Spanish territorial waters.

Separate Peace with Hitler?

PARIS, April 28.—(AP)—M. Piccavea, president of the Spanish Basque delegation in Paris, tonight asserted Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany six weeks ago offered the Basques a separate peace in the Spanish civil war, threatening a "pitiless war" if they did not agree.

He accused Germans of attempting to get Basque iron ores.

"A month and a half ago," Piccavea said, "an authorized representative of Hitler made several offers of a separate peace to a representative of the Basque government.

"It is a German war against the Basques," M. Piccavea said, "with the object of getting control of our wealthy iron mines, which are the purest in Europe."

Berlin Denies Charges.

BERLIN, April 29 [Thursday].—(AP)—A Spanish Basque assertion in Paris that Reichsfuehrer Hitler offered the Basques a separate peace in the Spanish civil war six weeks ago drew this comment early today from a propaganda ministry spokesman: "These atrocity yarns are too ridiculous to deny."

Shells Kill Ten in Madrid.

MADRID, April 28.—(AP)—Central Madrid quivered under rebel shelling for two hours late this afternoon with ten killed and twenty-five wounded. About 50 shells were fired during the attack. Government batteries responded and directed heavy fire against insurgent trenches outside the capital.

Police began a new drive against speculators in exchange and seized 200,000 pesetas [normally $26,000] in silver hoarded in business houses and cellars.

REDS ORDER WORLD PROTEST FOR SPAIN WEEK OF MAY 24-30

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 28.—The executive committee of the communist international has designated the week of May 24 to 30 for communist demonstrations of sympathy for the Spanish government, the Moscow newspaper Izvestia said today. Reds are directed to collect funds to fight Fascism in Spain.

The committee's decision was taken in a secret meeting held recently in Paris, according to Izvestia. The report said William Z. Foster, national chairman of the communist party in America; Earl Browder, who was communist candidate for President of the United States in 1936, and James W. Ford, communist candidate for Vice President, represented the United States.

GERMANY JAILS 1,000 CATHOLICS FOR IMMORALITY

Warns Cleanup Campaign Scarcely Has Begun.

BERLIN, April 29.—[Thursday]—(AP)—The Nazi press early today displayed prominently a warning that the cleanup campaign against alleged immorality in Catholic institutions scarcely had begun.

The Berliner Lokalanzeiger asserted "approximately a thousand" lay brothers and also many priests are under arrest in addition to those sentenced in recent days.

The warning came on the heels of sentences meted out yesterday to three German Catholic chaplains on charges they attempted to organize a Catholic-communist front against Nazidom and to a number of Catholic brothers on immorality charges.

Cites Pope's Encyclical.

The Lokalanzeiger said the Catholic church "was given every opportunity to clean house," but failed and, therefore, the Nazi state had to intervene.

The newspaper cited the recent encyclical of Pope Pius in declaring the Vatican persisted in treating the trials as persecution. It continued that if the church continued to label them as persecution, "one such trial will be broadcast over all German radio stations."

Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter printed in banner lines: "Churches and cloisters sink to level of dens of vice."

Summarizing conditions in Germany under Chancellor Dr. Heinrich Bruening, a Catholic, the newspaper charged monasteries became "breeding grounds of immorality—breeding grounds which now will be ruthlessly cleaned up with a rough fist and a strong broom."

3 CHAPLAINS SENTENCED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 28.—The Berlin People's court today sentenced three Catholic chaplains to prison on charges that they attempted to create a secret Catholic-communist front against the Nazi government. The prisoners were found guilty of "preparing highly treasonable action."

The leading defendant, Chaplain Josef Rossaint, leader of the Catholic Youth movement in Duesseldorf, was sentenced to eleven years' imprisonment and was deprived of his civil rights for ten years.

The presiding judge at the secret trial, which lasted three weeks, declared that Rossaint was not a communist, but sought the aid of communists in fighting the Nazi régime.

Calls Priest a Defeatist.

"The accused is a defeatist and we must not forget that we lost the war because defeatists at home gained the upper hand," the judge said as he pronounced sentence.

Chaplain Franz Steber, Catholic Youth leader at Matgendorf, was sentenced to five years imprisonment and five years' loss of civil rights. Chaplain Karl Kremer of Remscheid drew a sentence of eighteen months.

Hermann Juelich, a Jew of Duesseldorf who was accused of acting as agent in negotiations between Catholic leaders and communists, must spend two years in prison. The court also deprived him of his civil rights for the same length of time.

Father Jacob Clemens, secretary general of the Catholic Young Men's association, Hubert Schaeffer and Peter Himmes, all of Duesseldorf, were acquitted.

Lay Brothers Sentenced.

At Coblenz a court sentenced Lay Brother Eugen of the Order of the Merciful Brothers at Montabaur to two and a half years in prison on immorality charges. Two Franciscan lay brothers of Walbreitbach cloister, Brother Ignatius, 76 years old, and Brother Desiderius, 37 years old, received prison terms of eighteen months and two and a half years, respectively, on the same charges.

Four lay brothers of the Order of St. Alexius at Neuss—Brothers Isidor, Romanos, Ewaldus, and Polykarp—were convicted on immorality charges at Bonn. Their prison terms ranged to twenty-one months.

Father Johannes Birkhahn of Piltsch, Silesia, was sentenced at Ratibor to one year imprisonment on charges brought against him by a school girl of 14 years.

Forty-four Germans were deprived of citizenship by decree in Berlin because of "conduct inconsistent with the duty of loyalty to the reich." Four of them are women.

Shoemaker Admits Slaying of Diplomat's Daughter

VIENNA, Austria, April 28.—(AP)—Police announced today that a 21 year old shoemaker employed by the army had confessed slaying Ingrid Wiengreen, 29 year old daughter of Gustavo Wiengreen, Paraguayan minister to Austria. The authorities said robbery was the motive for the shooting on a road near Neunkirchen Sunday.

YEAR IN JAIL

AIDS TO BUSINESS ARE ATTRACTION AT ROTARY SHOW

What American business will use in the next year to facilitate its office operations is being demonstrated at the fourth annual business exposition of the Chicago Rotary club in the Hotel Sherman, and is proving one of the major attractions of that show, according to William V. MacGill, chairman of the committee in charge.

Typewriters designed to produce an even margin at the right as well as at the left; machines that write, address, and sign letters in a single operation and at amazing speed, and the newest devices to protect safes and cash drawers against burglary are only a few of the exhibits that cover 40,000 square feet of display space on the hotel's mezzanine floor. The show closes at 10 p. m. tomorrow.

CLIPPER PLANE IN CHINA; CLOSES WORLD AIR CHAIN

HONGKONG, April 28.—(AP)—A thirty year dream of round-the-world air service became a reality today with the arrival of the Hongkong Clipper from Manila on the first regular flight between the two cities.

The clipper, bridging the last 700 mile gap in the America-Asia service, placed the final link in an airplane chain whereby it is possible to encircle the world in less than a month, using scheduled commercial planes.

The craft brought 2,500 pounds of American cargo, including 100,000 letters and newspapers from the United States only six days old.

HELD ON TWO ROBBERY CHARGES. Harry Nelson, 29 years old, 2441 North Maplewood avenue, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 on two charges of robbery by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court yesterday.

THREE GET JAIL TERMS FOR FAKE ACCIDENT CLAIM

2 Men Are Given Year; Woman Three Months.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Silas Apt, larceny, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary; Charles Darkins, larceny, sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; Thomas H. Derrick, and George Craig, robbery, sentenced to one year to life each in the penitentiary; John Mecher and Theodore Tomal, larceny, sentenced to one year each in the penitentiary by Judge Michael L. McKinley.

Victor Schandorff, embezzlement, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Joseph Pasquale, larceny, sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

Two men and a woman convicted by a jury in the first prosecution of the ambulance chasing racket in Chicago were sentenced to terms in the county jail yesterday by Judge George Fred Rush in Criminal court.

Attorney Leo M. Tarpey, 36 years old, 10 South La Salle street, and Edward Feeley, 36, of 2243 West 71st street, were sentenced to a year in jail and were fined $1. Feeley's wife, Frances, got a term of three months and $1 fine. Mrs. Feeley's sentence was made lighter on the plea of Attorney Harold Levy that she has two children and also has to take care of her aged mother.

Win Stay Until June 28.

Judge Rush denied motions for a new trial by Levy and Attorney George M. Crane, counsel for Tarpey, but granted a stay of mittimus until June 28 pending an appeal to the Appellate court. This will permit the three defendants to be free on bond.

They were tried on charges of conspiracy to obtain money through false accident claims. The conviction was on the misdemeanor count of the indictment, which provides a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $2,000 fine, to be fixed by the court.

Testimony in the sixteen day trial which ended April 6 showed the Feeleys obtained $75 each from the Chicago Surface Lines on claims growing out of a street car-truck collision at Fillmore street and Kedzie avenue last Aug. 31, in which neither figured. Tarpey was their attorney.

Court Honor Called at Stake.

"This case is so important to the honor of the courts and the lawyers that I cannot consider anything other than a severe sentence under the law," Judge Rush said. "I cannot imagine anything worse than for lawyers to allow clients to make up cases which did not in fact exist."

Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown, who prosecuted the case, successfully opposed motions for a new trial.

Tarpey is an office associate of Attorney Murphy O. Tate, widely known personal injury lawyer, who, with several others, is under indictment on similar ambulance chasing charges. Tate's trial is scheduled to open next week in the Criminal court of Judge Peter M. Schwaba.

BRITAIN TO BUILD THREE MORE FAST 'BATTLE WAGONS'

Mounts 14-Inch Guns on 35,000 Ton Ships.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Great Britain has added three more high speed battleships to the great fleet already being built in a determined fight for the mastery of the seas, Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty, revealed today in the house of commons.

These ships will be sisters of the King George V. and the Prince of Wales, which were laid down last New Year's day. Like them they will carry fourteen-inch guns. They will be 35,000 tons battleships and will have the unusual speed for battleships of about 33 knots.

Exact Details Guarded.

As in the case of the King George V. and the Prince of Wales, their exact details are jealously guarded.

Their names are Jellicoe, Beatty, and Anson. The Anson is named for an admiral of the eighteenth century. The Jellicoe is named for the first Earl Jellicoe, commander in chief of the grand fleet from the outbreak of the world war until December, 1916. The Beatty is named for the first Earl Beatty, commander in chief of the grand fleet from 1916 until the surrender of the German fleet in 1918.

What probably is most interesting to naval men, however, is the secret of the new fourteen-inch guns which are reported to be so efficient that the British do not really care about the possible use of sixteen-inch guns by other navies.

To Build 148 Ships.

This year's program is the largest since prewar days, and 148 warships are to be on the ways before the year ends.

So far it includes eight cruisers, two aircraft carriers, twenty-four destroyers, seven submarines, ten sloops, one destroyer, a depot ship, a submarine depot ship, and thirty-three smaller vessels.

The high speed of the new battleships and the high rate of fire of their guns are expected to compete with any advantage other ships might have through the size of their guns. The speed of the American fleet is not more than 21 knots. Completion of the new battle wagons will give the British a homogenous squadron of five ultramodern ships able to steam at 33 knots—more than a 50 per cent gain.

In addition they will have highly efficient guns, excelled in caliber by only three American ships—the West Virginia, Colorado, and Maryland. They possibly will be able to outrange even those and certainly will fire faster.

Rebuild Old Warships.

Old warships are being overhauled and rebuilt so that they practically are new ships. The latest is the 31,000 ton battleship Warspite. It returns to service May 1 after being refitted at a cost of $11,350,000, which is 90 per cent of its original cost in 1913. Its sister ship, the Valiant, already has entered a dockyard for a similar job. The third of the class, the Queen Elizabeth, is to be taken in hand soon.

BRITISH WARNED ITALY POSSESSES BEST WARPLANES

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—British military airplanes are unable to equal the best Italian craft in performance, Norman MacMillan, president of the National League of Airmen, charged in a letter yesterday to the Star, which commented on a recent article in that paper by Edward Hart.

A further symptom of uneasiness over the relative quality of British and foreign craft was shown in a question in the house of commons by W. R. D. Perkins, a Conservative. He said the Boeing firm is manufacturing six planes each of which is capable of carrying seventy-two passengers and a crew of eight for trans-Atlantic service.

Asked whether similar types were ordered by Imperial Airways, Sir Philip Sassoon, undersecretary for air, replied:

"If, as stated, the weight is to be between forty and fifty tons, I am advised it would be impracticable for them to carry anything like the number of passengers suggested across the North Atlantic. No final decision yet has been taken on the type of aircraft to be adopted."

MacMillan's statement on military aircraft follows:

"The Savoia S-79 bomber used by Italy in at least four squadrons has a performance of 257 miles an hour top speed and carries two tons of bumbs over a distance of 1,550 miles. I challenge Mr. Hart to tell me of a single British squadron equipped with aircraft in possession of this performance at the present time."

Hart in reply stated that the Vickers Spitfire fighter, the world's fastest military aircraft, and the "civil prototype of the Blenheim bomber has substantially better speed than that quoted for the Savoia S-79 bomber."

Sometimes You Can't Believe Your Own Eyes

Many people often marvel at the amazingly fine clothes we are able to make for the low price of $24.50. Some even ask us how we do it. It's a fair question, and here is a frank answer.

We do not buy our clothes. We make them, and we sell them direct to you from our own factory. There is no middleman of any kind between you and us to add a second profit.

We buy our materials direct from the country's largest and finest mills, and every yard must measure up to our high standard or back it goes. We pay cash. We sell for cash... and the savings are put into the clothes.

We're specialists, too. We specialize in clothes only and at only one price. This means more efficiency as well as greater economy. We've been doing this for 58 years, and we know how.

These are the facts. Is it any wonder we can and do offer you America's finest low-priced clothes?

PAINLESS WEDDINGS

By CALEB

EVEN the most extensively, most frequently married people find weddings something of a problem. That is natural. For every wedding should be individual. You simply can't buy a wedding over a counter and have it express yourself, the season, the setting, and the circumstances.

We don't get married here six or seven times a day, but we do have that many weddings vicariously—you might say. It's our Wedding Bureau that's responsible.

This bureau is not an idea. It is an alive, dynamic, functioning, flourishing affair. This also is natural. For while many people are being married from day to day, most of them have not specialized in weddings. And our Wedding Bureau has.

I learned the other day that the women who man (no fun intended) this activity know out of a vast accumulated knowledge every correct detail in connection with a garden wedding, a church or chapel affair, a home wedding, or something unique and original in an "out of the ordinary" manner. Being conservative at heart, we do not recommend weddings in airplanes, submarines, or boiler factories. But in a pinch the bureau will tell what should be worn and done even on such occasions. That is —or should be—a comforting thought to anyone.

While the Wedding Bureau functions primarily to serve wedding principals, it has come to be especially appreciated by that vast sector of the people who "never know what to give." The bureau always knows what to give, for it has lists of the bride's preferences and preferred patterns and even of gifts that have already been selected. (It seems a pity to me —but the groom's preferences seem never to be listed at all.)

Having reviewed the work this bureau does, I am amazed at the number of people who call upon it for counsel and practical assistance. Then when I consider how difficult a wedding is to plan and arrange completely, I am amazed that some people get married without seeking the services of this bureau.

You may not be facing marriage at all. And I presume I shouldn't suggest that you arrange to be married solely in order to consult our Wedding Bureau. But from the enthusiastic letters we receive from brides I am convinced there now exists one more good reason for marrying than existed before this bureau was established.

POLISH STUDENTS FIGHT JEWS; TWO COLLEGES CLOSED

Nation Is Swept by Fierce Anti-Semitic Drive.

WARSAW, Poland, April 28.—(AP)—A wave of anti-Semitic feeling flared today into riots between students and the academies of commerce and agriculture were closed indefinitly. Police dispersed students who demonstrated before the ministry of education after clashes between gentile and Jewish students had brought the school closing order.

University students have been charged with leading the anti-Semitic movement, linked with bombings of Jewish business houses, attacks on Jews in the streets, railways, and buses, and with economic boycotts.

Universities have been closed for the major part of the winter term because of the anti-Jewish disorders, inspired by student demands that a maximum 10 per cent of total enrollment be allowed to Jews.

Chalk Doors of Shops.

The economic campaign is pushed by night when mysterious hands write in chalk on the doors of Jewish shops, "Jew," in an effort to discourage Poles from buying there. Many shop windows in Warsaw bear the white paint inscription, "Christian shop," in an effort to draw trade.

The economic boycott of the Jews is particularly strong in western and central Poland. In a number of towns and villages market days now are held on Saturdays to prevent small Jewish traders from attending, since their religion prohibits trade on Sabbath day.

In some towns, anti-Semites have organized pickets before Jewish shops to try to prevent customers from entering. Numerous Polish societies have excluded Jews.

Those opposed to Jews declare their anti-Semitism is purely of a self-defending nature.

Demand Jews Emigrate.

"Among our 34,000,000 inhabitants there are at least 3,000,000 Jews who have invaded our towns, so that the peasants from the overpopulated farms have no possibility of settling in the towns where all places are occupied by the Jews," they declare.

"The Jews should emigrate to Palestine or elsewhere because it is absurd that racial Poles now are compelled to emigrate because they find no place in their native country."

They also add that "Jewish influence should be eliminated from cultural and scientific life because they are destructive elements deviating the Polish racial art and science from their natural lines."

Borah Challenges Roosevelt to Act Against Monopolies

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] today challenged the Roosevelt administration to go the limit in the extermination of trusts and monopolies and the elimination of price fixing agreements of all sorts.

Senator Borah.

There are hundreds of price fixing and production limitation agreements and other monopolistic conspiracies flourishing in the country today to the existence of which the administration apparently has been oblivious, though these practices, according to the senator, check the expansion of purchasing power of consumers and retard recovery from the depression.

Claims He Has Evidence.

The Idaho senator said that he is in possession of evidence of the existence of some of these monopolies, among which he mentioned the farm implement monopoly, existing by virtue of understandings on prices, division of territory, and other features of the business entered into by the leading manufacturers of farm equipment.

Commenting on the proposals of Attorney General Cummings for new legislation to put more teeth in the anti-trust laws, he asserted that while the existing statutes might be strengthened the federal trade commission and the department of justice possess sufficient power now to stamp out every monopoly in the country.

"I sincerely hope," said Senator Borah, "that a genuine effort is going to be made to eliminate monopolistic practices. I am satisfied that one of the things that is constantly reducing the purchasing power of the great mass of the American people is the power of monopolies and trusts to manipulate and fix prices.

No Half Way Measures.

"But no halfway program will be of any effect. Either we have got to make up our minds that we are going to have a system of price fixing or we are going to have a competitive system. There is plenty of evidence, in my opinion, that is available to the government if it wants to proceed against monopolies.

"Take, for instance, the farm implement trust. I think it can be established beyond question that prices are fixed by the producers of farm implements. No competition exists in that field and the farmers pay the bill.

"It is within the power of this administration to put an end to monopoly, and no greater service can be rendered to the people or the poor of this country. When I say poor people, I do not mean alone those who have reached the relief roll. I mean the small business man struggling to keep his business, the farmer fighting to keep his farm, and millions seeking to maintain their homes and educate and clothe their families.

Sees Power in Law.

"It may be that some amendments to the law are desirable, but I think there is a vast amount of power in the law which has never been used. The trouble has not been the want of law but the want of purpose. Both the old parties have for forty years made their solemn pledges to the American people as to the evils of monopoly and their purpose of destroying it. We hear very little about the deficiency of the law in a campaign.

"Every one realizes that this thing we call recovery is in a jittery, shaky condition. It seems to me there may be some kind of recovery in this country under a system which permits price fixing by private interests. But it seems equally true that there can be no permanent recovery, no solid rebuilding of the economic system, for at least 50,000,000 American people, so long as private price fixing continues."

The department of justice declined to state whether it has found a monopoly existing in the farm implement industry or in any field of enterprise in addition to that of Andrew Mellon's Aluminum Company of America which it haled into court last week as an alleged offender against the anti-trust laws.

Waiting to Be Shown.

Senator Borah and many others are in the mood of waiting to be shown that the administration is sincere in its sudden burst of activity against monopolies. Their attitude is due to the fact that the New Deal from the start has not only done nothing to restrain but has done everything to encourage monopolistic practices and even today is building up some monopolies with one hand while striking at other monopolies with the other.

Under the NRA the anti-trust laws were suspended and big business wrote its own ticket on prices and production. The resulting reduction of purchasing power retarded recovery until the Supreme court knocked out the NRA.

Senator Assails Guffey Act.

Senator Borah assails the Guffey act, which he unsuccessfully fought in the senate, as a supreme example of the monopoly that reduces the purchasing power of consumers.

The administration has also given approval to the Ellenbogen bill to set up a similar little NRA in the textile industry.

Likewise the administration appears to be sympathetic to the agreement on sugar quotas being negotiated in London with America represented by Mr. Roosevelt's roving ambassador, Norman Davis. This international cartel, which Senator Borah calls the worst kind of monopoly, would raise sugar prices half a cent a pound, according to the London announcement.

The President halted the Tydings bill sanctioning state fair trade laws protecting manufacturers' prices on trade-marked articles from price cutting on the ground that such laws tend to maintain high prices.

INDICT SLAYER OF WIFE'S LOVER ON MURDER CHARGE

A true bill charging murder was reported voted by the grand jury yesterday against Samuel Willeford, 32 years old, who shot and killed Charles Truchan, 21 years old, his wife's lover, last Sunday in the Willeford home at 2724 West 38th street. A coroner's jury had recommended that Willeford be held on a charge of manslaughter.

Willeford, his wife, Floris, 27 years old, and Frank Potempa, 3219 West 37th street, Truchan's stepfather, were among witnesses before the grand jury. Charles Vesely, a fellow employé of Willeford and Truchan at the Chicago Steel Foundry company, 3720 South Kedzie avenue, was reported to have identified the revolver used in the slaying as one he sold to Willeford on April 5.

Mrs. Willeford appeared yesterday before Judge Frank Bicek in the Juvenile court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her children, Samuel Jr., 11 years old, Jack, 9, and Floris, 8. Judge Bicek requested that she be given a mental test and continued the charge.

ROOSEVELT OILS RODS ON WAY TO TARPON WATERS

Fondles Tackle Costing Taxpayers $2,500,000.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special, En Route to New Orleans, La., April 28.—[Special.]—In the comfort of his private car, President Roosevelt this afternoon inspected the fishing tackle which he will employ in ten days of plying gulf waters for the elusive tarpon.

The President flexed the rods, oiled the reels, wound the lines and fondled the lures of a fisherman's outfit, which had cost American taxpayers more than $2,500,000 in the last four years.

In the four years, tons of the finest fighting craft and thousands of the fighting men of the American navy have been massed so that one man in a battered hat might find a few hours escape from official cares.

Cruises Date Back to 1933.

The first of the fishing cruises came in the summer of 1933 when Mr. Roosevelt sailed in the Bay of Fundy. This cruise was repeated last July. Although on each occasion the President rented the yacht which he skippered, accompanying destroyers, coast guard cutters and mail planes cost approximately $200,000 for the two years in operation and wear and tear.

In the late winter of 1934 Mr. Roosevelt switched his fishing grounds to the Caribbean. The cruise was repeated in the late winters of 1935 and 1936. In 1934 and 1935 the President went aboard the Nourmahal, the yacht of his good friend Vincent Astor of the United States Shipping lines.

In 1936, the campaign year, he deserted his Nourmahal companions and made the presidential yacht Potomac his headquarters.

Destroyers Sent as Escorts.

In all three years destroyers were sent through the Panama canal from San Diego, Cal., to escort the fishing party. Each year the journey to the cruising grounds, the cruise and obsolescence on the men of war cost between $200,000 and $250,000.

In the summer of 1934 Mr. Roosevelt switched to cruisers in a swing from the east coast to the west coast via Hawaii. In 1935 he reversed the route, beginning a cruise on the west coast and ending at Charleston, S. C. On navy books the cruises cost about $400,000 each.

After the election of last November, the President embarked on his most ambitious cruise, the 13,000 mile good will trip to South America for the opening of the Pan-American conference for the maintenance of peace. During the month of voyaging the President found time to try out a rod.

One Cruise Costs $800,000.

The cruise was accomplished with the aid of two cruisers, two destroyers, a tanker, and a submarine. Its cost approximated $800,000.

In the ten days of fishing in the Gulf of Mexico, the presidential yacht Potomac will be accompanied by three destroyers—the Moffett, the Decatur, and the Schenk. All base at Norfolk, Va. The Moffett is an 1,850 ton destroyer leader; the others are war time destroyers. The operation cost of the three vessels will be near the $200,000 mark.

Navy men say that while the charge is assessed against the presidential cruises, the operation of the vessels would cost taxpayers as much in routine maneuvers. The vessels must be manned, operated, the crews must be paid, and obsolescence takes it toll.

Tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt will leave his train at Biloxi, Miss., to visit Beauvoir, the home of Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, now a confederate veterans' home.

From the home he motors to Gulfport where he reboards his train for New Orleans. At New Orleans at 4 p. m. Thursday he boards the Potomac for his cruise.

Tonight the President dined with Pat Harrison, senior senator from Mississippi, who is chairman of the finance committee. Administration policies were discussed with the administration wheelhorse, who is hosting the portion of the presidential visit in Mississippi. Aiding the senator is George Allen, commissioner of the District of Columbia, a native of Mississippi.

$40,000 AWARD TO WIDOW OF N. Y. FIREMAN UPHELD

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—A judgment of $40,000 against the Hearst Hotel corporation, awarded by the New York lower courts in 1935 to Mrs. Mary Maloney, widow of a Queens fireman killed in the Ritz Towers hotel explosion in 1932, has been sustained by the Court of Appeals. The suit was the first of ten court actions for aggregate damages of approximately $700,000.

Mrs. Maloney's husband, Edward R. Maloney, attached to engine 39, was injured in the fire and died on Aug. 18, 1932. Eight firemen were killed.

Mrs. Maloney contended that his death was caused by an explosion of paints, varnish, gasoline, and other inflammable substances stored illegally in a subbasement room of the hotel.

HUSBAND BALKS AS JUDGE ORDERS ALIMONY; JAILED

Mrs. Rose Novy, 54 years old, 3634 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, appeared yesterday before Judge John C. Lewe with her husband, Anton, 56 years old, whom she is suing for divorce. After hearing Harry X. Cole, Mrs. Novy's attorney, Judge Lewe ordered Novy to pay $7 a week temporary alimony. Novy, who lives at 8029 West 30th street, Riverside, then told the judge: "I lived with her 34 years without being able to say a word. Now I want peace. I won't pay alimony. I'd rather go to jail." Judge Lewe ordered him to serve six months for contempt of court.

DEFICIENCY BILL FOR 79 MILLION QUICKLY PASSED

House Speeds Measure on to Senate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—The house late today calmly wrote another 79 millions into the annual budget while a storm raged behind the scenes over conflicting proposals presented by Democratic leaders to slash appropriations in the future.

The appropriations totaling $79,200,000 in the second deficiency bill approved by the house were approximately 19 millions less than the amounts requested by government department heads, and it was, therefore, hailed as an "economy" measure.

Deferred "Economy."

An examination of the measure, however, showed that 15 millions of the 19 millions was merely a reduction in the 30 million appropriation asked by the bureau of internal revenue for the refunding of processing taxes collected under the agricultural adjustment act. The saving, it was pointed out, was more a deferred "economy" in that the 15 millions will be included in the next budget.

The measure contained 44 millions for the Tennessee Valley authority for the fiscal year 1938. The TVA had asked 48 millions, but this figure was cut by 4 millions.

The bill carried 14 million additional for the postoffice department and there was no reduction in this amount demanded by Postmaster General Farley. The explanation for most of this extra sum was that an increase in the volume of postal business had necessitated the hiring of additional employés whose salaries totaled $10,500,000.

Third Bill for Relief.

The first deficiency bill passed some time ago, carried nearly 900 millions. A third deficiency bill, which will include the one and one-half billion dollars asked by President Roosevelt for relief in the fiscal year 1938, must be passed before the end of the session. All these bills and the amounts they appropriate must be added to the original budget estimates submitted to the congress.

Only one attempt was made to cut the total of today's bill. Representative Andrew May [D., Ky.] offered an amendment slashing the 44 million TVA appropriation by 5 millions. It was quickly defeated.

No record vote was taken on final passage. The bill now goes to the senate.

General bewilderment was evident in both house and senate over the clash between Representative Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.], and Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], concerning the method of reducing appropriations. Both claimed presidential approval of the resolutions they have introduced; both are known to have conferred with Mr. Roosevelt before making their suggestions.

The Byrnes resolution provides for a flat 10 per cent cut in all appropriations, but the President would be given power to shift appropriations from one department to another in case of emergencies. A saving of from 300 to 500 millions would be mandatory.

The Cannon resolution provides for a cut of 15 per cent in all appropriations, but this amount would merely be "impounded" and the President could release the entire amount if he believed it necessary. Thus, any saving would be entirely at the discretion of the President.

Two Claim Approval.

Speaker William B. Bankhead today revealed that the President had requested introduction of this latter method. But Senator Byrnes said that the President approved his resolution also.

The conesnsus among the legislators was that this was another of those occasions where Mr. Roosevelt has said "fine! fine!" to two proponents of dissimilar programs, giving each the impression that he had White House backing. In such a case the President sits back, smiling to himself, and watches developments before coming out finally with his official approval of one or the other's legislation.

It was learned from an authoritative source that the President's advisers are divided into two groups on the means of approaching a balance of the budget which all agree is becoming essential. One group favors reduction of appropriations as Mr. Roosevelt suggested in his recent message. The others favors enactment of new taxes at this session. The President declared that new taxes probably would be necessary at the next session.

A decision between the Cannon and Byrnes resolutions will not be forced upon congress, in any event, for some months. The program in both cases calls for passage of such a resolution near the end of the session after all appropriation bills have been passed.

JESSE L. LIVERMORE SUED BY DOCTOR FOR TREATING YOUNG SON

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Jesse L. Livermore, who recently paid the government $800,000 in taxes and who testified he had made as much as $1,000,000 on a single deal, went to court today to resist payment of a $450 doctor's bill for his son, the ward of his first wife.

Livermore said that his present wife pays most of his bills, that his 17 year old son had an income of about $1,800 a year and his mother "should have about $12,000 or $13,000 a year," out of which to pay their expenses, under a 1931 separation agreement.

He added that he had been told medical expenses in connection with Jesse Jr's. recovery from being shot at Santa Barbara, Cal., in 1935, had been between $13,000 and $15,000.

The suit against Livermore and his former wife, Dorothy, was brought by Dr. Abbott William Allen, long time friend and physician of the family.

JUDGE IMPOSES JAIL SENTENCES ON SIT STRIKERS

Metes Out 10 to 30 Days for Violating Order.

Detroit, Mich., April 28.—[Special.] —Seventy-nine women and 41 men, arrested during the eviction of sitdown strikers from the Yale & Towne Manufacturing company plant here, were held guilty of contempt of court today by Circuit Judge Arthur Webster.

They were convicted for violation of an injunction which the judges had issued, directing them to leave the plant. They held the factory from March 9 until April 14.

Judge Webster imposed maximum penalties of thirty days in jail and $250 fines on George Edwards, United Automobile Workers of America organizer, and Peter P. Sedler, who said he was an employé of the Kelsey Hayes Wheel company here.

Ten day jail sentences were given three other persons. Sentencing of the others was deferred to July 15.

Packard Workers Vote.

The first Wagner act election held in a major automobile plant was under way at the Packard Motor Car company. Nearly 15,000 hourly rate employés marked ballots indicating whether they wanted the U. A. W. A. local to be their sole collective bargaining representative.

Production was suspended in one department at a time while each group of employés voted. The election was under supervision of the National Labor Relations board.

Battle Closes Plant.

Connersville, Ind., April 28.—[Special.]—The plant of the Rex Manufacturing company, refrigerator and auto trailer concern, was closed under a truce today following strife between two groups of employés. Three men were injured in fighting among workers last night.

Six hundred employés aligned with the Cabinet and Refrigerator Workers' union decided to remain in the plant last night after refusing to join a strike called by the United Automobile Workers of America. They marched out, however, after company officials agreed to suspend operations during negotiations. The strike was settled tonight, but the terms were not at once made public.

Settle Firestone Strike.

Akron, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Representatives of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company and the Rubber Workers' union reached an agreement late today in an eight weeks old strike at company plants.

The pact, to remain in force a year, provides for recognition of the union as collective bargaining agent "for employés who desire those services" and the union's promise not to tolerate sitdown strikes or other stoppage of work.

Akron's major tire companies—Firestone, Goodyear, and Goodrich—disclosed they had withdrawn financial support from their employé organizations.

10 Days to Live

[Associated Press Photos.]

Stooping Oak, Tenn., April 28.—[Special.] — Jackson Whitlow, the mountaineer who claims he has fasted for 49 days, can live probably ten days longer without eating, Dr. R. E. Standifer said today. The 47 year old trapper, who says he will not take food until the Lord tells him he can end his fast, now weighs 97 pounds, 40 less than when he started his religious demonstration. His temperature and pulse are far below normal.

Find Dynamite in House; Former Tenants Sought

Sergt. Andrew Aitken of the bomb squad ordered a search yesterday for the former tenants of a frame residence at 3742 Langley avenue when two cases, containing 200 sticks of dynamite, were found in the basement. The explosives were discovered by WPA laborers who are razing buildings in the neighborhood. Sergt. Aitken said he was investigating a possibility the cache might have supplied the dynamite for six recent bombings in the city and suburbs.

LEGION TO VIE WITH RADICALS ON MAY DAY

Plans Relays During Labor Parade.

The American Legion will vie with radical organizations for Chicago's attention next Saturday, May 1, the day selected each year for radical labor demonstrations throughout the world.

A United Labor May Day committee, which has a definitly Red complexion, has been granted a permit for a parade at 3 p. m. from Union park to the lake front, followed by a massmeeting in Grant park.

About the same time and only a short distance to the south the American Legion's Cook County council will be holding its second annual relay carnival in Soldiers' field, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The event, under the direction of William G. Murray, Illinois Legion commander, will bring together some of the best preparatory school track and field teams of the midwest, including those of St. John's Military academy at Delavan, Wis.; Elgin Military academy, Morgan Park Military academy, De Paul academy, De La Salle institute, Austin, Hyde Park, Lane, Schurz, and half a dozen other public and parochial high schools. It is scheduled for 2 p. m. and will be preceded by a parade of Sons of the American Legion, Boy Scouts, and Sea Scouts.

The labor demonstration will bring together Chicago communists, Socialists, and members of trade union groups. Arthur G. McDowell, secretary of the committee, said yesterday that 10,000 persons will attend if the weather is good. Other leaders, however, estimated the number would be closer to 3,000 or 4,000.

Both Socialists and comunists have planned evening meetings. The former will hold theirs at the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' hall, Van Buren street and Ashland avenue, and the communists will meet in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, just across the street.

St. Louis Botanist Named Field Museum Assistant

Dr. Julian A. Steyermark of St. Louis, author of several botanical works, has been appointed assistant curator in the herbarium in the department of botany of the Field museum, it was announced yesterday.

2D ANNUAL MIDWEST GUERNSEY SALE WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Breeders from eight states are cooperating in sponsoring and managing the second annual middle west invitational sale of registered Guernsey cattle to be held Saturday at Happy Way farm, owned by Mrs. A. C. Thompson, near the intersection of Roosevelt and Butterfield roads, south of Elmhurst in Du Page county, according to an announcement made yesterday by Edwin C. Welch of Lake Forest, secretary.

Dairy judges and breeders have selected for the auction about 60 head from some of the finest pure bred Guernsey herds in the central west. Some of them are prize winners, including champions of various shows and fairs. Many of the females have official annual butterfat production records running up in the 600 pound class. Eight of the bulls to be in the sale are from dams with official records up to 891 pounds of butterfat produced in a year. The animals are coming from Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Mississippi, Indiana, and Michigan.

The Blackstone hotel will be the Chicago headquarters for the sale. Walter F. Andrews of Beach City, O., has been selected as the auctioneer.

WPA STRIKERS MISS GOVERNOR, BUSY WITH C. I. O.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 28.—[Special.]—Spokesmen for 1,500 strikers on Milwaukee WPA projects went to Madison to enlist the sympathy of Gov. La Follette today and came back without seeing him. The governor was in conference with representatives of the Committee on Industrial Organization, who had been in Madison for a hearing with the new state labor board.

Don S. Teter, head of the city's WPA administration, said that work is stopped in all large projects except Lincoln, Lake, and Juneau parks. The strikers are protesting against increasing their monthly work hours from 80 to 86 without increasing their pay from $60.

The sitdown strike of women employed by the Rhea Manufacturing company, which makes women's dresses, ended this morning after an all night conference.

Riot Halts Production.

Stevens Point, Wis., April 28.—[Special.]—A riotous attempt of 130 union pickets to drive 37 nonstriking workers out of the Lullabye Furniture company plant halted production at the concern today. Several persons were hurt in the fighting.

FARMERS LAUNCH UNION TO COMBAT THAT OF LOGGERS

Minnesotans Say Benson Ignores Their Rights.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 28.—[Special.]—A movement to organize farmers in northern Minnesota into a union of their own became a phase today of a labor dispute in the logging industry which has involved Gov. Elmer A. Benson. Mr. Benson, a Farmer-Laborite, was supported by the communist party in the election last November.

Gov. Elmer Benson.

Frank T. Ronkainen, president of a newly organized Farmers Protective association, has stated in a circular that its purpose is to prevent the Timber Workers' union from beating up farmers and destroying their property.

The situation grows out of the strikes in the woodpulp regions during the winter at the time the Timber Workers' union was being organized. Some of the farmers work in the woods during the winter, others, it is set forth, cut some pulp wood off their lands, in clearing them. Early this year there was disturbance in the region and a group of small farmers came to the capital seeking a legislative inquiry into strike methods.

Leader Cites His Reasons.

Ronkainen, who has a home on a farm near Kettle River, operates three lumber camps employing about 100 men.

"Last winter," he said, "the strikers tipped over loads of wood brought by farmers for sale to the mills. They threatened to beat up farmers. Their latest idea is to refuse to permit farmers to join the union. We have appealed to Gov. Benson for protection of the law and he refuses to give us any guaranty.

"Gov. Benson's record is such that many of us have lost complete faith in him. Only a short time ago he praised a mob who came into the senate chambers and drove senators out of the capitol. Does he approve of mob rule or does he approve of obedience to law? We can judge only by his actions."

Unionists Some 4,000 Strong.

The Timber Workers' union, local No. 2,776 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, now numbers among its members more than two-thirds of Minnesota's 6,000 timber workers.

An agreement struck in January, established an 8 hour day, increased wages and overtime pay. In recent weeks individual agreements have been reached with most of the large timber operators. The latest, signed last week between the union and the International Lumber company sets a 60 cents an hour minimum as compared with a 1929 level of $3 a day which ranged from 10 to 16 hours.

At winter conferences, union officials said today, Ronkainen opposed the organization. Union headquarters asserted that small farmers who work in the woods winters are behind the union and there the controversy rests.

RAIL BROTHERHOODS JOIN HANDS TO FIGHT ROADS FOR MORE PAY

San Francisco, Cal., April 28.—(AP)—Four powerful railroad brotherhoods have banded together and plan to "fight the railroads in this country" for higher wages, an official announced today.

The announcement was made before President Roosevelt's federal mediation board, hearing complaints of two junior brotherhoods against the Southern Pacific company.

"Since we have been here fighting one another," said G. W. Laughlin, first assistant grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, "these four chairmen met in the building where all maintain offices and combined their power and strength to go together and fight the railroads in this country. We are going out and tell these railroad companies: 'You have to pay us all more money than we are getting.'"

HELD TO JURY AS EXTORTIONIST.

John Buzas, 18 years old, 10835 South Wabash avenue, was held to the federal grand jury in $3,000 bonds by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on a charge of sending an extortion letter demanding $500 from Ginger Rogers, film actress.

These institutions, where young Japanese women in western garb dance with Japanese or occidentals to the strains of American jazz, are filled to capacity nightly in Tokio and other large cities.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Sheep in Pasture.

April 28, 1937.

Sheep and cattle are both produced at the Tribune's Yorkville place and sheep are raised at the Wheaton farm, giving the men an opportunity to make comparisons. One of the men at the Wheaton farm pointed out the other day that the sheep have not eaten a forkful of hay since they were turned on grass this spring. Grass is short this early in the season but sheep like it that way.

"There is an economy in sheep production," said the Wheaton farm observer: "Cattle won't go into pasture before the 15th of May because of the wet grass and because their weight would punch holes in the sod. The sheep do not have this difficulty, because they are light."

A Sheep Secret!

It was amusing to men at the farm last week to see the sheep all lying against a wire fence. The men began to speculate why sheep go into a huddle and take their naps against a wire fence.

"It cannot be for warmth. Is it instinct for protection, like a dog under a chair, or is it more comfortable?" asked one of the men.

Perhaps some expert on "sheep psychology" has the answer.

With the sheep population having a tendency to increase on the Wheaton farm, the problem of producing grass and hay for the ewes and lambs increases each year. Drouths and severe winters have increased this difficulty.

Adverse winter and summer weather conditions in recent years have convinced the Wheaton farm manager that some new kind of crop, or a new strain or variety of the old ones, is needed to give northern Illinois farmers a hay and pasture crop that will be more dependable than anything now grown in this region.

Crops Show Promise!

He is hopeful that some of the clovers and Lespedezas now being tested at the farm will be able to win a place in the cropping rotation. Two annual Lespedezas, Harbin and Korean, and Sericea, a perennial, are showing great promise in the plots. Some of them will be tried out on a larger scale this season. Perhaps there will be enough raised to make pasture and hay tests.

The Wheaton farm manager is seeking advice and suggestions from other farmers on the kinds of crops that can be planted this spring and harvested for hay this summer. He is short of hay crops since the alfalfa froze out last winter. In working out the final planting plans oats, soy beans, Sudan grass, and barley are being considered for use as hay and pasture crops.

COURT NAMES 5 TO FORMULATE 'L' REORGANIZATION

Expect Early Action on Traction Muddle.

Byron V. Kanaley.

Early action to formulate a reorganization plan for the elevated lines with its goal a rehabilitation of the system and a possible unification with the Chicago Surface lines was forecast yesterday following the appointment of a special reorganization committee by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Interests close to the company hailed the action of Judge Wilkerson as an important step in ironing out the Chicago transit muddle. In appointing a small committee with broad powers to negotiate with security and creditor groups and with city officials, the way has been opened for a practical solution of the ills of the elevated system, they said.

Names Committee of 5.

Judge Wilkerson named a committee of five as a result of a petition filed last week by the company. They are D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair store and chairman of the elevated first mortgage bondholders committee; Sidney L. Castle, investment banker and a member of the same committee; Byron V. Kanaley, first mortgage banker; Walter A. Shaw, engineering and valuations expert, and William J. Lynch, contractor and builder.

"The court has tried to select a committee which is representative of the different interests in the proceedings," Judge Wilkerson's memorandum on the appointment said.

"Mr. Shaw, who was a member of the public utilities commission of Illinois, and who has more recently acted as adviser to the court in the matter of the reorganization of the Middle West Utilities company, has been made a member of this committee, and has been designated by the court as the adviser to the committee on engineering and valuation matters.

To Work Out Valuation Problem.

"Mr. Shaw does not represent any interest in this proceeding and is named by the court to assist in working out a solution of the engineering and valuation problem involved in harmony with the views of the mayor and city council as to the unification of the instrumentalities of transportation in Chicago."

Mayor Kelly expressed approval of the committee. "The city has some one to contact who will have authority to speak for the elevated lines, it appears from Judge Wilkerson's order," he said.

A member of the new committee said yesterday the group will meet soon to work out a method of procedure. It is reported that Mr. Lynch probably will be the chairman. The committee is to make periodic reports of progress to Judge Wilkerson.

First Problem Is Values.

One of the first matters to be taken up by the committee will be the present 100 million dollar book value of the system. Mayor Kelly is insistent that claimed values for the local transportation systems, including the 170 million dollar purchase price of the surface lines, must be scaled down before new ordinances are adopted.

Financial interests express the opinion the new elevated committee will encounter few difficulties in obtaining the assent of security and creditor groups to a reduced valuation as part of a reorganization plan.

The elevated company has been under Judge Wilkerson's jurisdiction since going into receivership in 1932. Two months ago Judge Wilkerson approved a proposal for reorganization of the lines under section 77B of the bankruptcy laws.

CITIZENS GROUP OUTLINES FIGHT ON N. Y. CRIME

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—After many months of careful study the Citizens' Committee on the Control of Crime in New York, Inc., announced today that it has formulated detailed plans for combating organized crime and for aiding in the more efficient administration of justice in this city.

Harry F. Guggenheim, who, at the request of Mayor F. H. La Guardia, took the lead in organizing the committee last summer after the first extraordinary grand jury in the Dewey investigation had urged the establishment of such a permanent group, said that for the present its work would fall into two main categories.

One of these will consist of coöperation with Thomas E. Dewey, special prosecutor of rackets, whose record of sixty convictions from his first sixty indictments Mr. Guggenheim praised warmly. The other will be coöperation with the police, the regular prosecutors, and the criminal courts.

JUDGE'S KNIFER LEAVES NO TRAIL; HUNT BOGS DOWN

Police Delve Into Court Records for Clew.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Police admitted tonight that all leads had failed in their investigation into the stabbing of Municipal Judge John Francis O'Neil, who rallied during the day following the use of oxygen when he suffered a sinking spell.

Efforts to identify the man in the tan polo coat who thrust a knife into the back of the jurist bogged down completely. Witnesses went over photographs of known criminals without success. The judge, before lapsing into unconsciousness, said he did not know his assailant.

The attacker, with his weapon hidden in a newspaper, struck the judge, who is 69, as he waited on a street corner for a bus yesterday morning.

No Trace of Weapon.

Police were unable to find the weapon.

Politics still was considered as the most fertile field for finding a motive behind the assault. Judge O'Neil has been an active member of the Tammany Hall machine for more than 30 years and was appointed to the bench for an interim term on Sept. 29, 1927, by the then mayor, James J. [Jimmy] Walker. He was a close friend of the politically powerful Tammany leaders.

While O'Neil's connections with the Democratic organization were being traced, detectives were searching through the judge's court record for many months past. This was on the theory that a disgruntled litigant with a real or imaginary grievance had sought to take the life of the man on the bench.

Gangster Angle Discounted.

One story being investigated was that the judge had severely reproved a young lawyer for his conduct in court several weeks ago.

O'Neil had not been trying criminal cases, a fact that exploded the idea that a gangster or felon was seeking revenge for the punishment meted out to him. The Municipal court in New York City deals with civil actions involving amounts up to $1,000. Furthermore, juries had been hearing the cases in O'Neil's court for more than a year and he had not been required to decide any disputes single handed.

ALIMONY SITDOWN STRIKER STARTS 3D NIGHT OF HAUNTING

Longmont, Colo., April 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Genevieve Johnson, 26 years old, alimony sitdown striker, rocked complacently in a rocking chair tonight as she began the third night of her demonstration on the lawn in front of the home of her father-in-law, Guy Johnson.

Dust and a chilling wind failed to deter her from her purpose of continuing the strike until her husband, Ralph, agrees to a separation and her father-in-law assures her separate maintenance funds.

The persistent young woman prettied up a bit during the day by having a beauty operator come to her headquarters and give her a finger wave. She spent the day on the lawn after relinquishing her seat in Guy Johnson's truck at the request of police who explained Johnson needed it in his produce business.

Fifteen elementary and high school teachers have been appointed to fill vacant principalships in elementary schools, President James B. McCahey of the board of education announced at the board meeting yesterday.

The fifteen were among 155 teachers who passed the examinations which began with a written test last Sept. 6 and ended with an oral quiz two weeks ago. More than 900 teachers took the tests.

The new principals and the schools to which they have been assigned, effective next Monday, are: Norman D. Anderson, Corkery; Rena C. Flanagan, Tilton; James H. Smith, Sherwood; Mary Irene Malone, Davis; Angela M. Cylkowski, McCormick; James J. Kasparek, Darwin; Marguerite Flershem, Irving; Susan L. Gorman, Smyth; Ethel C. Watts, Anderson; Margaret A. Hayes, Cameron; Margaret C. Lynch, Monroe; Mary E. Sheridan, Morris; Marion D. Moran, Yates; Sadie K. Kalmon, Grace Street, and Marie A. McCahey, the Warren school and a new school at 86th and Cregier streets, as yet unnamed.

Elementary school principals receive salaries ranging from $3,000 to $3,800 a year.

THIS WILL SURPRISE A LOT OF CAR OWNERS

THE CHEAPEST THING ON YOUR CAR IS THE BEST TIRES YOU CAN BUY!

Charted here are average maintenance costs obtained from fleet owners operating hundreds of cars on Goodyear Tires. Note that a full set of Goodyears costs only about one-fifth as much as gas—from one-quarter to one-half as much as other routine expenses. Ratios may vary somewhat in your case depending upon roads, climate and how fast you drive, but these nation-wide records prove Goodyears cost least under any conditions.

THE PUBLIC SAYS IT'S "THE BEST TIRE"

There is no teacher like experience—and out of more than two decades' experience car owners have found that there is no tire like a Goodyear. Proof of that is the fact it has been true now for 22 years "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

If you haven't been buying Goodyear Tires because you thought you couldn't afford the best, here's something you ought to know:

The cheapest thing on your car is the best tires you can buy—and if you want proof of that look at the chart above showing the experience of great fleet operators with Goodyear Tires.

There are the facts. Gasoline costs you, on the average, five times as much per mile as a full set of Goodyear Tires! Other routine expenses two to four times as much!

But more important than economy is the greater security Goodyears give you. The greater grip of center traction! The quicker-stopping All-Weather type tread with its life-saving margin of safety! The greater blowout protection of patented Supertwist Cord in every ply!

There's a Goodyear in every price class

Remember, you can get all these time-proved features in Goodyears of several different price classes. Each is the top quality tire for the money, backed by the greatest name in rubber—the price-difference is simply a matter of how much mileage you wish to buy.

So why go on gambling your money on unknown tires when the best tires—Goodyear Tires—cost far less than anything else you buy for your car?

STREET CARS VERSUS BUSES.

The proposal of Mayor Kelly to force the substitution of buses for street cars on Chicago thoroughfares will be acclaimed by some and denounced by others. That the bus has made substantial advances in the art of local transportation, while little additional street car mileage has been constructed in recent years, cannot be denied. Still, there are those who contend that forces other than the accommodation and comfort of the passenger have assisted the buses. Riding comforts are entirely dependent on the financial ability of the city to keep the roadways in repair. Then there is the direct complaint of the long distance rider that he is unable to read on a bus.

In discussing the subject the citizen is apt to assume that the motor coach company runs the buses and the surface lines operate only street cars. This is not correct. The surface lines actually own the second largest trolley bus system in America, rivaled only by Indianapolis. They claim to handle more passengers on their city buses than does the Chicago Motor Coach company. Again, the surface lines are widely credited with the strategy of throwing down tracks wherever there is an opportunity to do so, in order to perpetuate a franchise. The conclusion is hardly fair. The franchise of 1907 provided that 26 miles of new trackage must be built each year with the city council choosing the routes. As a result we have street car tracks through subdivisions where the trafic is too sparse to support them and where the surface lines might have installed trolley or gas buses had the decision rested with the management. Finally, the substitution of buses for street cars cannot be attempted unless and until the city is in a position to undertake a colossal paving program. The Clark-Wentworth route is one of heavy patronage. Grand avenue is another. To attempt bus service over the hills and dales along the curb would be out of the question.

Let us not repeat the 1907 error of assuming that any particular type of service and vehicle is the last word in city traction or that street cars are outmoded. The Manhattan lines prove nothing, because the bulk of the trafic is removed from the surface by the subway. Let us pave the way to a franchise as quickly as possible, so that the consolidated traction company can release the funds available for modernization of the whole system. Valuation of the properties is seemingly the main obstacle at the present time, and here the position of the surface lines is weak. The stated total of 170 millions includes equipment of every description that is obsolete, outmoded, and certainly not worth its book value.

SAFETY FIRST—BEAUTY LATER.

Doubtless many north side residents will have read with regret that financial difficulties may indefinitly postpone the completion of the lakeside riviera between Montrose and Foster avenues. It will seem a pity that a shortage of funds may interfere with plans so close to realization, but there is another side to the question. The dissipation of substantial amounts of public funds on recreational and beautifying projects while lives are being sacrificed all over the city for the want of modernized highways for practical purposes seems almost criminally wrong. Nobody can view those two grade separations that have been created in the newly landscaped area opposite Lawrence avenue without contemplating their present uselessness, and admitting that they should be saving lives at some critical intersection. It seems like building monuments while the battle is raging and breastworks are sorely needed.

The north and south side drives have been completed in so far as their practical uses are concerned. They are doing their share toward keeping Chicago's massacre problem within bounds. Further beautification can well rest until an elevated highway is ripped through to the west side that will have equal safety attributes.

THE RHODE ISLAND WARNING.

Only a serious deterioration in the morale and political intelligence of the American press and public can account for the small amount of attention and protest given conditions in Rhode Island. The fact that an American commonwealth—the state founded, indeed, by Roger Williams, first champion of civil and political liberty on the American continent—has submitted itself to a dictatorship as arrogant as any set up in Europe during the great reaction of recent years ought to shock and arouse the nation. It has not and there is no portent more ominous in our sky.

We have in Rhode Island a laboratory experiment in the new fallacies which four years of reckless agitation and propaganda have spread widely in this country. We know from Rhode Island what the concentration of power in the executive and the destruction of the checks and balances of law and republican government insure. Rhode Island has lost the republican form of government and the United States will lose it if it follows the same path. Pack the Supreme court to make it merely an agent of the executive will. Bring the legislature to heel by corruption by public money and office. Subsidize great masses of voters by lavish gifts from the public treasury perpetually replenished by ever increasing taxation and heedless public finance. When these things ripen, republican government and with it the liberty and prosperity of the American people will have died as it has died in Rhode Island.

MR. GERARD'S SHORT PANTS.

James W. Gerard, President Roosevelt's special ambassador to the coronation of George VI., is in London for the big show, draped in smiles and good humor. Mr. Gerard was wartime ambassador to Germany and he knows his way about in royal circles. The earl marshal, who is the master of ceremonies, desires to put everybody in some sort of a masquerade costume. If a person has one by hereditary usage all he has to do is to take it off the nail in the wardrobe. If there be no duds of ancient impressiveness handed down in the family the earl marshal would put the victim of this misfortune in short pants.

It is not to be supposed that the master of ceremonies thinks of this as putting a ring in the nose, but people of no feudal distinctions are to be made to feel that they are something less than themselves in order to try to be more than they ought to be.

Mr. Gerard apparently has a fine pair of legs, two well rounded calves which will keep him from looking like a bottle on a pair of toothpicks when he displays himself from the knees down to such public gaze as may be interested in him. He says he is going to take to the breeches like a duck to water, and he says that if he were invited to a party and it was his host's custom to appear in pajamas he would appear in pajamas.

There are pajama parties in certain sections of America. It has been said that the custom prevails in Hollywood. We know nothing of that. Many things are attributed to Hollywood and probably most of them are true. The point might be raised that a gentleman who found himself invited to a party requiring him to do something his instinctive judgment voted against would send his regrets, but Mr. Gerard is a jovial soul and b'gosh if there's going to be a party he's going to it even if it were a South Sea Island affair or something requiring only a breech cloth. Possibly he would draw the line at a dinner given in honor of the chief of a nudist colony in its native habitat. Who knows?

If memory isn't playing tricks, the state department some months ago announced that the American national costume, on the outside, consisted of shoes, long trousers, a coat, shirt, necktie, collar and vest, and that when American official representatives in foreign lands went to state occasions they were going in just such a garb or they weren't going. We may be mistaken about this or it may be that for the extraordinary show in which Great Britain makes much of an institution our ancestors denounced roundly and vigorously a special concession has been given and Mr. Gerard and Mr. Bingham, the ambassador to Great Britain, may join Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan in the short pants of ceremonial servitude. America for this occasion is going colonial and does not propose to adopt any mean attitude of self-conscious national pride and dignity.

CIVILIAN CO-OPERATION WITH THE ARMY.

Col. Edwards, in charge of recruiting for the United States army in this district, makes a suggestion for the improvement of recruiting for the service which ought to be given serious consideration by the organizations referred to. He proposes that patriotic organizations such as the Reserve Officers' association, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and organizations of public spirited business and professional men like the Rotary, Kiwanis, the Association of Commerce, etc., form within their membership groups or committees who will make contact with eligible youths and send them to the recruiting station for enlistment.

This, as Col. Edwards remarks, will require personal effort, but it should result in the procurement of desirable, high quality material which the army needs. Service in the American army or navy under modern conditions has much to appeal to young men of character and intelligence, and as the quality of personnel is raised as it has been raised in recent years the training and education which our military service provides will be a useful foundation for successful living whether its recipients remain in the army or reënter civilian life as, of course, most of them will.

Committees can obtain all information on army conditions and opportunities from Col. Edwards at the United States courthouse, room 1101.

[Rock Island Argus.]

It would be unfortunate if the political squabble between Gov. Horner and the mayor of Chicago and the head of the Chicago park board should cause the failure again of the Illinois legislature to pass a drivers' license bill. The administration of the license system is the bone of contention now, and while politicians fuss about the control of patronage in the administration of the act, the people may find themselves deprived again of the benefits of the drivers' license law. Other states have had experience that has demonstrated that the drivers' license does result in reduction of the toll of motor vehicle accidents.

The average citizen does not care much who is in control of the machinery if the state gets a license law, but the public does want an effective law adopted. Repeatedly one excuse or another has kept the general assembly from putting the license for drivers into the statutes. Patience is being exhausted.

Settle the squabble one way or the other, but settle it, and pass the license law. Whether the state highway department is the administering agency, or the secretary of state's office, which now has jurisdiction over licensing of vehicles, is in charge, isn't nearly as important as the real issue, a law that will better control highway safety. What the people, and motorists who will be affected, want is a weapon to check recklessness and repeated disregard of trafic rules. The license fee should be low, just enough to cover administration costs and not a camouflaged revenue source. Administration of the act should be impartial, vigorous and intelligent. Any one of several state divisions could ably handle the job. It should be put in the hands of one of them, and done promptly. The drivers' license law should not be made a pawn in the game of political patronage.

NO MATTER what the other repercussions of the coronation, the skeletons in the knee breeches will rattle through America for months.

ONE OF THOSE inevitably boresome school discussion meetings in a north shore suburb was being further deadened by an oration from a perennial kicker. "Honesty is the best policy," he proclaimed in his ante-penult peroration; "a little learning is a dangerous thing, for we know the tree is bent as the twig inclines. And unless these conditions, which I view with alarm, are remedied, I expect to move out of this community." The weary chairman slapped down his gavel ."What the gentleman means," said he, "is that he would rather be trite than resident."

GAZING AT THE placards carried by these earnest picketeers in our omnipresent strikes has given me an idea. Why couldn't I make me a good-sized one—say two by three feet—and place it conspicuously against one of my front porch pillars? And the legend? ROMANCE IN SPRING.

In the spring a young man's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts of love,
Likewise do the cows' and chickens';
Yonder is a cooing dove!
And, believe me, when I tell you
That the pigs are not immune;
I can hear them grunting love songs
Underneath a silvery moon.

I detect a note of romance
When the cows so softly moo,
And each barnyard hen and rooster
Have their secret rendezvous.
I've a funny sort of feeling,
Makes me sit up with alarm!
But gee! I guess it's natural
'Cause it's Spring down on the farm.

WHY WE HAVE CLASSICS.

It has been so gloomy the past few days that our absent-minded neighbor has been saying goodnight to his wife before leaving for work in the morning. If this be a classic, I testify on the half-witness stand that I'm guiltless of having snatched said quip. . . . The decay of Nineveh, Tyre, and Rome was not so tragic as the decline of a proverb or an axiom. From proverb to piffle in a few short centuries, and Tyre must have enjoyed a period of inflation before going flat! . . . If we had the youth and freshness of a Nathalia Crane and the intuition of a Shakespeare, we should not tremble in fear that our quips creak. But too many textbooks and too many revelations of so-called truths load the mind and make it a donkey staggering wabbly-kneed under soggy burdens. Still, even a donkey may lay back its ears and bray in an inimitable voice. Ralph Noel.

Is heard the sibilant slash of padded feet
Hurrying before the dawn stars fade away—and bands

CONVULSIONS IN CHILDREN.

EXPLOSIONS generally make a lot of noise, but in the case of gases, in order to set them off, they must accumulate in an inclosed space until a definite concentration is reached. Arrange for the free access of fresh air and the peril is over. So it is with the nervous system. Permit toxins to pile up to a dangerous degree and the nerves will rebel. Result: An explosion or what is termed a convulsion.

One of the most terrifying experiences that can come to a young mother is to find her child in the throes of such an attack. The emergency must be met promptly even though life is not threatened. Unless the cause is relieved or abated in part, one seizure may follow another with deleterious consequences to the brain and the nervous system.

The wisest thing to do is to place the child at once in a warm bath [not hot] to which a little ground mustard has been added — anywhere from a tablespoonful to a third of a cup, depending on the amount of water used. As a rule the skin will be blanched and the youngster appear almost bloodless. The important thing is to restore the balance of circulation and while in the tub the skin should be rubbed vigorously until the returning color and relaxation of muscles marks recovery. The lower bowel should then be emptied, using a small amount of salt solution—half a teaspoonful to a pint of water—as an enema.

If the temperature is high the infant's head may be allowed to rest on a towel covered icebag. This is a highly advantageous procedure whenever fever has affected the nerve tissue seriously. It goes without saying that a physician should be summoned or the patient transported to the nearest hospital even though the danger seems to be over. A careful examination should then be made to determine the origin.

If convulsions occur after the sixth year of life, when the patient is ostensibly well, we must think of epilepsy. But this diagnosis should not be made even tentatively until all other possible factors have been ruled out. In some instances the disease will develop insidiously and be characterized by slight losses of consciousness with no signs of muscular spasms. This mild form may continue for years only to be followed by a sudden onset of stupor, the patient falling to the floor with muscles rigid.

The symptoms of epilepsy should be familiar to all, as frequently one of these unfortunates will suffer an attack in the midst of everyday affairs. At first the face and lips are pale, later becoming bluish or purplish. The pupils will dilate, become fixed, and the muscles will jerk, at first rapidly, and then more slowly.

As the spasm passes, air again enters the lungs, and as breathing is resumed some slight evidence of froth or foam—ofttimes bloodstained—may be seen on the lips. Gradually the blue color fades from the skin and later the patient may even become flushed. Usually profuse sweating will end the affair, the victim passing into a natural sleep only to waken with a headache or a feeling of marked exhaustion.

Any one observing an explosion of this sort may recall the following suggestions: It is most desirable to protect the invalid from injuring himself; hence placing him on the floor or a couch with some support for the head — a folded overcoat or a pillow—is helpful. Coma lasts but a few minutes. If the periods follow one another in fairly rapid succession, however, life may be at stake and ether or some other anesthetic should be given without delay.

Between outbreaks the drugs which will afford the maximum amount of control are the bromides, but enough must be administered to maintain the chemical solution in the blood at a high level. This means regularity of dosage and occasionally a blood examination to make sure that the sedative is being absorbed. Phenobarbital is useful and may in some cases prove more efficacious than the bromides.

BUNIONS.

Miss S. writes: I am a girl, 18 years old, and have always had trouble with my feet. Now bunions are starting to form. Is there anything I can do to stop this? What causes it?

REPLY.

Wear properly fitting shoes even though you must have them made to order. If there is a bone or join deformity of the foot, consult an orthopedic surgeon. Among the causes are poor posture and shoes that are too narrow or too short.

SNUFF DIPPING.

Mrs. J. R. writes: Is snuff dipping, as practiced by many individuals in rural communities, harmful or beneficial? Does it affect the mind?

REPLY.

The practice of snuff dipping is an old fashioned method of using tobacco. The effects are similar to smoking or chewing, quantity for quantity. There is no direct or specific impression on the mind.

ROPE JUMPING.

Mrs. W. writes: Now that spring is here, and rope jumping time with it, will you state whether this game is injurious to the hearts of our growing children?

REPLY.

Not unless the child has already acquired a bad heart through rheumatic fever or other infectious disease. Excessive exercise of any sort is to be frowned upon.

REMOVAL NEEDED.

Mrs. R. writes:

1. Is an ovarian cyst dangerous if not attended to?
2. How is it treated?
3. What causes dizziness when resting the head on one side only?

REPLY.

1. It may be.
2. Prompt removal.
3. Trouble in the internal ear produced by disease or injury.

WET EYELIDS.

Mrs. K. writes: What causes sticky, wet eyelids? I am 67 years old, in fairly good health.

REPLY.

Your symptoms suggest conjunctivitis—inflammation of the mucous membrane of the eyelids. Cleansing several times daily with a warm boric acid solution should help. A skilled ophthalmologist should be consulted if the condition does not disappear promptly.

20 Years Ago Today

APRIL 29, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The bill authorizing the mobilization of an army on the system of selective conscription was voted by both houses of congress by much larger majorities than had been expected. When it was seen that the volunteer idea was beaten members who had supported it climbed aboard the presidential band wagon.

CHICAGO. — "Put the Stars and Stripes on the firing line and repay the debt to France" was the gist of the patriotic sermon Col. Theodore Roosevelt thundered to an intensely enthusiastic audience that choked the stockyards pavilion and the streets for blocks around. A frenzied crowd waved 12,000 flags before the orator and wildly yelled it was for "Teddy, Teddy, Teddy."

CHICAGO.—Indignation over the mayor's attitude toward the proposed visit of Marshal Joffre was apparent all over the city and in many parts of the country. District Attorney Clyne was asked to take action on the charge the mayor's talks were disloyal and even treasonable. It is understood a report has been made to Washington regarding the matter.

CHICAGO.—The city is face to face with a bread famine. Fifteen of the largest bakeries, supplying about 80 per cent of the bakery made bread in Chicago and its suburbs, were forced to shut down by a bakers' strike. A large majority of the union members either were born in Germany or have Teutonic antecedents. The government has developments of the strike under observation.

LONDON.—Interest in Germany's internal conditions is concentrated on the threatening developments of next Tuesday when a May day strike is scheduled as a demonstration to force the government to lighten the munition workers' labor and to increase food allowances.

CHICAGO.—Quick stimulus to recruiting followed Col. Roosevelt's arrival in town. Although Saturday is not ordinarily a good day for them, army offices picked up nearly 300 new men. The navy gained 72 men and the marine corps shipped 42 to Port Royal training barracks.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A cablegram urging settlement of the Irish problem was sent to Premier Lloyd George by 200 representatives in congress headed by Speaker Champ Clark. There is great interest in this country in the situation, and the Irish home rule question has been discussed by American officials with members of the British commission now visiting the United States.

CHICAGO.—There was an unlooked for outburst in the Roosevelt meeting when THE TRIBUNE, over a special wire, forwarded to the speakers' table a telegram announcing that the senate had voted 56 to 31 to accept an amendment to the military bill permitting Col. Roosevelt to raise a division for service in France.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Sept. 15, 1935, my grandmother died without leaving a will. Please advise me what legal steps to take. P. G.

REBUILDING THE G. O. P.

Chicago, April 26.—How can the Republican party be rebuilt so that it will be of real value to our two party system of government, and so that the chances of its success in future elections will be assured? The answer is so simple and so obvious that it has escaped the thinking of the high priced executives of the party.

There should be a true grass roots movement. Every ward or precinct—that is, every small political unit of the party—should be organized into small face to face discussion groups, which would face honestly and frankly the fundamental issues that are the concern of the voters. These discussion groups should be set up and run by professional educators who would manage the groups in an objective manner, i. e., the only manner in which discussion would have any value.

Such a forward step in true democratic government would be just enough in itself to give the Republican party more than a fighting chance to live.

Somehow, however, I have the lurking suspicion that I am wasting my words! It is highly probable that so simple a suggestion would not be entertained by those who have all the expertness of dealing with the trappings and involvements of the traditional election campaigns. Such is life! OBSERVER.

NEW TRAINS AND NEW IDEAS.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 24.—Haven't the imbecilic politicians and reformers spawned enough freak new deals without THE TRIBUNE putting new ideas into their dizzy heads? Next you know some nitwit member of I. C. C. will take your "New Trains and New Ideas" editorial seriously and order henceforth and pronto the Pennsylvania to debark its passengers at South Chicago, the Northwestern at Oak Park, and the Wabash at Chicago Ridge.

Aside from safety, the great advantage the railroads have over the flying death crates is the almost universal proximity of their depots to the centers of cities.

THE GIRL SCOUT UNIFORM.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 24.—Just for my own information perhaps some one could enlighten me on this change in the Girl Scout uniform. For the past 25 years the Camp Fire Girls have worn a white blouse, red tie, navy skirt, and beret as their official uniform. I wonder why the Girl Scout organization, after adopting the Boy Scout name in 1915, now has adopted the Camp Fire uniform in 1937. MRS. W. D. LITTLE.

WIDE STREETS.

Chicago, April 17.—The killing of a blind man and a woman last Friday at Western avenue and Cermak road was caused by the wide streets. Wide streets encourage speeding, which is the cause of 85 per cent of our auto accidents in Chicago. Streets should not be widened in the city limits. Stop widening streets and we will save a great many lives. A. F.

HEGEL, NOT HEINE.

Iowa City, Ia., April 26.—In yesterday's TRIBUNE Liddell Hart concludes his "The War in Outline" with these words: ". . . western civilization had been given a last chance to profit by experience and to disprove Heine's saying, 'We learn from history that we do not learn from history.'" I never before have seen this quotation attributed to Heine. Some fifteen years ago I heard it attributed to Hegel in the form "We learn from history that no one ever learns anything from history." At that time I looked through Hegel's works without finding this sentiment expressed, but for many years whenever I read that quotation in varying forms I wrote to the author and asked where it could be found, never receiving a reply.

Finally I found it myself on page 6 of Hegel's "The Philosophy of History," translated by J. Sibree: New York, Willey Book company [1900]: "Rulers, Statesmen, Nations are wont to be emphatically commended to the teaching which experience offers in history. But what experience and history teach is this—that peoples and governments never have learned anything from history, or acted on principles deduced from it." The German text may be found in Lasson's edition: Leipzig, F. Minor [1917], I, 174. ROY C. FLICKINGER.

HIGHER RENTS.

Chicago, April 25.—I meet many people in my daily work who are complaining of higher rents and are bitter toward landlords and bondholders. As a bondholder in some of Chicago's buildings I have been listening very attentively and have learned that the good people who rent apartments do not understand where the rent really goes.

I have a copy, exhibit A, from a reorganized piece of property in a very good location, well rented during 1933-1934, and fairly rented during other years. I have not had one dime as a bondholder out of this property since 1932 and up to date charged against this property are some of these items: Social security tax, federal and state tax, personal property tax, capital stock tax, tax service fee. Yes, we have other items: Shades, electricity, roof repairs, heating; these are necessities but many who rent do not know we are paying these taxes.

A. HARPER.

A GIRL'S WAGES.

Chicago, April 18.—I've just been reading the office girl's tale of woe, hoping for the NRA. I work for a dress manufacturing company and last week worked 45 hours and received the magnificent sum of $6.33. This is a piece work job and I've been working on dresses several years and am not inexperienced.

THE LANDLORD'S SIDE.

Chicago, April 9.—A tenant should always keep this in mind: He has nothing to lose. But the landlord has him to lose and his property, besides losing his complaint against higher taxes.

ALL FAITHS JOIN IN VAST FESTIVAL OF FREE RELIGION

Pageant and Masque Will Climax Ceremonies.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A program for a vast festival of religion with a Soldiers' field pageant and masque as a climax in September was announced yesterday by a civic committee headed by Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court. The committee includes members of all faiths.

Judge McGoorty emphasized the need for a demonstration of religious faith which goes beyond individual creeds and which recognizes the right of varying groups to religious freedom as guaranteed by the American bill of rights.

"I doubt if any city in the world could project such a program as our civic committee has set in motion," said Judge McGoorty. "We have been thinking of this festival and dramatic pageant in comprehensive terms which, I suppose, no other city of our own country has yet dared to contemplate.

Will Bespeak City's Destiny.

"The festival and pageant will reflect the city's spiritual devotion and bespeak, under God, its destiny. We live in troubled times when spiritual keynotes of divine fatherhood and human brotherhood need greatest emphasis."

The executive committee announced by Judge McGoorty includes the following lay leaders representing various creeds and faiths: Fred W. Sargent, Methodist Episcopal; Otto C. Rentner, Evangelical Lutheran Missouri synod; Alexander O. Ramlose, United Lutheran synod; Leo A. Ryan, Arthur J. Hughes, and Edward J. Mehren, Catholic; John Balaban, Col. A. H. Rosenberg, and Charles Weinfeld, Jewish. Mr. Rentner announced that a nonprofit charter is being issued by the state of Illinois to conduct the festival.

Invitations to become members of the committee were sent yesterday to the city and suburbs, Judge McGoorty said. Clerical leaders of all faiths will be unofficial consultants concerning the festival, he added. No church is officially represented in the committee which will be entirely composed by laymen, he pointed out. Offices have been opened at 33 North La Salle street.

Affirmation of Faith.

"We wish to undergird the work of all representative faiths and stimulate laymen into greater church and synagogue activity," Judge McGoorty explained. The project grew in the minds of laymen who desire to perform a civic service of elemental importance. Our economic and social problems arise from unfaith. The festival will be Chicago's affirmation of renewed faith."

Judge McGoorty said Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal church will direct a field demonstration at the festival dramatizing the world conference on faith and order and life and work of the churches to be held this summer in Edinburgh, Scotland, and Oxford, England. Bishop Stewart will be aided by the Episcopal Church Club of Chicago, organization of laymen.

The Dominican fathers at the Dominican House of Studies, River Forest, have accepted the committee's proposal for a service to signalize not only the centenary jubilee of Chicago's incorporation as a city, but also the beatification of Martin de Porres, which occurred in 1837. Process toward canonization of Martin de Porres will be conducted by the Dominican order. This service will also feature the social justice encyclicals of Pope Leo XIII. and Pope Pius XI.. Judge McGoorty said.

Other Groups Invited.

Other groups have been invited to participate in the festival. A Jewish Sabbath evening observance, where celebrated rabbis and cantors will take part, is proposed. Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the Chicago Church federation, plans a series of centennial services at the festival in coöperation with the Sunday Evening club.

The pageant and masque at the climax of the festival in September, Judge McGoorty announced, is now in preparation. A cast of 5,000 persons is to be recruited from public and parochial schools, church institutions, hospitals, seminaries, and universities, he said.

Marcus Bach of the Rockefeller Foundation, noted dramatist, has been called by the committee to write the script and evolve the drama. He is being assisted by a group of unofficial consultants, including Dr. Solomon Goldman, author of the 1933 Jewish pageant at A Century of Progress; the Rev. Dr. James A. Magner of Quigley Preparatory seminary, and the Rev. Dr. Fred Eastman of Chicago Theological seminary.

MOTHER OF BABY, AMNESIA VICTIM, SHOOTS HERSELF

Mrs. Louise Aevermann, 30 years old, who recently recovered from an attack of amnesia, shot and critically wounded herself last evening in her home at 1315 North Central avenue. She was taken to the West Suburban hospital, where blood transfusions were made in an effort to save her life.

Mrs. Aevermann returned to her home last Sunday, eleven days after the birth of her second son in St. Anne's hospital. Early Monday she wandered away. When she returned home late Tuesday she did not remember the birth of her child until the baby was placed in her arms.

ESTIMATE MAY 1 MOVING DAY WILL BREAK RECORDS

About 40,000 Chicago families will move during the May 1 moving period—probably the largest number since 1930—according to an estimate made yesterday by Fred M. Lorish, president of the Chicago Real Estate board. His estimate is based on requests to service companies for changes in addresses of installations. The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company reports that these have been more numerous than at any other time in the last 15 years.

Mr. Lorish said part of the increase in moving is due to higher rents.

Dan Healy, secretary of the Movers' Association of Chicago, and William O'Brien, secretary of the Van Movers' union, reported moving companies had been swamped with orders, which Healy said were heavier than in any other of the 13 years he has been with the association. He also said rates this year would be a little higher.

BOULDER DAM'S FULL VALUE LIES TWO YEARS AWAY

Survey Reveals Only One User of Its Power.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—[Special.]—At least two years will elapse before full use is made of the enormous flow of electricity Boulder dam is prepared to generate, a survey today revealed.

Although the 165 million dollar federal project was completed in 1935, two years ahead of schedule, significant returns on the fortune invested will not be realized until a substantial part of its energy output is being consumed.

The Colorado river development, probably the greatest man ever undertook, will generate 4 billion 330 million kilowatt hours of electricity annually when sufficient water has been impounded back of the 726 foot dam.

Only One Outlet Now.

The only user of Boulder dam power at present is the municipally owned Los Angeles bureau of power and light. The bureau is consuming the modified output of three of the four plants allotted to it, plants which have a capacity of 82,500 kilowatts per hour.

When the project begins maximum production, its electricity will be divided: 1 billion 485 kilowatt hours annually to the Los Angeles bureau; 1 billion 526 million to the metropolitan water district, a combine of cities; 1 billion 31 million to the Southern California Edison company, and the remainder to smaller towns possessing municipal plants.

The Metropolitan water district's share, approximately 36 per cent, is considered assured consumption, since it is estimated all this power will be needed to lift the water of the 250 mile Colorado river aqueduct to the five different levels required when the artificial waterway begins operation two years hence.

Seek Longer Grace Period.

The Edison company has indicated it is not worried about disposing of its approximately 25 per cent.

The amount of electricity the Los Angeles bureau of power and light might absorb, however, is a question worrying authorities.

Although the bureau has four years in which to reach full usage of its allotment, it has joined with the Metropolitan water district in seeking at Washington a lengthening of its absorption period to fifteen years.

Figures in Tragedy

FRANCES LANGFORD.
[Acme Photo.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—[Special.]—A promise to "often hover near" pretty Frances Langford, torch singer, after he had departed this life was contained in a note left behind today by Pasqual Fabris, 36 years old, a dance orchestra violinist, whose body was found yesterday in a gas filled garage.

Fabris wrote in one of a series of notes he left that the screen actress had refused to marry him and go to Samoa, where he hoped to write his "system of philosophy."

"I am sorry that, as I depart for heaven, I am not able to write you a lengthier letter explaining in more detail my honorable act," the violinist said in a letter addressed to Miss Langford.

"You are, of course, absolutely absolved of any blame. Marry another, Frances. Let him be an Anglo-Saxon. I am not your eternal soul mate. God bless you, darling, for every sweet look you ever gave me. I shall often hover near you."

IDLE OFF RELIEF GET JOBS BEFORE IDLE ON RELIEF

IERC Official Tells Why This Is So.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

There is little chance to put ablebodied relief clients and Works Progress administration employés back in private jobs until the labor market absorbs the self-supporting unemployed, Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said yesterday.

Such meager statistics as are at hand indicate that when a job is available the nonreliefer has about nine chances out of ten of getting it. This is in spite of efforts by the relief organization to push its clients off the dole and into private employment.

370,000 Jobless Off Relief.

Dr. Peter T. Swanish, statistician of the Illinois department of labor, estimated there are 370,000 ablebodied unemployed who are not on relief, but are subsisting on their own resources. This contrasts with a total of 172,000 unemployed who are on relief [of whom 68,000 are unemployable] and 146,000 WPA workers, who will have to be transferred to private pay rolls if the unemployment problem is to be solved.

Every ablebodied relief client is required to register with the state free employment service. WPA workers must also register. Case workers are instructed to devote most of their time to employable clients, urging them to seek work. Provisions have been relaxed for getting back on relief after temporary employment, ending a situation which made relief clients reluctant to leave the rolls.

12,090 Placed in January.

Despite these efforts, relatively few on relief are getting private jobs. The most recent figures are those of the state free employment service for January. In that month the service placed 12,090 jobseekers. Of these only 1,145 came off the relief rolls, though relief clients registered outnumbered self-supporting jobseekers.

Mr. Lyons asserted yesterday that unemployed on relief are not slow in finding jobs merely because they are on relief. The reverse, he said, is true. They are on relief because they are the least employable portion of the available labor supply, the least skilled and least efficient, in the main, and so were the first to lose their jobs. For the same reasons, he said, they will be the last to be reëmployed.

Denies Low Morale Is Factor.

Mr. Lyons denied that low morale is a significant factor in preventing relief clients from getting jobs, or more particularly, in keeping them from seeking jobs. Through the efforts of case workers, he asserted, the relief clients' morale has been kept as high as that of the jobless who have been able to keep off relief.

Every effort is made, Mr. Lyons said, to persuade relief recipients to use park and community recreation facilities so they will be ready if work is offered them. There is no satisfactory substitute for work, however, to keep a man in physical condition and enable him to retain his trade skills.

Age is a factor of some significance. The average age of relief clients is somewhat above the average of the working population, and many reliefers, technically employable, are actually unacceptable because of the reluctance of employers to hire men of their age, Mr. Lyons said.

This statement is borne out by the experience of some of the skilled trade unions in Chicago, which have found that many of their members still unemployed are men who in a few more years will be eligible for union pensions, and who cannot get work because of their age.

STRIKE MAY TIE UP WORK ON COLORADO RIVER AQUEDUCT

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—[Special.]—A strike which would halt the labor of 8,000 workers constructing the aqueduct from Colorado river hung over the councils of union and community officials here tonight. The C. I. O. already has part of the work on the 260 mile aqueduct paralyzed.

At Parker, Ariz., where the first walkout took place last week and affected 1,100 men, deputy sherifs stood by, armed with tear guns to break up the threat of a major riot. One mob was repulsed in an attempt to break the jail and release three imprisoned men.

The C. I. O. demands a blanket pay raise of $1 a day for every worker at the dam.

FOUR OF QUINTS GROW IN MONTH; YVONNE LOSES

CALLANDER, Ont., April 28.—(AP)—A month before their third birthday the Dionne quintuplets stepped on the scales today and laughed up at Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe as he marked up their weights and measured their height.

Three of the quints gained in height during the past month, and all but Yvonne put on weight. Yvonne had a slight cold for a few days and dropped half a pound, but she could well afford it.

Their weights and heights are:

	Pounds.	Ounces.	Inches.
Yvonne	30	8	34½
Annette	31	8	34¾
Cecile	31	..	34½
Emilie	30	..	34
Marie	27	..	34

Marie, smallest of the quints, produced a tooth. She and Emilie lead the teeth parade with seventeen each now. The others have sixteen.

Child Subject to Insomnia as Well as Adult

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

That common sense approach to the children's eating habits works equally well in the matter of their sleeping. But it isn't quite as obvious in its application. Still, you can get a better understanding of what I mean if you first think of sleep in your own terms and then apply the conclusions you reach to the sleeping habits of your child.

Since we hear most often about the child who won't sleep, can't sleep, or doesn't sleep, let us see why we don't sleep well.

Do you sleep well when you have just been through an unpleasant emotional experience—bad news, a quarrel with your husband?

Do you sleep well if you are all keyed up over some exciting, happy event that has just occurred or that is to occur on the following day?

Does a hot bath and a vigorous scrubbing put you to sleep?

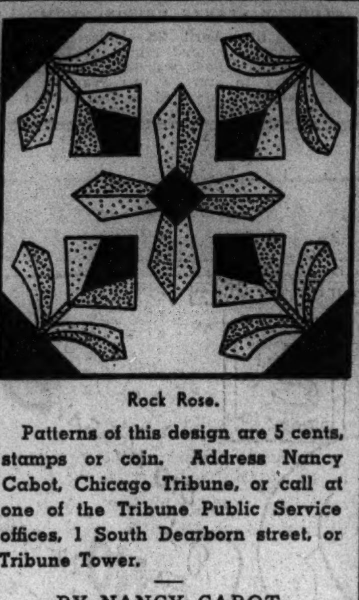
Do you sleep well when you are hungry?

And when you go to bed over-tired or utterly exhausted, do you find that condition conducive to sleep?

For most grown people the answer to those questions will be "No."

Ask each one, now, with your child in mind, and you may find that on one or more of those counts you may have mismanaged your youngster's going to bed. Change these unfavorable sleeping conditions to favorable ones and I feel sure, if you persist, you will see an improvement.

Applique Quilt an Ideal Design for the Beginner



Rock Rose.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Rock Rose" is an unusual appliqué pattern in the favorite floral motif. It is extremely simple to do, and is an ideal pattern for the beginning quiltmaker, for it requires exercising the virtues of care and patience. The finished block measures 14 inches square, and 30 appliqué blocks are required for a coverlet. The appliqué blocks are set together with three inch bands of white or light green material. A four inch border, bound in a dark green, completes the coverlet, which measures 90 by 107 inches. The flowers are quilted in outline.

Here Are Hints on Correcting Hand Condition

Adviser Suggests Cure of Common Faults.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A few notes on the development of hand beauty aside from the manicure and nail polish shades usually prescribed:

Nail biting [big baby trick] invariably is accompanied by a nervous condition. Often the building up of the system alone will stop the habit.

Something should be done about moist, perspiring hands, as it is repulsive to shake a hand that leaves the moist impression. It leaves you shuddering. Again one finds this condition in extremely nervous people, as a rule. You will perhaps need medical instruction on what to do. Sometimes the liquid deodorants used for underarm perspiration are suggested for use on the palms of the hands, but it is well to ask your physician about the wisdom of any treatment for your particular case.

Brittle, ridged, and spotted nails more often than not are found on people with dry, sensitive skin, who suffer a lack of natural oils. Being careful not to wash the hands in hot water and strong soaps is one of the local cares that may be heeded. It isn't well, under any circumstances, to wash the hands in hot water unless you have a job to perform calling for antiseptic treatment. It makes the skin red and further drains it of oil. It helps to put the hands away at night behind gloves after you have deluged them with a good hand cream. Soaking the finger tips frequently in warmed olive oil helps, also. The spotted nail usually is so as the result of injury to the nail. Don't use a steel instrument to push back the cuticle or clean under the nail. Orangewood sticks are inexpensive and safe to use.

Hangnails may be attributed to skin dyness or to a bad manicuring job, which would require a good cuticle oil treatment at night as a cure. Or apply your hand cream generously around the nails to keep the skin soft. If you are subject to hangnails don't let the manicurist cut the cuticle. Use cuticle remover to loosen the dead skin. Use a healing ointment on the bad hangnail after use of the maincure scissors on them.

Ordinary stains may be removed from fingers and nails with lemon juice, tomato juice, or peroxide. Stubborn discoloration may be removed with powdered pumice stone mixed with peroxide.

MRS. LOUIS C. SUDLER

Bridge Debate to Be Feature of Gay Party

Mrs. Louis C. Sudler and Mrs. Walter Field McLallen III. are co-chairmen of the bridge committee for the Merry-Go-Round, a mammoth affair to be staged tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Lake Shore Athletic club for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. There will be a debate at 1 o'clock between two of Chicago's best known bridge experts with a duplicate bridge tournament following.

Mrs. Elliot Evans of Evanston, national woman bridge champion, will uphold the Sims and Four Aces systems against Mrs. Maxine Miner, who will support the Culbertson system.

Mrs. Vincent E. Healy, who has arranged the debate, predicts that it will be a spirited and witty one. Among the prizes to be awarded in the duplicate tournament are a case of champagne, a basket of liqueurs, two cases of beer, beauty treatments, lamps and plants.

Bridge is only one of many features of the Merry-Go-Round, for Mrs. Edward I. Fifield, Mrs. Aldis Browne and Mrs. George Rasmussen are planning carnival entertainment; Joseph Triner has arranged sparring and wrestling matches with an exhibition match by Joe Louis; also squash racquets, handball and bowling matches.

There will be a cocktail party at 7 around the pool with the imbibers watching an exhibition by national champions of swimming and diving; and at 8:30 there will be a dinner with a glittering floor show.

Mrs. Leon Mandel is chairman of table reservations for the dinner and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. will be in charge of the cigaret venders. Mrs. Thomas Tyler is program chairman and Mrs. Errett Van Nice is publicity chairman. Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr. is general chairman.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Price of La Grange announce the marriage last Saturday of their daughter, Virginia, to Robert L. Schock, son of Frank Schock of Chicago. The wedding took place at the La Grange Presbyterian church, followed by a reception at home. Mr. Schock and his bride will be at home in Oak Park after a honeymoon in Asheville, N. C.

Syphilis War Is Approved at Club Gathering

Federation Told Education Is Chief Need.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Tulsa, Okla., April 28.—[Special.]—Declaring that syphilis is a disease and not a disgrace, Dr. Charles M. Pearce, Oklahoma's commissioner of health, today approved the campaign of the General Federation of Women's Clubs for the control and eradication of venereal diseases. Dr. Pearce was heard at the third session of the federation's eighteenth council meeting.

The public welfare department of the federation, with Mrs. Clarence Fraim of Wilmington, Del., as chairman, has made the syphilis fight its major project for 1937. Mrs. Fraim expressed appreciation of the newspaper campaign against syphilis, led by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

An active program of education is the only instrument that will wipe out this menace, Dr. Pearce said. "The main objective," he stressed, "is to educate the public to the fact that syphilis is a disease and not a disgrace and that it is not always the illicit relation that breeds syphilis.

"It may be a kiss, or the public drinking cup, or again it may be a matter of inheritance. It can be eradicated or controled much easier than smallpox, diphtheria, or typhoid fever, and complete control could be forecast in one generation if all cases were put under treatment."

Dr. Pearce said there are about 6,500,000 cases of venereal disease in the nation, but that only one out of ten is being treated. Approximately 100,000 deaths every year in the United States are directly traceable to syphilis, he added.

"If persons would have regular medical examinations when there is possibility of exposure and have treatment from reputable medical men, the effect of the disease would be cut down in a short time."

Miss Adela Rogers St. John, the author, urged the clubwomen to fight "the prevalent evils of parole that are defeating efforts to reduce crime."

"I have made a thorough study of the files of the department of justice and those of police chiefs in large cities, and I have yet to find a protest on a parole, clemency, or probation from a woman's group," Miss St. John said. "I think it is time the women begin to bestir themselves in this direction."

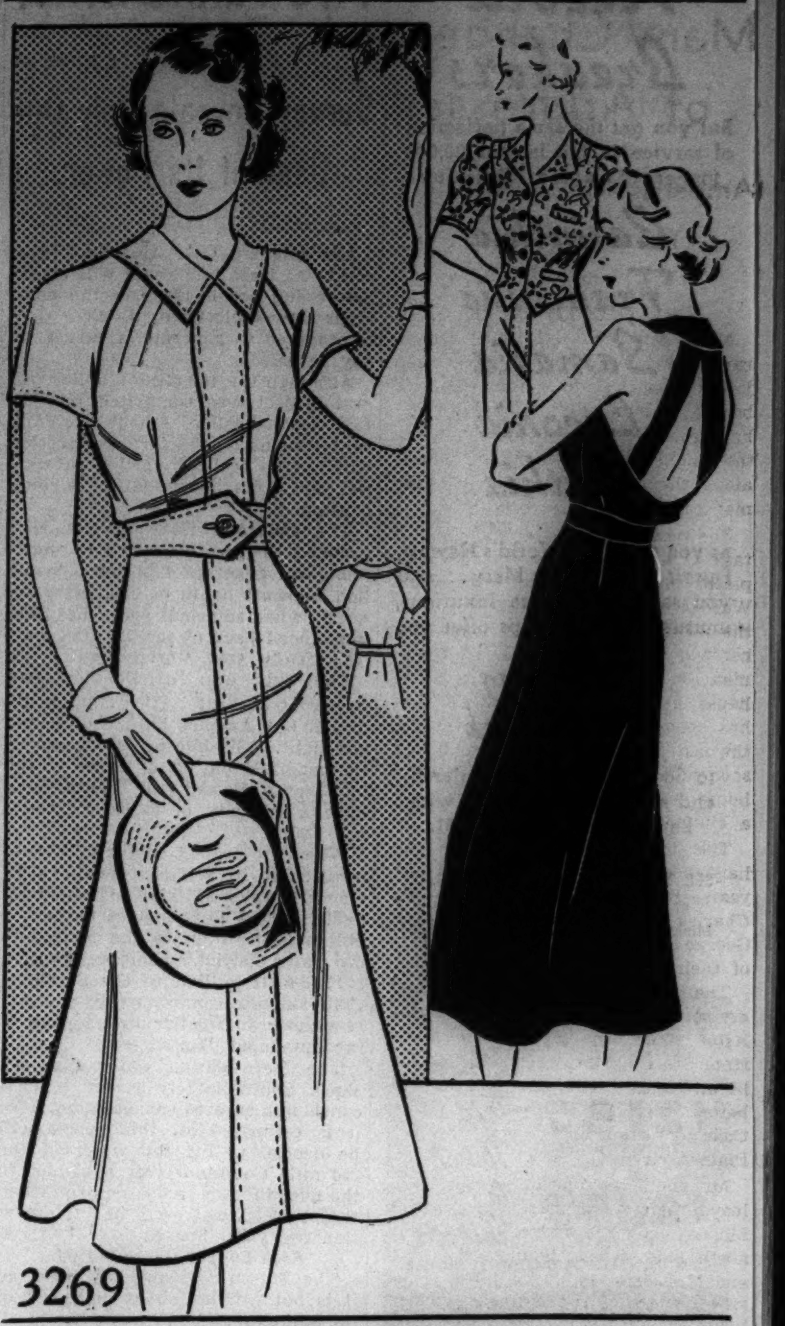
Miss St. Johns explained that parole in the beginning was intended as a social reform. She said that that was not the sort of parole against which crusading is needed. It is the abuse of parole which turns loose upon society hardened and vicious criminals that needs reform, she declared.

"Stop for a moment," she continued, "and realize that every G-man who has been killed trying to protect us has been killed by a paroled convict. Think of the kidnapings, murders, and other horrible crimes, and then read that the men who have committed these have been paroled, not once but many times." She asked the clubwomen to form parole committees.

Both in and out of the convention hall, the resolution opposing President Roosevelt's Supreme court reorganization plan continued the chief topic of interest among the 1,500 delegates here from the 48 states and Alaska.

Many delegates from northern states expressed concern that southern influence would be strong enough to get the resolution tabled when it comes up for a vote at the final council session Friday morning.

Distinctive Sports Attire



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Take three good, long looks at the sketch! No, your eyes don't deceive you. There really are three different garments available by using only the one pattern. First of all, there is the pretty, feminine dress shown in the drawing at the left. This garment is dainty and yet exquisitely tailored. We think the paneling is something to rave about. It creates a smart, broad shoulderline of the raglan style. A rather wide panel proceeds down the front of the garment all the way from the neckline to the hem, and it is stitched fashionably to coincide with the treatment of the shirtwaist collar and the unusual belt which, by the way, keeps the waistline snugger than snug. No plaits in this frock, because width is achieved principally by ingenious cutting. This dress isn't at all difficult to make, in spite of its superb tailoring.

Then, at the right, there is a halter model, sun-back frock, for active participation in sports of all kinds. This model, in spite of its minimum of fabric in the back, has a high and smart neckline, and the graceful skirt is the same as that of the one-piece dress at the left. Naturally, when you are leaving tennis court and golf course you often must traverse the streets, and for these more formal public appearances the pattern provides a delightful little jacket which fits snugly and which has a rever collar, V neckline, and puffed sleeves. Figured material to harmonize with the plain shade employed for the halter dress creates a pretty combination.

Needless to say all the cottons, linens, and tubbable silks are "tops" for this versatile pattern.

Style No. 3269 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material for the dress and 1⅝ yards of 39 inch fabric for the jacket.

Lionel Barrymore Is 59; Given Party by Studio Colleagues

Hollywood, Cal., April 28.—[Special.]—Film colleagues who were trying to get Lionel Barrymore to his studio this afternoon, so that they could surprise him with a champaigne supper, three foot birthday cake, gold watch, speeches and other trimmings, marking the actor's fifty-ninth birthday, practically had to shanghai the veteran. Finally Barrymore strode onto the set, grumpy and complaining, "but I tell you, they told me I could have today off, and it's my birthday."

Just then Jean Harlow swept him into her arms with a hug and a kiss. Louis Mayer, head of the studio, and Anita Loos made speeches. Producer Eddie Mannix and Clark Gable presented the gold watch.

Barrymore entered movies in 1910, making two reelers, but began a steady film career in 1915, in the serial, "Exploits of Elaine." He has been both a drector and an actor in recent years. Barrymore broke a long established rule to take a sip of the champaigne when his colleagues drank him a toast.

Spring Brings Many Changes of Addresses

Ambergs Move After 33 Years in House.

BY JUDITH CASS.

Many new addresses, some temporary, others permanent, have been jotted down in address and telephone books. A number of houses already have changed hands in the city, while the annual readjustment of houses along the north shore, due to summer renting, is under way.

The most complicated and difficult task of spring moving will be completed on Saturday by Mrs. John Ward Amberg, who on that day with the seven children still at home with her will take possession of an apartment in Lake View avenue. The house at 1311 State parkway that has been home to the Ambergs for the last 33 years has been sold, and soon will become a girls' club. The house will be admirably suited for a clubhouse.

The four Amberg children who have been married in the last few years—Bertrand, Gilbert, Mary [Mrs. Charles F. Pigott], and Agnes [Mrs. George Fiedler]—have establishments of their own now.

The Adlai E. Stevensons already are settled in their new home at 1434 Astor street, having moved there from State parkway, but they won't be any more than really well settled before they go to the country to their new summer home on the Des Plaines river.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson will leave their Astor street house next Monday to lodge at one of the near north side hotels temporarily. Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling are the new owners of the Francis Farwell home at 1520 Astor street, which the Stevensons have been leasing.

George Ranneys Lease House in Lake Forest.

The George A. Ranneys and Mr. and Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins have leased homes in Lake Forest for the summer season. The Ranneys will occupy Mrs. Thomas B. Marston's home, moving out at the end of May. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgkins have taken a house west of Lake Forest, where they plan to spend week-ends until June 1, when they will move out for the summer with their children.

Mrs. Marston will go on May 7 to the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest to spend a month, at least. Mrs. Keene Addington is expected at the inn tomorrow or Saturday to spend a month. She has been in California this winter.

Mrs. Granger Farwell, who makes her home at the inn, will be there for the summer, arriving tomorrow from California where she has spent three months at Vista del Arroyo in Pasadena. Arriving on Saturday to spend a month at the inn will be Mrs. C. Morse Ely, whose Chicago home is at 1301 Astor street, and also Mr. and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, who plan to spend six months there.

Other changes of addresses in town include the H. Norris Loves from Elm street to 6 Scott street, the John V. Farwells from State parkway to 999 Lake Shore drive, the Maurice P. Geraghtys from East Division street to 37 East Schiller street, and the Joseph E. Nolans from 108 East Walton place north to Belden avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ray have taken the Nolans' former apartment.

H. Edward Manvilles to Leave Lake Forest.

A removal from Lake Forest on May 15 will be the departure of the junior Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville, who are going to Quebec for the summer. Their new permanent home will be near New York City, possibly on Long Island. The John S. Broeksmits have taken the house in East Westminster road in which the Manvilles have been living.

The Louis S. Hardins have purchased a new Lake Forest home at 507 East Rosemary road, into which they will move as soon as it has been redecorated. They will spend the next two weeks at the Deerpath inn, for their own house has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. J. Ramsey Minor, who are anxious to move in, since their apartment at 1366 Dearborn parkway has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Lamport, who are moving up from the south side. The Minors will go to Lake Forest on Saturday to join the year round colony. The Lamports will not

THE voices of two women—one obviously a French girl and the other American—came clearly over the partition in a beauty salon booth.

"I think Americans make the best husbands," said the American voice.

"Oh, ze Frenchman make ze best 'oosband," said the other.

"Well, what does your husband say when he comes home in the evening?" pursued the first voice.

"'E say, 'What do we have for suppair tonight?'"

"Exactly," said the other, with triumph in her tones. "Now my husband says, 'Well, Babe, where do we go for supper tonight?'"

IT was Nancy Cox-McCormack, sculptor, who recently visited in Chicago, who overheard the two women in the beauty shop. The visit of Mrs. Cox-McCormack recalls the incident of the sculptor of the head of Dr. Craven Laycock, dean of Dartmouth, she modeled several years ago. After it was finished the head was cast in bronze, sent to a jeweler's to be given the traditional green patina, then installed in Bond hall at the university, in the library on the second floor at the top of the stairs. When the sculptor saw it some time later she observed with displeasure that the green finish was almost gone from the nose, and she immediately sent the head back to the jeweler's for remedial treatment.

It was only a short time after the head had been replaced in Bond hall that the green again began to disappear from the nose. Before long the nose was shiny bronze, all trace of the antique green of the rest of the head having disappeared. At the suggestion of the sculptor detectives were set to watch to find out what was causing this phenomenon. They reported shortly. Students about to take exams made it a point to touch the dean's nose for luck. The constant swipe of the students' fingers was what was taking the green off the nose. It has since, we are told, become a Dartmouth tradition, and before exams the students line up before the sculptured head for their turn.

OTTO GRIEBLING, chief clown for Cole Bros. circus, appeared at the Criminal Court building one day this week as a character witness in a case against a peanut seller for the circus. Encountered by an acquaintance in the elevator, the famous clown admitted he was shaky and nervous at the idea of "facing all those people in that court."

"You, used to facing big circus audiences all over the world," gibed the other.

"Yeh, but there's no laughs in that court," replied Griebling.

WHEN Prof. Adolf Noe, University of Chicago paleobotanist, dropped a penny in a weight machine the other day to weigh Bosco, his unpedigreed yellow dog, out dropped the little character analysis card. "Though determined to win, you are, at the same time, willing to wait patiently for results," read Bosco's card. Howard Mort, editor of the feature news sheet of the campus, adds that Bosco has his chair in Mr. Noe's office on the second floor of Botany where he waits patiently until 4 o'clock, at which time his master says, "Well, Bosco, how about the Coffee Shop?" The "results" of his patient waiting is a penny square of fudge, given him after his professor-master, who adopted Bosco when his own pedigreed pet disappeared, has had his bismarck and coffee.

WHEN they were sojourning in Jamaica recently, the Eugene F. McDonalds engaged a colored man with a horse and carriage to drive them about the island in leisurely fashion. The name of the nag was Thousand Dollars. Mr. McDonald observed that Thousand Dollars was given to turning his head at frequent intervals and casting his glance backward to the carriage.

"What does he do that for, Sam?" he inquired of Thousand Dollars' owner.

"Wal, he's so afraid I might say 'Whoa' and he wouldn't hear it that he keeps lookin' around to see if I'm gonna say it," explained the native.

Paulist Choir Gives Lessons in Perfection

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Father Eugene O'Malley and his Paulist choristers, who display their astonishing art regularly in the comparative privacy of old St. Mary's church, emerged into the full light of Orchestra hall last night for their annual downtown concert. These 85 or 90 musicians, two-thirds of whom are boys and one-third men, presented before a full and enthusiastic house a program which ranged all the way from the fifteenth century to the present and which offered such vivid contrasts as that between highly complex polyphony and the folk music of Russia, Germany, and England.

Their art is astonishing for several reasons. Underlying them all is the fanaticism of the director, who is passionately in love with perfection and will have no trafic with the fashions of the day nor with any facile, applause-catching musical mannerisms.

One of the results of such an attitude is an austerely beautiful performance of ancient polyphonic music, a performance as remarkable for its restrained, sombre tone colorings as for the delectable fluency and sureness of its voice leading. Other results are to be found in such features of meticulous musicianship as precise attack and accurate pitch [but, just between us, Father O'Malley, what happened to your soloists in the "Ave Verum?"].

The choristers can shape a phrase so eloquently and preserve the beauty of its texture so ably that a listener is ready to vow to himself that this and nothing else is the perfection of choral singing. Then the identical idea enters on the voices of another group and turns out to be just as astounding a product of care and taste as the last one. This sort of thing could easily go on for eight or nine columns, but it is too early now to try to sell tickets for the choir's next concert. Anyway, there are no spare tickets to be had, judging by the size of last night's audience.

The soloists of the evening were Billy Watson and John Lynch, sopranos; Walter Curran, tenor; William Jordan, counter-tenor; Frank Dunford and George Lane, basses. Robert Sheehan played piano accompaniments.

The Canori club, a male chorus of thirty-three, climaxed its thirteenth season with a concert in Kimball hall last night. The conductor of the club is Richard F. Stiller, the soloist on this occasion was Winifred C. Goodman, soprano. The program ran to lighter things, with an admixture of standard music by the great composers. Its performance was a credit to the talent of the leader and to the faithfulness and industry of the men with whom he worked.

Ida Krehm, artist piano student of Rudolph Ganz, this week won one of the national awards of the National Federation of Music Clubs. She will appear as soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra next season.

Actor to Miss Coronation for Movie Retakes

Wilcoxon Leaves England Before Ceremony.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 28.—[Special.]—After narrowing the span of its long distance argument with Henry Wilcoxon from three continents to two, Paramount today conducted two successful oceanic telephone negotiations with Henry in London. The studio wants him back for added scenes and new ending for "Souls at Sea."

The long distance debate began while Wilcoxon was in Cairo, Egypt. Born in the British West Indies, Henry had hurried through a film assignment in Cairo and returned to London for the coronation. While he agreed to return here by May 10, he was frank in expressing his resentment at missing the coronation pageantry.

Bob Montgomery, who acted in, and Richard Thorpe, who directed "Night Must Fall," have obtained Hollywood hospital's permission to conduct a hospital room preview of that movie thriller for John Van Druten, adapter of their story. Van Druten is recovering from an operation.

Lionel Barrymore goes partly bald for his rôle as Grandpa Clayton in "Saratoga" with Gable and Harlow. Lionel has brought his etching equipment to the studio and is making etchings of race horses which are his co-actors.

Judy Canova, radio singer, appeared on the set of "Artists and Models" at Paramount accompanied by Nurse Lillian Rock. Director Raoul Walsh told her he appreciated her coöperation. He then told the nurse to keep the singer at home until she recovers from tonsilitis.

Sophie Tucker broke a front tooth eating taffy, causing a delay in scenes for "Broadway Melody."

The wedding of George Givot to Maryon Curtis, Chicago girl, has been postponed from this week until late in May because of delays in the carpentry work on the honeymoon home Givot is building.

While Clark Gable was in the Los Angeles courthouse last week, Jack Smith, one of the federal department heads, told Gable he would like to introduce Smith's niece. Gable said he would be glad to meet her and went to Smith's office. When Gable opened the door the girl fainted.

Bob Burns, comedian, wrote out a three figured check when he heard Mrs. Ted Dante, wife of his stand-in, had a new son. The check paid the hospital bill and the baby has been named Bob Burns Dante.

After spending 13 years writing items about movie players this correspondent decided to tally the response of film players to things written about them. Out of hundreds of columns of items only a few actors have ever written or uttered sentiments of good will. The few are:

Women: Una Merkle, Estelle Taylor, Fern Andre, the late Marie Prevost, Jacqueline Logan, Gail Patrick and the late Mabel Normand.

Men: Bill Hart, Bob Burns, Jean Hersholt, Johnny Downs, John Miljan, Director Irving Cummings, Writer Paul G. Smith and Earl Carroll.

That's 15 expressions of gratification in 13 years which, friends point out, is two more than a normal percentage in Hollywood.

The other side of the story is interesting. Those who felt moved to complain were:

Ronald Colman, Clara Kimball Young, Kay Francis, Sylvia Sidney, Producer B. P. Schulberg [twice], and the late Mabel Normand. Miss Normand was always refreshingly outspoken whether she did or did not like what you said.

Other reporters covering Hollywood report they share the amazement of this writer when a movie notable shows interest in a news report.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There are three new shades in rouge and lipstick that will make your face as bright and fashionable as your new spring clothes. One is a soft but not characterless pink; one a true red, and one a red with just a suggestion of carnelian undertones.

Three lovely new shades in rouge, lipstick, and nail enamel!

One is "African pink," as pretty a color as any clear skinned woman who prefers a gentle, natural, pale rose shade ever saw. Rouge is either dry or the cream variety, and the lipstick is delightfully creamy. The shade is a most conservative one but it can be dramatic when worn with the proper colors.

One fair skinned girl we know, whose hair is neither dark brown nor golden but in-between, looks like a dressed up pink rose when she wears it with her favorite blues—blues which are ordinarily hard for her to wear because she looks just wishy-washy in them. This is a shade of cheek rouge that's especially flattering to the white haired woman with fair skin.

The second of the new trio of trios is called, not too originally, a coronation red. It's clear, true ruby red that "points up" the complexion that needs a bit of dramatization. It's a good shade with black, with gray and also with the bright, tropical prints that are so often splashed with a bit of this same true red.

The third is called carnelian, inspired of course by the new accessories in that shade. It's becoming as anything to the dark brunette and to the sun tanned beauty but the woman who is neither will find that the rouge and lipstick in this shade can be surprisingly becoming with certain colors—all pastels and the new cereal or toast tints.

These rouges and lipsticks are as smart and fashion wise as any we've seen this season; they're of excellent quality, too, and quite inexpensive.

Ethical Society Has Jubilee Dinner for Dr. Horace Bridges

Dr. Horace J. Bridges was praised as a true exponent of democracy by speakers at a dinner in his honor attended by several hundred in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel last night.

The event was in recognition of Dr. Bridges' twenty-five years as a leader in the Chicago Ethical society, a liberal religious organization. Edwin S. Fetcher, president of the society, announced that the silver anniversary fund to extend the society's work now is over $36,000.

Dr. Shailer Mathews characterized Dr. Bridges as an "unrepentant liberal." Dr. John Lovejoy Elliott, leader of the New York Ethical society, brought the greetings of his society.

Some of those who were there were Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. Fetcher, Rabbi and Mrs. Louis Mann, the British consul general and Mrs. Lewis Bernays, Dr. and Mrs. Sydney Snow, Dr. and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Tittle, Dr. M. D. Bousefield, and A. L. Foster, president and executive secretary of the Chicago Urban league, of which Dr. Bridges is a former president, and Miss Maudelle Bousefield.

Charges Plagiarism of Klan History in 'Gone with the Wind'

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Susan Lawrence Davis of Washington, D. C., and Athens, Ala., and author of "Authentic History of the Ku Klux Klan, 1865-1877," filed a plagiarism suit in United States District court today against MacMillan company, publishers of "Gone with the Wind." The complaint charged that Margaret Mitchell "unfairly used and appropriated material and substantial parts of the plaintif's work" and that the Georgia woman's book is "to a large extent a copy of the complainant's original work, studies, and researches with slight changes made in an effort to conceal the fact of such copying."

Felt Fashions Color Accents of Springtime

Skull Caps, Belts, Clips Decorate Scene.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Spring spice for any costume! Gay, breezy, bright felt fashions some new color accents for otherwise dull outfits. When you see these accents you'll succumb without a struggle. These are skull caps and they really fit. They come in such distracting tones as green, apple green, two shades of red, plum blue, and gold yellow. They are priced less than two dollars and can be used in any number of combines, with or without a scrap of veil, a nosegay of clover blossoms, or some of the trick vegetable buttons sewn on in a bunch. Or you can use them without any trimming.

Some of the most amusing belts you've ever seen can be worn with these caps. The belts are made of a row of apples, cut out from the felt and overlapped. They are about two and one-half inches high. At the front are two green apple leaves for contrast. Two more of these cut-out felt apples, with a leaf or two, can be used as lapel clips. And these are priced around $2 for the belt and 50 cents for the clip.

After this the bags—almost too good for words. They are well made, exceptionally good looking felt handbags in fruit colors to match skull caps, belts, and clips, and the price is about $3.

All this fruity stuff is brand new; the colors are good; and what you can do with this felt finery, as contrast trickery, is an endless story. With dark as well as with pastels and white they will go to town, stay in the country, or even go globe trotting.

In the same store will be found the famous Schiaparelli hand clips, tiny Fatimalike hands attached to golden clips. These are for vee necklines, swathed collar lines, suit lapels, and one clever lady we know suggests you wear them clipped to your dark handbag. They're only a dollar, come in rosy coral, bistre-tinted ivory and stunning dull black. Six of any of these colored hands clipped to a black handbag is fully guaranteed to make the world take notice.

THE TRAP

SYNOPSIS.

Alida French and Vance, who live in the same building, meet in Dr. Cunningham's office, through Miss Rogers, the doctor's nurse. Vance is upset by what the doctor tells him. Alida accepts his invitation to dine with him. To divert his mind Alida tells him her problem of Avalon, an ancestral home on the Massachusetts coast, which she has inherited, and which she would like to open up for paying guests—but the house is haunted. Four men have vanished in it and their ghosts, according to local gossip, still occupy it. Vance accompanies Alida home, where Miss Rogers is waiting for them. Alida asks Miss Rogers to go to Avalon with her for the summer. Vance leaves for a short while and Miss Rogers tell Alida that Vance has a fatal heart ailment.

INSTALMENT IV.

A DEATH WARANT.

"I'll tell you what happened in the doctor's office, but I'd rather not do it here," Vance said. "May I come home with you and talk a while? We can get rid of Miss Rogers, pronto," he added ungratefully.

"I don't want to get rid of her," Alida objected. "We'll bring her into the discussion. Perhaps she can help me. In fact, while I was talking to you it suddenly occurred to me——"

Vance nodded.

"I know what occurred to you. It occurred to me, too."

He called the waiter and paid the check. He helped Miss French into her coat.

Walking through the now almost empty restaurant Alida felt her heart grow lighter. She had at least diverted her host's mind from his worries during the progress of their dinner. In other words, she had done her duty as a guest.

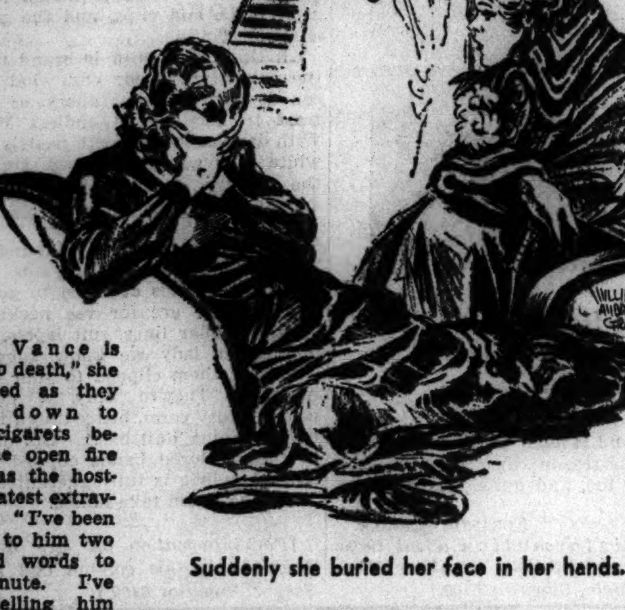
When they entered Miss French's modest three room flat in the apartment hotel, Lucy Rogers was already there.

"Now this is nice," she cried warmly, as she recognized Alida's companion. "I wanted especially to see you tonight," she told Vance. "I made up my mind to call on you if you were home."

Vance resented the sympathy in the nurse's eyes. She evidently knew what had happened in that consulting room three hours ago. Now she wanted to pity him—and pity was the one thing for which this young man had never had either desire or use. He met her softened gaze with grim unresponse.

"I'm awfully glad you two did this," she was saying. "I hoped perhaps you would. So much better, you know——"

Vance scowled. She broke off suddenly, conscious that she was being tactless and unprofessional. She had assumed that he had confided to Miss French. He was making it clear that he had done nothing of the sort. Alida observed her confusion and suspected the cause.



Suddenly she buried her face in her hands.

"Mr. Vance is bored to death," she explained as they settled down to their cigarets before the open fire that was the hostess' greatest extravagance. "I've been talking to him two hundred words to the minute. I've been telling him the story of my old house near Quinnet. You haven't any problems. Mr. Vance and I have. We're getting arrogant about them."

"I have, too, a problem," Lucy Rogers declared indignantly. "I came here tonight because I had a problem. I told you so. I want your advice about where I'm to go this summer."

Alida shook her head at her.

"You haven't any problem," she said pityingly. "While I was talking to Mr. Vance at dinner the answer to the little problem you thought you had this afternoon swam right into my mind. You're at loose ends. You've got to go somewhere. All right. You're coming to Avalon. You need an inexpensive shelter. You said that, too. I need a friend with me. All right again. There we are. Come to Avalon by the sea. You can pay for the food you eat, if you want to. You won't have any other expense. It's all very simple. So where's your problem now?"

"I thought the name of your nearest town was Quinnet," Vance broke in. He thought Miss French's plan was great. He was immensely relieved by the drift of the topic away from himself. But he saw that Miss Rogers was a bit overwhelmed by her hostess' suggestion. She needed time to think it over. He would gain that time for her by bringing up a side issue.

"It is Quinnet. The house is called Avalon. It was named by my grandfather, the third Amos French. He had a leaning toward poetry, and the 'Idylls of the King' were coming out in his day."

Vance glanced at Miss Rogers. She was looking thoughtful, but not enthusiastic. She was making it clear that she was not a person to be swept off her feet.

"My dog, Cocktail, hasn't had his dinner yet, and he's been alone all afternoon," Vance told the two girls. "I'll go down to my quarters now and feed him. Then I'll come back—if you'll let me."

The girls could settle their summer plans in his absence. Perhaps the nurse would tell Miss French about his jolt that afternoon. If she did, he wouldn't have to. On the other hand, she might be restrained by professional ethics. He must do something about that.

"Bring the dog back with you, if you want to," Alida said. "I like dogs."

Vance thanked her and turned to the nurse.

"Tell her, please," he said curtly. He caught a nod of understanding as he turned away.

"Tell me what?" Alida demanded as the door closed behind him. Lucy Rogers detached her mind from Avalon. She was a humane person, but she was not above experiencing the vicarious thrill that lies in tossing bombshells at one's nearers.

"I'm afraid Mr. Vance got something like his death warant in our office oday. Dr. Cunningham thinks he can't live more than a year or so. Ordinarily he wouldn't tell a patient that. But lately his work has been getting on his nerves. I'm pretty sure Mr. Vance caught on. You saw how he looked when he came out of the doctor's office."

"Good heavens!" Alida's charming features stiffened under the shock of the statement. "What's the matter with him?" she added in a quieter tone.

"Heart—angina. Every one seems to be having more or less heart trouble just now," the nurse went on. "But we don't often find a fatal development in a splendid young giant like Mr. Vance."

"Hadn't he—known about it?"

"Of course. He's been under the doctor's treatment for weeks. He thought it was merely a temporary condition. Evidently Dr. Cunningham didn't let him know the truth till today."

"Then you mean that he blurted it out—just like that? O, how could he be so cruel?"

"I suppose he thought he had to." Lucy Rogers, who herself had been somewhat stunned by her chief's action, hastened loyally to his defense. "You see, he's sailing tonight. He's to be in Europe four or five months. He had to put Mr. Vance into other hands. He had to make sure that he understood the condition and would continue the treatment. Perhaps his life can be prolonged. However, he may go at any time, in an acute attack."

"That's simply ghastly." Alida's voice was now a whisper. It was as if she could not bring out the words. "That stunning young fellow! I can't tell you how it depresses me. There he sat, at dinner, watching me eat and listening to my prattle—when he wasn't talking nonsense himself. Of course I knew something was all wrong. I had no idea it was anything like this——"

"It was wonderful that you were there to help him through the first shock," Lucy mused aloud. "But that sort of thing often happens. It's as if Providence gave us poor wretches a prop when we most need it. I've seen the same sort of thing work out a dozen times."

Alida sat silent. She was going over those two hours at the dinner table. She recalled the sudden silences of her companion—the tense moments in which, no doubt, he had felt the bony hand of death on his shoulder and turned to meet its fleshless grin. . . . Suddenly she buried her face in her hands.

"It's too horrible! How can we talk to him when he comes back? What can we say to him?"

"Only the obvious things," the nurse admitted. "I don't think he wants to talk about it. Just the same, it will be better for him if he does, a little. In fact, I was going to see him tonight. I wanted to brace him up. Dr. Cunningham must have been pretty abrupt. That wasn't like him, either," she broke off to explain. "But he's been on the edge of his nerves for a long time. He's been half sick lately over the number of men he's had to give their death notices to. Pull yourself together," she added quickly, as a tap fell on the door. Don't let him see those tears in your eyes."

THE DOUBLE OF ONE NO TRUMP.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

A double of an opening one no trump bid with the following hand is not only futile but is courting disaster: ♠ A 7 5 ♥ A Q 8 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ A Q 5 4. Although the hand contains four honor tricks it is just as likely as not to win exactly four tricks, with the additional disadvantage that any opening lead is likely to present declarer with an extra trick in the suit led. The result of the one no trump double on such a hand probably will be that declarer will make his contract with one or two overtricks, or that partner will take out in some four card suit and be defeated, if vulnerable, about 1,100 points.

After considering these circumstances the defender usually will find that he seldom can double one no trump except with a five card or longer suit of a very solid nature, offering an admirable opening lead should the opponents play the hand, and an adequate landing spot should partner be forced to take the double out and submit to a penalty double by opponents.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The above hand was played in a three table duplicate. Please comment and tell us which [if any] of the following bidding series was correct.

"The bidding at table 1:

West	North	East	South
1 no trump	Pass	2 spades	3 hearts
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

"The king of clubs was opened and contract went down one trick.

"Bidding at table 2:

West	North	East	South
1 no trump	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"Nine of spades was opened [South not having bid hearts] and game was easily made.

"Bidding at table 3:

West	North	East	South
1 no trump	Pass	2 spades	3 hearts
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"South having bid hearts and North having led the suit, West went down two tricks doubled.

"Yours very truly,
"R. K., Detroit, Mich."

First, I disapprove of the one no trump used by all three West players as the opening bid. One diamond was the correct opening. Aside from that, I think that South, at table 2, deserves the palm for his failure to enter the bidding. It takes little vision on South's part to know that North must hold a "blank," and even three hearts, for all South can tell, might be severely penalized.

South having bid three hearts at tables 1 and 3, I approve of West's double at table 1 rather than the three no trump bid at table 3. West is not strong enough to bid three no trump over East's noncommittal two spade response, and this comment applies equally to West's rebid at table 2.

The fact that the South player, to whom I awarded the palm for his pass, received the lowest score on the hand, does not, in my opinion, affect the issue. His opponents were extremely lucky to make their contract; the opening lead was very bad.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is a reverse bid?

Answer: The bid of a higher ranking suit after bidding a lower ranking suit. It usually is a strong bid because it forces partner to a higher level to express a choice for partner's first bid suit.

JO-JOTTE POINTER.

When the bidding has ended and each player has been dealt three additional cards [bringing his total to nine cards] defender should consider bidding nullos. Nullo is a bid not to win a single trick at no trump. Unless declarer wishes to bid a slam he must pass and then he becomes the defender and makes the first lead.

A successful nullo bid is valuable, for it carries a bonus of 200 points and prevents the original declarer from scoring a part-score [or a game]. But beware of bidding nullos without a lot of sevens and a few eights, with which you can be sure of ducking to avoid winning tricks. If you win a trick your opponent receives a bonus of 200 points, and if you win any other tricks he gets 100 points for each of them.

Refrigeration Helps Create Novel Cookies

You Will Have Fun Making Crisp Dainties.

By mail, 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

The only means of refrigeration grandmother had was the pasture spring, the creek which ran along the edge of the woods a half mile from the house, or a cool but damp basement. And grandma never made refrigerator cookies.

Grandma's cookies were tender and crisp in spite of her lack of a refrigerator, but her granddaughter's cookies may be much more tender and much more crisp, because she may chill the dough for several hours before baking the cookies. A chilled cookie doesn't need a great deal of flour to keep it in shape, and a low flour content is conducive to tenderness and crispness.

Chocolate Pinwheels.

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk
3 tablespoons milk
1½ cups flour
⅛ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 square unsweetened chocolate

Cream the butter and add the sugar gradually. Drop in the egg yolk and stir vigorously. Add milk and stir in gradually the sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Mix well and remove half the mixture to a lightly floured board. To the remainder add the melted chocolate. Roll the white mixture into a thin, rectangular sheet and then roll the chocolate mixture into a sheet of the same size. Place chocolate dough over the white and roll both together into a roll about two inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and chill the roll in the refrigerator for several hours. Cut in thin slices with a sharp knife. Bake on greased cookie sheets in a 350 degrees oven for about 10 minutes.

Cinnamon Meringue Cookies.

⅓ cup sugar
6 tablespoons butter
1 egg yolk
⅓ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon cream
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
Jelly
1 egg white
5 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
6 tablespoons chopped nuts

Mix sugar well with creamed butter and beat in the egg yolk. Mix until light and add vanilla and cream. Sift flour and baking powder together and stir into the butter mixture. Chill for several hours. Roll out the dough until it is very thin and cut into oblongs or rounds. Spread with jelly and cover with a meringue made by whipping the egg white stiffly and adding the sugar gradually. Fold in the cinnamon and nuts. Place the cookies on a greased baking sheet and bake for 12 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Nut Tea Wafers.

[About Three Dozen.]

½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1¼ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon soda
½ cup chopped nuts
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and add brown sugar gradually, mixing well. Add beaten egg and sifted dry ingredients gradually. Add nuts and vanilla last. Shape the dough into a long, slender roll and wrap in waxed paper. Chill for several hours or overnight. Slice as thinly as possible and bake on a lightly greased baking sheet for from 7 to 12 minutes. The oven temperature should be 375 degrees.

Writings Seem to Present a Contradiction

Aggressive Hand That of the Employe.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

There's a catch in these two handwritings. The letter just said: "What would you say are the possibilities of these two people getting along together. The relationship is that of employer and employé—both women."

both women

My stationery must be used to say thank you

The riddle is to pick the employé. Both handwritings are highly intelligent. The larger one is aggressive, enthusiastic, and rather dominating. The smaller writing reveals a definite lack of self-appreciation, as you can see in that overlow capital M. There is charm of a most restrained and reserved type and an analytical, observant, precise mind.

All the writings were brought to me by a young woman who said: "I should be interested to know what you have to say regarding these two writings. I know both persons."

"Temperamentally they are very different and probably do not understand each other at all, but each has quality that the other lacks," I replied. "The one who wrote the larger hand should do all of the contact work because she is sociable and friendly by nature. The other writer should care for all detail. In spite of this writer's charm she is too modest, unassuming, reserved, and unresponsive to deal much with the public in general."

Yet the second person of whom I spoke is the employer and one whose name is very well known to the public because of her scholarly accomplishments! For a moment I was surprised. Then I said: "The 'large hand' acts as sort of a receptionist. Isn't that so?" It was. This employer cannot understand her own prestige. She is engrossed in ideas and people rather embarrass her. If her assistant wrote as she did there would be a definite lack of contact with the outside world. This is just the type of assistant she needs.

Executive ability does not always reveal itself in an employer's handwriting and this is as it should be. The secretary to the president of a large manufacturing plant might submit her employer's handwriting and it probably would reveal much executive talent. The secretary for a certified public accountant probably would find that her boss definitly lacked executive ability. If she stopped to consider the matter she'd realize he didn't need it since he did everything of importance himself.

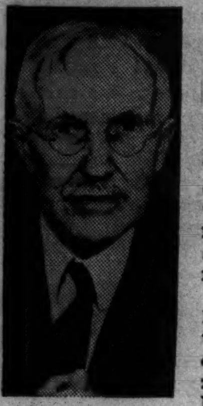
SWEITZER PLEA UNDER HOT FIRE IN APPEAL COURT

Justices Aim at Admission of $335,000 Shortage.

Justices of the Illinois Appellate court yesterday heard final arguments in the quo warranto suit of Robert M. Sweitzer to regain office of county treasurer from which he was ousted for shortages. They took the case under advisement and announced a decision would be made soon.



Justice Ross C. Hall.

During the hearing the justices sharply questioned Sweitzer's attorney, I. Harvey Levinson, regarding the latter's admission that Sweitzer was short $335,000 in his accounts as county clerk, and his contention that his client could not be ousted because he did not owe the money to the county but only to his successor as clerk.

Ousted in 1935.

The county board ousted Sweitzer as treasurer in June, 1935, when he failed to make good the shortages in his accounts. He held the office of county clerk from 1910 to 1934. An audit disclosed a shortage of $533,817, of which Sweitzer admitted $335,000.

Sweitzer, in his quo warranto suit, challenged the right of the county board to remove him from the treasurership for a shortage occurring while he was clerk. A ruling against Sweitzer was made by Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court, whereupon he carried the case to the State Supreme court. The Supreme court decided the statute under which Sweitzer was removed was constitutional, and sent the case to the Appellate court for an interpretation of the statute.

The statute in question authorizes the county board to remove a treasurer who is a defaulter and in arrears to the county.

Challenge His Reasoning.

Justices Ross C. Hall and Oscar Hebel expressed some wonderment over Attorney Levinson's line of reasoning.

"Doesn't it appear from the record that he [Sweitzer] didn't account for $335,000, and that he was required to turn it over to his successor, and didn't do it?" asked Justice Hebel.

"There is no question about that," said Attorney Levinson. "I don't deny that $335,000 was due his successor in the tax redemption funds, but that is no arrearage to the county."

"You hold it is between him, God, and the fellow who should get the money," said Justice Hall.

"If he refuses to account to his successor, he is a defaulter, isn't he?" Justice Hall continued. "Let's not quibble and get in a controversy. You can answer yes or no."

"I'll answer yes, but say if he refuses there is a criminal statute that subjects him to punishment," answered Levinson. He said the county board had overlooked Sweitzer's acquittal by a jury on the criminal charge of withholding funds.

The State's Argument.

During the reply argument of Assistant State's Attorney Jacob Shamberg, Presiding Justice Denis E. Sullivan did the questioning. Shamberg pointed out the removal order of the county board found that Sweitzer had failed to account to his successor for money collected.

"In other words, the board voted against sin, is that it?" asked Justice Sullivan.

"No, they wanted to be sure that no more money went the way of the $335,000," replied Shamberg.

Owners report that it runs for only a few cents a day . . . and that this remarkably low cost does not increase even after long service. They find, too, that Servel Electrolux means a practical absence of upkeep expense and depreciation—assures perfect food protection every minute of every day.

This lasting economy is the result of a basically different way of producing cold and ice—without noise, without wear. A tiny gas flame takes the place of moving parts in the freezing system of a Servel Electrolux. It circulates the refrigerant, which is hermetically sealed in rigid steel.

CZECH BOXERS START MARCH ON MILAN TOMORROW

SEE CHANCE TO WIN PLACES ON EUROPE'S TEAM

Victors Will Invade Chicago.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, April 28.—All Czechoslovakia, like Gaul, is divided into three parts for sporting purposes. This has made for enthusiastic competition in picking the boxing team that will represent this country in the battle for European championships at Milan, which will begin next Wednesday. The Czechoslovakian fighters do not expect to stop at Milan. They have hopes of winning places on the team which will represent Europe in the matches with Chicago's Golden Gloves team at Chicago May 28.

The Czechoslovakian team plans to advance on Milan Friday. The definite alignment of the team will be announced tomorrow.

Democratic Czechoslovakia, proud of its new régime, has developed amateur boxing along American lines. No government subsidy is asked or desired.

Good Fighters Developed.

Militaristic Germany and Italy perhaps dominate European boxing. But Czechoslovakia, despite its comparatively small population, has developed a number of fighters capable of coping with the best of the larger nations. It is considered quite possible for Czechoslovakia to walk off with one or even two of the European championships.

In an interview today, Vaclav Ruzicka, vice president of the Ceskoslovenska Unie Bozeru Amateru, explained the nation's internal competition and outlined the objectives of the organization. In each of the three divisions, sectional championships are decided. The winners and runners-up then go on in quest of national recognition. The divisions consist of the Czechs, the Moravians, and the Slovaks. The boxing centers are Prague for the Czechs, Brno for the Moravians, and Bratislava for the Slovaks.

693 Boxers Registered.

The president of the national boxing union is Dr. J. Skokan. There are 693 boxers registered in all divisions, with 310 competing in the Prague tournament this year.

Eighty boxers met at Brno on April 3 and 4 for the national championships. Three thousand watched each session. The national tournament alternates between Prague and Brno.

Four of the champions picked at Brno will go to Milan. The others were supplanted by older boxers with more international experience.

Prague amateur boxing is largely supported by the newspaper, Ceskeslova.

Because of close association with the United States, officials are hopeful of winning some of the European titles, in order to earn the subsequent trip to Chicago. They have heard a lot about the Golden Gloves events and believe they are the greatest of their kind in the world.

Bohucest Skarda, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., once a student at Springfield, Mass., predicts a brilliant future for Czechoslovakian boxing.

Go to Milan Tomorrow.

"The boys are now capable of making a good showing against any nation and if boxing is adopted as part of the army program during the two years of required military training, the result will surprise Europe," Skarda said.

A RIGHT THAT MISSED

MAREK RALLIES TO EARN DRAW AGAINST THOMAS

Max Marek, 1933 Chicago Golden Gloves champion, retained his state heavyweight championship last night by fighting a ten round draw with Harry Thomas in one of the fiercest fights ever held in the old Coliseum.

Thomas appeared on his way to a knockout victory in the early rounds, but great stamina enabled Max to absorb the heavy punishment without going down.

Marek then started a rally in the sixth and continued on the attack in the eighth and ninth rounds. This belated offensive brought him up on even terms. In the final round there was little to choose between the two sluggers as they stood toe to toe and lambasted each other.

Gate Assures Profit.

Jim Braddock, heavyweight title holder, and Barney Ross, welterweight champion, were in the crowd of 3,306, which paid $5,134. The attendance was below expectations. However, the gate assured a profit.

Marek was making his first defense of the title he won last December. Referee Davey Miller and Judge Edward Klein scored the fight a draw, but the other judge, William A. Battye, voted for Thomas, 51-49.

Marek weighed 185 pounds, thirteen less than Thomas.

Marek started fast and scored with a left jab to the head and body. A right to the chin as the round ended slowed him up. In the next round Max was stunned by a left to the jaw and a barrage of rights to the head.

After missing several rights in the third Thomas connected with a right to the chin which set Marek back on his heels. In the fourth round Marek became enraged when staggered by a terrific blow and he tore recklessly into Thomas.

Scrivani, Kettles Win.

Thomas opened a cut over Marek's eye with a left in the fifth, but Max retaliated with a left hook that blackened the challenger's eye. Marek then opened the sixth with the late rally which earned him a draw.

Max Zona, Chicago Heights, 204, defeated Bernie Bowman, Chicago, 221, in the six round semi-windup.

Andy Scrivani, Chicago, 135, stopped Art Greer, Chicago, 136, in the second round of the four round opener.

Pat Schoenberger, Lacrosse, Kas., 148, stopped Phil Kenneally, Chicago, 149½, in the third round.

Alex Kettles, South Bend, Ind., 201, stopped Ralph Davis, Chicago, 206, in 1:51 seconds of the first round. The former Golden Glover dropped Davis five times before the bout was halted.

Carl Vinciquerra, Omaha, 184½, and Jack Fargo, Chicago, 192, boxed a four round draw.

George Dixon II., Chicago, 132, knocked out Jack Otey, Chicago, 134½, in the second round of a scheduled six rounder.

Kentucky Will Test Its Derby Chances Today

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 28.—For Kentuckians either a heart sinking tale or one that will call for great rejoicing will come out of the renewal of the $5,000 Blue Grass stakes, which brings the Keeneland spring racing season to an end tomorrow afternoon.

The Blue Grass was revived this year to serve not only as a final Derby test for 3 year olds trained in this vast thoroughbred country but to show fairly conclusively just what chance a Kentucky bred and owned colt has in the Derby.

It no doubt will do all that, but most Kentuckians are fearful the tidings will be just the opposite from those they most desire to hear. They are afraid the outcome will call for no singing of "My Old Kentucky Home" at Churchill Downs come Derby afternoon a week from Saturday.

Bradley Pair Entered.

Six colts were named overnight for the Blue Grass, which is at a mile and an eighth. Two will represent Warren Wright, two others will carry the colors of Col. Edward R. Bradley, one is the lone Derby hope of Hal Price Headley. The other represents Col. Maxwell Howard.

The field and probable odds:

Horse.	Jocky.	Odds.
*Brooklyn	E. James	1 to 2
*Billionaire	G. Woolf	1 to 2
†Gosum	E. Steffen	2 to 1
†Galsun	I. Anderson	2 to 1
Fencing	No boy	10 to 1
Old Nassau	H. Dabson	10 to 1

*Bradley entry. †Warren Wright entry.

These colts, with the exception of Fencing, have had earlier tests at Keeneland. They did not run as their owners and trainers had expected. Any colt to demonstrate he has a semblance of a chance in the Derby must perform quite differently tomorrow. That's why Blue Grass folks are tossing in a fretful sleep tonight.

Three Candidates Arrive.

The Louisville Derby colony moved in a body for Lexington today to see the stake decided but before they left they had watched the unloading of three of the east's most formidable Derby contenders.

This shipment came in from Havre de Grace in Maryland. It included War Admiral, son of Man O' War, which so easily captured the Chesapeake Stakes last Saturday; Fairy Hill, William du Pont Jr's., winner of the $25,000 Santa Anita Derby last February, and Court Scandal, 3 year old champion of the Florida season, owned by Townsend B. Martin.

Lacks Dad's Size.

Floods in the east caused the three candidates to arrive at Churchill Downs a day late, but they proved to be good travelers. To all appearances they were in fine shape. They'll be Cleveland, O., April 28.—The local Indians refused to be courteous today when they encountered their old mate, Thornton [Lefty] Lee, wearing a White Sox uniform. Instead they accepted the occasion as one for merriment, thereby cutting short the Lee première and at the same time smothering the Chicagoans in defeat. The gaunt southpaw was in service for less than three innings which was long enough for the Tribe to do most of its important work in a 7 to 2 victory.

During Lee's two and two-thirds innings of action on his old home knob there was nothing less than a total of nine Indian hits. One of these was enough to prove a knockout for the day. With the bases loaded and none out in the third Earl Averill produced what is accepted as a homer on the local abbreviated premises. A fifth run scored off the southpaw before John Dungan Rigney could step in and show the Tribe some genuine pitching. Averill also was responsible for Lee being separated from a run in the opening session.

Rigney's pitching was of such a nature that Manager Dykes almost

Expect 30,000 to Enroll in Golf School

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The fifth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE, which will open on four Chicago park district courses next Tuesday night, will present an innovation in group instruction throughout the entire curriculum of four lessons.

Heretofore, students in THE TRIBUNE school have attended classes without any prior knowledge of what points were to be brought out by their teachers. Officials of the school this year decided that pupils were not receiving the full benefit of the lessons.

Upon the suggestion of Alex Cunningham, president of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, the school sessions this year will be preceded by articles in THE TRIBUNE which will make plain the subject of each lesson. For instance, a story will be carried next Tuesday morning in which the facts pertaining to the grip and stance will be brought out. All prospective entrants in the classes are urged to read this story, and those following

SIX RUNS IN 1ST DROP BRUINS INTO CELLAR

Grimm Jolts Lineup for Today's Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our proud Cubs plunked into the National league cellar yesterday when they suffered a 10 to 3 whipping at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds, who hadn't previously won a contest in the 1937 season. The trimming was not altogether unexpected, but the affair produced a real panic in that Larry French suffered a broken right hand during the course of the shelling in the first inning.

The Reds scored six runs in the first inning to make it easy for Paul Derringer to ring up his seventh straight over the Chicagoans on a carry-over compilation from last year. The big right hander now has spanked the Cubs 11 times in his last dozen starts against them, and holds a 21 to 11 edge in his all time ledger. The Cubs are the only team in the league, excepting the Reds, over whom he holds an advantage.

French's Second Defeat.

The defeat was the second for French, he having not been charged with the Cardinal victory scored when Johnny Mize socked him to drive in two runs and beat the Cubs with two out in the ninth in St. Louis last Friday. After Larry's injury yesterday, X-rays revealed that a bone on the little finger side of his right palm had been fractured. The hand was placed in a cast, and no estimate was made as to the probable time it will take for the energetic lefty to recover.

Before leaving for Pittsburgh last night Manager Grimm announced that he would bench Phil Cavarretta in favor of Joe Marty, the rookie from Los Angeles, today and shuffle the batting order in hopes of getting enough punch into the Cubs' attack to prevent them from being totally swamped until French, Tex Carleton, and Curt Davis can return to action. The new batting order will be Galan, Herman, Collins, Demaree, O'Dea, Hack, Marty, Jurges, and Shoun.

No Help in Sight.

Grimm said he had despaired of getting any new pitchers and would sit tight with what he has, relying on Clyde Shoun, who will pitch against the Pirates today, to take his regular turn on the mound. Newell Kimball arrived from Los Angeles yesterday and while there is no indication he is any better than Clay Bryant or Roy Parmelee, Grimm hopes to get something out of him. Davis is expected to get back into action within a week and Carleton in about two weeks. Just what will happen between now and then, however, nobody knows and Cub partisans hate to guess.

The Cubs had several chances to overtake the Reds after the first inning blowup, but faded. Twice they had the bases full, but couldn't get anything out of the situation. The only Chicago cheer was Augie Galan's emergence from his hitting slump. Augie doubled his first time up, singled his second, knocked a homer his third trip, and walked his fourth. He was thrown out on his last appearance.

The Reds made 14 hits, including a homer by Phil Weintraub, and doubles by Outlaw, Derringer and Myers.

That Big Uprising.

Here's what happened immediately upon the resumption of major league baseball after a two day respite: Outlaw opened the game with a double to left and stopped at third after Cavarretta had misjudged Cuyler's fly and let it fall for a single. Scarsella

DODGERS WIN 3-2 AS MUNGO HOLDS GIANTS TO 3 HITS

Even Standing; Old Feud Comes to Life.

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Van Lingle Mungo and the Brooklyn Dodgers evened matters with their arch rivals, the Giants, today by coming through with a 3 to 2 victory. Mungo yielded only three hits to the National league champions.

The victory was a double triumph for Mungo. With his catching choice, Randy Moore, behind the plate replacing the ailing Babe Phelps, the righthander outpitched Hal Schumacher, who defeated him in a hurling duel on the season's opening day.

At that, the question mark Brooklyn infield barely held together to give Mungo his first victory in three starts. Sporting a 3 to 1 lead in the ninth, the Dodgers weakened and allowed a Giant run to cross on a walk, Woody English's error and a forceout at second. With the tying run on first base, however, Rookie Jack McCarthy flied out to end the game.

The resumption of the Brooklyn-Giant rivalry was marked by a couple of hostile touches. One was contributed by a fan who hurled a pop bottle at Brooklyn Manager Burleigh Grimes, in the third base coaching box. The bottle landed at Grimes' feet. He picked it up and put it in his pocket. In the eighth Jim Bucher and Dick Bartell almost came to blows when the Giant shortstop tagged the Dodger base runner after a rundown between second and third.

ZEKE GETS THERE

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Zeke Bonura of the White Sox reaches third after stretching a double on Hale's wild throw. Catcher Pytlak of the Indians is covering the bag. Billy Webb of the Sox is on the coaching line. This occurred in the last inning of yesterday's game.

White Sox Are Beaten, 7-2, at Cleveland

forgot that his plan to baffle the Indians with one of their graduates had been a flop. Only three of the domestic performers accomplished hits against the youngster in five and two-thirds innings. One of these was a fluke by Averill, but it was good for a run because of a fielding miscue by Luke Appling. The two other taps were the work of Frankie Pytlak. As further proof of his skill, Freshman Rigney fanned five and surrendered only one pass.

As hitters the Sox didn't appear to be in the same league with their opponents. Mel Harder, a gentleman with a wicked curve ball, was the cause of this. For eight innings he merely toyed with the Chicagoans on a portion of two hits and a pass, only one man getting to second. In the ninth the Sox managed to stave off their first shutout of the year. Larry Rosenthal came through with his second two bagger, Zeke Bonura hit a double which was on the flukey order, and Appling did the rest.

A pass picked up by Walker was the sum of the Sox attack in the first inning. The Indians did better than that in their opening half. They coined a run for themselves by frisking a couple of hits off Lee's delivery. Lary led off with a single to left and stole second as Hughes fanned. Averill promptly furnished the first of his damaging hits. He pushed a single past Hayes and Lary galloped home. Trosky then popped to Appling and Rosenthal took care of a fly off Solters' bat.

Averill Clears Bases.

Terror started to spread through the Sox ranks in the third when Harder opened with a single over third. Lary singled and Hughes filled the bases when he beat out a slow bounding bunt along the third base line. This was where everybody scored on Averill's homer which would constitute only an every day fly ball in most parks but was good enough to slip through a hole in the center field screen on the local premises. The banging of Lee continued until two more had scored on singles by Trosky, Hale, and Campbell, whereupon Rigney stepped in and retired two men.

The Sox came into possession of their first hit in the third, Lee singling to left and expiring with Radcliff in a double play. Another hit popped up in the fourth and it was healthy enough to indicate that at least one run might result. Rosenthal led off with a two bagger to left. He was nailed between the bases on Walker's sharp tap to Harder. Bonura tapped to Hughes and Walker was forced at second. The possibilities of the double were completely erased when Appling grounded to short for an easy play by Lary.

Indians Score Again.

Appling's miscue furnished the Indians with a run in their half of the fourth. Lary started the inning with a roller to Luke and the latter fumbled. Hughes came through with the customary bunt. Averill decided not to swing at a pitch but wasn't quick enough so enjoyed a scratch single to Berger, Lary taking third. Trosky spanked a long fly to Rosenthal and Lary dashed home after the catch. The disturbance ended with Solters grounding to Hayes.

Rosenthal's second double of the day appeared with one out in the ninth. Walker was thrown out by Hughes. Bonura hoisted a tall fly over short center and it dropped for a double, Rosenthal scoring. Hale recovered the ball and heaved it wild toward the infield, Bonura going to third whence he scored an Appling's single to right center. Hayes then ended the argument with bounder to Harder.

WALKER RETAINS FIRST PLACE IN BIG SIX BATTING

Heaviest hitters of the day were Gerry Walker of the Tigers, American league leader, with three hits in four times at bat, boosting his mark from .714 to .722, and Gil Brack, Brooklyn rookie.

YANKS WIN, 6-1, FROM SENATORS; TRAVIS INJURED

Shortstop Hurts Knee; Gomez Yields 5 Hits.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—Behind Lefty Gomez's five hit pitching, the champion New York Yankees won their fourth straight game today, beating the Senators, 6 to 1.

The defeat was doubly costly to the Senators. Not only did they sink farther into the cellar, but they lost the services of their shortstop, Cecil Travis, who was injured sliding into third in the seventh inning and had to be carried from the field. Preliminary examination revealed a wrenched right knee.

Cubs Open Two Game Series in Pittsburgh Today

The Cubs fled to Pittsburgh last night after their one game home stand. They are not to tarry long in the flood area, however. They will be back in Chicago Saturday and Sunday, scheduled to play the Cardinals before departing Sunday night on their first eastern trip.

It took fourteen minutes to stagger through the first half of the first inning yesterday.

Gabby Hartnett and Tex Carleton of the Cubs' sore arm battalion, did a little tossing. No estimates were made as to the probable date of their return to competitive service.

DOERR RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL; HE FEELS FINE

Boston, Mass., April 28.—(AP)—Bobby Doerr, rookie second baseman of the Boston Red Sox, was released today from St. Elizabeth's hospital where he had been held 48 hours for observation.

Doerr was struck on the head by a pitched ball during Monday's game with the Washington Senators, but appeared to suffer no ill effects beyond a slight concussion. He was pronounced fit to resume play. Doerr joined his teammates in the afternoon and said he felt "fine."

French Suffers Broken Hand as Reds Wallop Cubs, 10 to 3

flied to Cavarretta, Outlaw scoring. Goodman walked, then Lombardi caromed a wicked shot off French's right hand. The ball was deflected to Collins who threw to French on first for the putout.

French insisted upon staying in the game after the entire Cub squad had inspected his injury. Weintraub singled to right, scoring Cuyler and Goodman. Kampouris was safe on Hack's fumble, after which Myers singled to left center, scoring Weintraub. French withdrew and was sent to a hospital for X-rays. Root came in and Derringer smacked his first pitch for a double to left, scoring Kampouris and Myers. Outlaw fouled to O'Dea.

Galan opened the Cubs' offensive with a double to left and reached third on Herman's fly to Goodman. Cavarretta fouled to Outlaw and Derringer tossed out Collins.

Record in Wastefulness.

After the Reds had wasted Goodman's double in the second inning, the Cubs scored a run in their half. Hack doubled with two out and came in on Jurges' double.

The Reds were held to a walk by Kampouris in the third after which the Cubs set some sort of a record for wasted effort. Galan singled to right and stopped at second on Herman's single to left. Cavarretta popped to Kampouris, then Collins smacked what looked like a homer.

The wind blew the ball just short of the fence in deep right center. It fell for a single, Galan stopping at third, Herman at second. Perforce with the bases thus filled, Demaree tapped into a double play.

Galan Busts One.

After the top of the Reds' batting list had been retired in order in the fifth, the Cubs went ahead in the hit column, though they still trailed 6 to 1 in the more essential department. With two out Jurges beat out a bunt for the seventh Chicago hit. Then Outlaw threw out Root.

Galan opened the fifth with his homer into the right field bleachers, his third hit of the game. Kampouris launched the sixth with a single over second, the third hit off Root, and moved up on Myers' sacrifice. Root threw out Derringer, but Outlaw singled to left, scoring Kampouris.

The Cubs got one run home in the sixth, then again became awed at the sight of loaded bases. Demaree singled to right and reached third on two infield outs. Jurges walked, then Root singled to right, Demaree scoring and Jurges stopping at second. Galan walked, filling the bases. Herman forced Root at third on a tap to Outlaw.

Weintraub opened the eighth with a homer into the right field stands. Kampouris flied to Demaree, but Myers doubled to left center. Derringer flied to Galan and Myers was doubled off second, Galan to Herman. Hack, Jurges, and Pinch Batter Frey went out in order in the Cub eighth.

The Reds made two runs off Bryant in the ninth before Kampouris ended it by hitting into a double play with the bases full.

Pick Stratton to Pitch Today for White Sox

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 28.—The White Sox started for home tonight for two day appearance against Roger Hornsby's Browns. Monty Stratton will pitch in the opener of this two game affair tomorrow. With the Browns series disposed of the Sox will move to Detroit for three games.

Bonura, now called Zekey Boy by his mates, has purchased a new cream colored coupe. He thinks it will match his white gabardine suit and black shirt with yellow tie. Zeke intends to have the family crest—a bunch of bananas—painted on the doors.

The fans who had been rooting for Lou Berger during his couple of years as an Indian, gave him a hand when he made his first appearance at the plate, although they may have had an idea the change in uniform wouldn't bring on a hitting transformation. It didn't. Berger fanned.

"WHO'S AFRAID OF LOVE?"—it's the new, popular tune. Smoke the cigar that's easier on your breath . . . then you can join in the singing.

New scientific discoveries have shown that White Owl's Vintage tobacco is exceptionally low in the substances that cause unpleasant tobacco breath. Tests with a delicate osmoscope prove that this tobacco leaves less odor.

White Owl is a better cigar because it always has a Vintage-tobacco filler.

Nature—not factory processing—made this tobacco exceptionally mild, mellow.

We maintain a vast crop-inspection system—the only known organization of its kind—to locate Vintage tobacco. Even in Vintage years, we classify all filler tobacco into seven grades—and buy only tobacco of the quality of the top three for use in White Owls.

Make your next cigar a Vintage White Owl. You'll like its mild taste, and the ladies will like you for choosing it.

High Water Mars Start of Trout Season

BY BOB BECKER.

Trout fishermen who are planning to open the season May 1 in the northern tier of counties in Wisconsin are apt to find too much high water for good fishing, according to the latest report from Ashland, Wis. Bayfield, Iron, Washburn, and Douglas counties are permitted a May 1 opening on trout whereas the rest of the state waits until May 15 for trout fishing.

Here is a late report on trout fishing conditions in the streams around Ashland:

"Conservation Warden L. D. Jones reports trout streams in this area to be quite high, far above normal. Heavy rains have swelled the creeks and rivers. The water in the streams naturally is roily, too. But the warden contends that if no further rain falls this week conditions may be fairly good for the opening of the season. Exceptionally high water is reported in the Brule, Morengo, and Fish creeks, the three most heavily fished streams in this area.

Warm Temperatures Prevail.

"Warm temperatures have prevailed up here for the past two weeks and little or no snow is left in the woods. Temperatures already have hit the 60 degree mark in northern Wisconsin while the average is about 45 degrees with northeast winds prevailing. A change to south winds this week would help conditions materially. Roads are in fair shape."

There are some excellent trout streams in the extreme northern tip of Wisconsin but apparently they will be in much better shape for fishing a little later in the season.

The Michigan trout season opening last Saturday wasn't the big success hoped for judging by reports from various parts of the state. Authorities thought that possibly 100,000 fishermen might be on the streams the opening day but cool weather and high water combined to reduce the number considerably. Overcrowding of some of the best trout waters also was a factor in the day's sport.

Rifle Creek High.

At West Branch, Michigan, one of the most famous trout fishing centers in the state, the early boys made good catches in some of the fishing holes although Rifle creek, a favorite of many fishermen, was too high. Grayling, Michigan, had a big turnout of fishermen and recorded some excellent catches. In the upper peninsula swollen streams discouraged many anglers. [We have a hunch that some of these opening day fishermen expressed a preference for a later opening date.] We have opened the season in the upper peninsula on May 1 and found that date about two weeks too early for fair fishing because of high water.

GODOY DEFEATS GALENTO; SIMON STOPS TORRANCE

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight champion, punched out a victory over Tony Galento of Newark in the ten round feature at the New York Hippodrome tonight. Godoy weighed 196 and Galento 222¼.

In the other half of the double bill Abe Simon, New York contender, put a decided crimp in the heavyweight hopes of Jack Torrance, former shot put star at Louisiana State university, by stopping the giant Louisianian in the second round of a scheduled six.

The card attracted 4,500, who paid $8,984.04 to watch the giants in action. It was Torrance's first appearance in an eastern ring and his first reverse since he blossomed out as a professional fighter last December. Prior to tonight's rout he had gone to the post four times and scored four knockouts.

it, so that they may be better prepared for the actual instruction.

In order to summarize each lesson, THE TRIBUNE also decided to present a résumé of each lesson over station W-G-N. A leading member of the Illinois P. G. A. will give a brief talk about each lesson on the night following that on which it is given. The first of these will be aired next Wednesday night.

The school yesterday reached the 10,000 mark in registrations for the lessons, which will be given on four courses—Jackson, Diversey in Lincoln park, Columbus, and Marquette. It appeared that the enrollment for the 1937 course would mount to 30,000, proportionately larger than any of the first four schools, all of which utilized at least fifteen courses.

It's Easy to Join.

Joining the school is the easiest part of the business. Simply fill out the accompanying coupon with name, address, and the course at which you intend to take the lessons, and mail it to the golf editor of THE TRIBUNE.

The first lesson will be given on next Tuesday night, the second on Thursday, May 6; the third on Tuesday night, May 11, and the fourth and final on Thursday night, May 13. Each lesson will begin promptly at 6 p. m., when a leading professional will give an exhibition of shotmaking. Following this the pro in charge of the class at each course will then begin the lesson proper, at approximately 6:30 p. m. Each class will last about one hour. All pupils are urged to appear as promptly as possible, in order to derive the full benefit of the instruction.

Pick Best Pupils.

The fourth lesson on May 13 will see the professional in charge at each of the four courses, aided by his colleagues, name the best and second best pupils in each division—men, women, boys, and girls. These thirty-two prize students then will gather on Sunday afternoon, May 16. A jury of tournament and teaching stars will then name the ablest student in each class, and the winning four will receive a bag and a set of clubs from THE TRIBUNE. Suitable prizes will be awarded to the other prize pupils.

EXPECT FIELD OF 15 IN INAUGURAL EVENT AT AURORA

Entries Close Today for Saturday Handicap.

Names were being dropped into the entry box yesterday for the first feature of the Chicago racing season, the Fox Valley Inaugural handicap, which headlines the opening of Aurora's nineteen day racing meeting Saturday. The meeting will close Saturday, May 22, with the sixth running of the $12,000 Illinois Derby. Opening day on Saturday is expected to attract a record crowd as the thoroughbreds return to Chicago.

Racing Secretary Dick Leigh predicted the largest entry of the meeting for the Inaugural, which is to be run at 6 furlongs for 3 year olds and upward with a prize of $1,500.

A fast track, as indicated, would bring out a field of better than fifteen thoroughbreds.

Track Is Faster.

While Aurora's racing strip has been cushioned by the addition of red sand, it is considered faster than a year ago and some track marks are regarded as sure to fall. The figure aimed at in the Inaugural, 1:11 for the 6 furlongs, was set by Zekiel three years ago.

Entries for only the feature close today. Mr. Leigh will announce the weights tomorrow when entries close for the rest of the eight race card.

The field that will face Starter Johnny Morrissey in the Inaugural is expected to be made up from the following horses: Black River, Woodlander, Corum, Porcellus, Miss Ginbar, Marcabala, Salaam, Silverette, Bon Centime, Zevson, Biography, Biff, Reelon, Boston Sound, Play Pal, Colonel Ed, Mr. Joe, and Fire Advance.

Stalls Are Filled.

Secretary Leigh anticipated no trouble at any time in filling the eight races daily, for the $125,000 to be distributed to horsemen during the meeting has filled the stalls to capacity and late comers without reservations have had to be turned away.

The official camera tests for the Illinois racing commission are scheduled for 3 p. m. today and the first roll call for mutuel clerks will take place an hour earlier.

Steward Christopher J. FitzGerald, who will represent the state commission in the stand along with T. C. Bradley and J. T. Ireland, arrived in Chicago earlier in the week from Keeneland.

KENTUCKY WILL CHECK ITS DERBY CHANCES TODAY

Six to Start in Blue Grass Stake.

out on the track early tomorrow morning to gallop off train legs.

War Admiral resembles his sire, Man O' War, in many ways. He's not as big as his dad was when the latter was running away from all opponents, yet he is shaped almost exactly like him from his nose to the tip of his tail.

Still the Kentuckians who size him up say he can't possess the power of Man O' War because he hasn't got the size.

Bob McGarvey, trainer of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way Farm stable, beamed a wide contented smile this morning when he announced that Sonny Workman, head jocky for the C. V. Whitney stable, had agreed to ride the Milky Way stable's colt, Military, in the Derby.

Neither Derby Winner.

This will mean that Trainer McGarvey will have the services of the two great jockies who rolled up so many victories a few years ago when Whitney horses were winning more money than those of any other American owner. A. Robertson, at that time with Whitney, is now the contract rider for Mrs. Mars. He had choice of her Derby candidates and picked Reaping Reward.

Although they are two of the most famous jockys in the country, neither Robertson nor Workman has ever won a Derby.

Delighted at having his old saddle companion wearing the same silks in the Derby, Robertson declared today "One of us will win it this year."

PRAGER BEERS TOTAL 3,161 AT LEGION ALLEYS

With games of 1,117, 988, and 1,056, totaling 3,161, at the Legion Bowling alleys, the Prager Beers displayed their right to first place in the Wednesday division of the Classic league and won two games from the Monarch Beers. Devito's 737 topped the individuals. The Pabst Blue Ribbons defeated the Winkler Motor Service in two games. The Kraft O-ke Dokes took two games from the Baby Ruth Candies and the Charles H. Webers won all three from the Oak Leaf Motors.

WINNERS OF TWO WRESTLING BOUTS TO MEET IN MAY

Shikat, McMillen, Shikina, Ali Baba Face Action.

Survivors of bouts between Dick Shikat and Jim McMillen and Ali Baba and Oki Shikina are to head a wrestling show in May, it was announced yesterday by Co-Promoters Ed White and Fred Kohler.

The men appear in featured matches at the Coliseum tomorrow. The Baba-Shikina struggle is booked for 90 minutes and the Shikat-McMillen tussle for 30 minutes.

Orville Brown, Kansas City, Mo., heavyweight, meets Danny Winters of Chicago. Winters possesses a string of victories, but he is expected to receive a hard test in Brown. Hans Schnabel and Art Van Sexon, Los Angeles giant, meet. So do George Mansor and Bobby Bruns, Oak Park youngster who gained a reputation as a headliner by his fine performances in the east in recent months.

Eddie Pierce arrived from New York yesterday to finish preparations for a ten round clash with Frankie Misko, Saginaw, Mich., middleweight, at Majestic arena tomorrow. He was accompanied by Al Diamond, a stablemate, and Manager Bill Daly. After his combat with Misko the Johannesburg boxer will head for Denver, where he tops a card May 6. Upon his return here Pierce and his handler will be joined by Maurice Strickland, heavyweight of New Zealand, who is taking a rest in Florida following draw battles in New York against Arturo Godoy and Nathan Mann. Strickland is to go to London late next month for a title fight there with Tommy Farr, British empire champion, the last week in June or the first week in July.

Plans to present a fight card for the benefit of needy members of the Chicago Old Time Fighters' association will be discussed tonight at a meeting at the tavern conducted by George Gardner, former light heavyweight title holder. George Hilton, middleweight of twenty-five years ago, now a Chicago business man, is to be the principal speaker. . . . Billy Marquart, Pete Lello, and Al Nettlow have returned from Milwaukee, where they scored victories Monday.

Joe Gould, representative of Jim Braddock, yesterday announced that the Golfmore hotel at Grand Beach, Mich., has been selected as the training camp for the heavyweight champion's title engagement with Joe Louis at Comiskey park June 22.

Braddock will engage in his final drill in the loop at Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon, after which he will move to the camp site, which is located sixty-five miles from Chicago, five miles east of Michigan City, Ind.

Challenger Louis will arrive this morning from Stevensville, Mich., for an exhibition bout at the Lake Shore Athletic club tomorrow afternoon. Julian Black, co-manager of Louis, said negotiations for a conditioning base for the 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves champion "are just about settled." The choice rests between Michigan City, Ind., and Lake Geneva, Wis.

Special Trains, 17 of Them, Set for Derby Run

Seventeen all-expense trains, the heaviest Derby movement since 1929, will leave Chicago on Thursday and Friday of next week for Louisville, where the 63d Kentucky Derby will be run May 8.

Twelve of these trains will leave over the Pennsylvania, four over the Monon, and one over the Chicago and Easter Illinois. Sammy Wolff, 219 North Clark street, will run his 27th consecutive Democratic special, for which nearly 150 reservations already have been made.

One of the most elaborate trains will be the Tuckman-Camp De Luxe special, also over the Pennsylvania. The train, which is being sponsored for the second year by Joe Tuckman and Eddie Camp of 2003 West Division street, already has over 200 reservations and probably will leave the city in two sections. The Pennsylvania's own Midnight Supper Special will be in two sections.

The Monon will run four Derby sections, including the South Shore Country Club Special and the Hotel Men's Special. The four Monon trains will leave Thursday night and stop off at French Lick Friday, returning to the Indiana spa for a day after the Derby. One hundred and twenty-five reservations have been made on the South Shore Country club train.

The Eastern Airlines will fly five extra planes on its regular Louisville run on Derby week-end and the TWA and United Air Lines expect to fly chartered planes to Churchill Downs.

CARBURETOR

YELLO-BOLE

A new way of burning tobacco, which burns it better, cooler, and cleaner. Most pipes don't have a bottom-draft, but this one has—producing a new kind of smoke.

2 UPDRAFT keeps bottom of bowl absolutely dry.
3 Takes the rawness out of any tobacco, makes it mild.
4 CARBURETOR ACTION burns tobacco evenly and completely, producing better flavor.
5 CARBURETOR ACTION keeps smoke cool at all times.

Now at your dealer's. Even a cigarette-smoker can smoke it, and like it. No "breaking-in"—bowl is caked with real honey, like all Yello-Bole Pipes. Get one today.

"Yes sir! THAT'S Genuine!"

The first thrilling sip . . . the satiny smoothness . . . the deep golden color and the teasing, tickling bouquet of Wood-Stock Whiskey tell you that here is a real bourbon . . . gracious and friendly, with inbred character in every drop.

Nature . . . rich, ripe small grains . . . and the honored distilling traditions of Old Kentucky alone are responsible for Wood-Stock's superbly aristocratic flavor. Try it today and you, too, will say, "Yes, Sir! That's GENUINE!" At leading bars and taverns.

OFFICIALS TELL EFFICIENCY OF NEW FIRE BOAT

Fred A. Busse to Save City $14,000 Yearly.

A saving estimated at $14,000 annually, greater efficiency in fighting water side fires, and elimination of irksome delays to land trafic are the three principal benefits the city will derive from the operation of its new Diesel engined fire boat, the Fred A. Busse.

These advantages were pointed out with statistical backing yesterday by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan and Anthony J. Mullaney, chief deputy fire marshal, as they continued to test the fire boat and its equipment preparatory to placing it in active service.

Old Illinois to Be Retired.

When the Busse is ready for duty at its dock in the Chicago river just west of the Franklin street bridge, the three old steam propelled boats will be shifted. The Illinois, which is 39 years old and has been held in reserve, will be retired; the Graeme Stewart, 29, will be placed in reserve; and the Joseph Medill, a sister ship to the Stewart, will be stationed in the Calumet river at 92d street.

The difference in fuel costs constitutes the main item in the yearly saving, Chief Mullaney said. Steam had to be maintained constantly on the Graeme Stewart and her coal bill ran about $7,000 annually. The Busse will consume fuel oil only when in operation, and her fuel bill is estimated at less than $1,000 a year.

Save $5,000 in Wages.

Five thousand dollars more will be saved in man power, Mullaney stated. The Graeme Stewart carried a crew of nine men on each of two shifts; the Busse will have only eight men. And the yearly appropriation for repairs, the chief said, can be reduced by about $3,000.

In addition to these tangible economies, there will be an incalculable saving to motorists and pedestrians. All bridges had to lift for the Graeme Stewart when she was responding to a fire alarm or when merely making her regular 10 a. m. Thursday trip to the mouth of the river to take on coal. Only a few low railroad bridges need be opened for the Busse.

Efficiency Is Cited.

The Busse outstrips the old steam boats in efficiency, Mullaney contends. From her 16 outlets water can be thrown farther than from any other fire fighting equipment on water or land, Mullaney said. Its speed of 15 miles an hour is four miles greater than that of the old craft, and its 7 foot draft is 3½ feet less than that of the others.

The Busse was built at a cost of $134,000. It is equipped with the most modern type of fire fighting machinery including a telescopic monitor pipe that can be elevated 30 feet above water, which is twice as high as he monitor decks on the old boats, and three additional streams can be had at 22 feet above the water line.

In its recent tests, the boat delivered 9,800 gallons of water per minute at 150 pounds pump pressure. That is twice as much water as two of the older boats can pump, Mullaney said.

BOY OF 3 FLEES HIS BED AND GOES OUT IN PAJAMAS

Kay Rigg, 3 years old, woke up early yesterday morning and decided that sleeping was a waste of time. He got out of bed, found the front door open, and walked away from his home at 1916 South 55th court, Cicero, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rigg, slept.

Kay walked to 56th avenue and Cermak road, in his pajamas, barefooted. Then Policeman Joseph Tuma happened along and took charge of the boy.

Kay couldn't supply his name, and he had left his identification cards in his pants at home, but Policeman Tuma wasn't stumped. He started to ring doorbells, asking householders if they were missing a very small boy. Finally he came to the Rigg home, where there was a surprised reunion.

Girl, 15, Swallows Poison After Fleeing from Home

Evelyn Upperman, 15 years old, left her home at 711 South Central Park avenue on Tuesday after a quarrel with her parents. Last night, fearing to return home, she spent her last dime to buy a small quantity of poison in a drug store at 2400 Madison street. After swallowing the poison she fell in front of the place. Police took her to the County hospital. Physicians there said her condition was not serious.

On the eve of the general observance of National Music week on the airlanes W-G-N is to present a gala three-part broadcast from 9 to 10:30 tonight over the coast to coast Mutual Broadcasting system. The special broadcast, in which the concert orchestra under Henry Weber, the dance orchestra under Harold Stokes and with Paul Whiteman as guest leader, distinguished soloists, and an outstanding dramatic cast directed by Blair Walliser are to participate, will be presented from W-G-N's big audience studio before a gathering of business, civic, and social leaders.

Mr. Weber also plans special salutes to music week on his concert broadcasts next Monday and Thursday.

Final half hour of the evening will be given over to the concert orchestra and soloists, Attilio Baggiore, staf tenor; Kathryn Witwer, staf soprano, and William Miller, also regularly heard with W-G-N. The musical selections will include "Carnival Scene" from "Pagliacci"; Spanish Dance No. 1"; "Artist's Life"; the well-known song, "Parted," by Tosti, to be sung by Mr. Baggiore; the "Sextet" from "Lucia," to be sung by Miss Witwer, Miss Bernice Fowler, Mr. Baggiore, Mr. Miller, George Grammer Smith, and Mark Love, and a speciall arrangement by Adolf Hoffman of a paraphrase on "Song of Songs," the vocal work to be done by Mr. Miller and Miss Witwer.

First portion of tonight's show, from 9 to 9:30, is to feature the dance orchestra and chorus, Arthur Wright, Dorothy Russell, and Mark Love in a parade of melody including the hit songs since the turn of the century to the present. Whiteman is to conduct the orchestra in that favorite of 1914, "When You Wore a Tulip and I Wore a Big Red Rose." THIS BIG CAT HAS MANY NAMES, ALL OF THEM CORRECT

Visitors who ask to see the catamount, the panther, the painter, or the jaguar will all be directed to the same cage today at the Chicago Zoological park in Brookfield. And what they'll see will be in the exhibit marked mountain lions.

The new animal is entitled to use every one of those names because, the experts say, he's known under all of them in different parts of the country.

The zoo got him from a zoo at Bridgman, Mich., as a mate for the female mountain lion which has been at Brookfield since 1933.

EDISON MERGER PLAN EXPLAINED AT SEC HEARING

Move to Simplify System, Says P. L. Smith.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—P. L. Smith, financial vice president of Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago, told the Securities commission today that his company's $150,000,000 plan to acquire the outstanding securities of three other Illinois utilities was intended to simplify and integrate the utility system of the Chicago area.

The commission's hearing on the Commonwealth Edison application for permission to acquire the securities will continue tomorrow.

Companies Involved in Plan.

The companies which would be absorbed by Commonwealth Edison and the Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation are the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, the Western United Gas and Electric company, and the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

Smith said dissolution of the three companies was not contemplated at present, but was "something to consider."

He testified his company now owns 32.97 per cent of the voting stock of Public Service, 60.16 per cent of the voting stock of Western United, and 48.47 per cent of the voting securities of Illinois Northern.

Security Exchange Ratios.

Under the plan the ratios for exchanging Commonwealth Edison securities for the outstanding securities of the three companies are: Three shares of Commonwealth Edison common stock for one of Public Service, four shares of Commonwealth Edison preferred stock for one of Public Service, 3.5 shares of Commonwealth Edison common for one of Western United, and 3.7 of Commonwealth Edison common for one of Illinois Northern.

Shell Union Oil.

Investors' Guide: Please give me statement on Shell Union Oil.—Mrs. N. H.

Answer: Shell Union Oil corporation is a major unit in the American oil industry. Its operations are completely integrated, from drilling on its own oil lands to marketing of refined products. It was formed in 1922 to take over Royal Dutch-Shell and Union Oil properties in the midcontinent and California fields. Royal Dutch-Shell and Union interests own approximately two-thirds of the 13,070,625 shares of no par common stock outstanding.

Continued purchase and development of oil lands has been accompanied by expansion of refining and distributing facilities. Potential crude oil output is more than sufficient to supply refineries, though restriction of production has made it necessary to purchase crude.

Although having broad marketing systems in California and the middle west prior to 1929, the company relied considerably on jobbers to dispose of its refinery output. With the weakening of the wholesale market and the activity of large oil companies in gaining control of desirable outlets, marketing facilities were expanded on a large scale.

The company also produces and sells natural gas, but not at retail. Subsidiaries sell tires, tubes, batteries, and other auto accessories.

Overproduction, weak prices, and lessened demand hit the company after 1929. Reversal of these trends in the last two years has restored operations to a profitable basis. Earnings in 1936 were the best since 1926. Net income after all charges but before nonoperating income was $3,674,000, or 24 cents per common share, in the first quarter of this year, the best first quarter since 1927, and compared with $1,682,000, or 9 cents a share, in the 1936 first quarter. The record of recent years follows:

	Gross revenues.	Net income.	Inc. per com.sh.
1936	$231,698,000	$22,494,000	$1.57
1935	202,169,000	6,813,000	.37
1934	186,708,000	*1,354,000	*.27
1933	167,011,000	*4,241,000	*.49
1932	161,125,000	660,000	*.12
1931	177,583,000	*27,008,000	*2.23

*Loss.

After reducing funded debt $80,000,000 in six years the company had $47,208,500 of 5 per cent debentures outstanding at the end of 1935. To effect an interest saving and provide additional cash $60,000,000 of new 3½ per cent debentures were sold in March, 1936, and all old debentures retired.

Dividends were omitted on the 370,800 shares of 5½ per cent $100 par preferred shares outstanding from late 1931 to the middle of 1936. Arrears were cleared on Dec. 15, 1936, however, and a dividend of 25 cents a share, the first since June, 1930, was paid on the common stock.

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance, The Tribune presents "Everyday Economics." Letters addressed to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here will be welcomed.

Foreign Exchange.

The foreign exchange market is not a fixed place. Transactions are carried on between the foreign departments of commercial banks. The market is neither fixed nor stable.

New York City is the center of trading in this country. Currencies are quoted in terms of dollars and cents. In Paris the relation between the dollar and franc is expressed in terms of francs to the dollar. In London the pound sterling is quoted at so many dollars or francs to the pound.

Exchange of currencies between countries is necessitated by commercial transactions and for travel purposes. They may also be bought for hoarding or speculation.

Values of currencies as against those of other countries normally depend upon their intrinsic value—that is, content of gold, silver, copper, or in the case of paper money, its backing—and the supply and demand as influenced by political and economic factors.

Recent war threats in Europe have had considerable influence in depressing the ratio of foreign currencies to the dollar. When the Spanish civil war broke off trade relations, demand for Spanish pesetas dropped accordingly and today they are not actively quoted. When Italy embarked on its Ethiopian conquest its currency—the lira—dropped sharply because of the country's weak financial condition and fears that Italy would become embroiled in a general European war.

Political moves are accentuated in the foreign exchange market because of its international aspect. As in the stock market, rumors play a large part in affecting day by day quotations.

Tomorrow: Stabilization funds.

RAIN REPLACES DROUTH AS PERIL TO FARM CROPS

Field Work Slowed by Downpours.

Throughout a large section of the fertile central western farm belt farmers are expressing fears that excessive spring rainfall, which has retarded field work, may cause shortages in their grain and seed crops.

Agricultural experts, while admitting the farmers' fears were logically based, say they believe that warm, dry weather and sunshine within the next two weeks will put soggy farm lands in good shape for sowing and growing.

Rainfall, the boon and bane of the farmer's life, has caused late spring operations in northern Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and parts of Iowa, the Dakotas, and Minnesota. While slowing up spring work schedules on one hand, however, the rain has increased the subsoil moisture as protection against the summer heat or a drouth such as ravaged the middle west last year.

Preparatory Work Delayed.

It is in these sections that farmers assert they have been unable to work their fields into shape for sowing oats and spring wheat, or to prepare the ground for vegetables. Should inclement weather continue many plan to plant late crops, turn their oats and wheat lands into rye, barley, or soy beans or enlarge the corn acreage. In general, corn planting will not start until next month.

Inquirers revealed that though the excess rain has thrown spring work schedules out of gear, it has been excellent for the winter wheat crop and pasture lands. Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana farmers need good pastures, for the alternate thaw and freeze of last winter heaved most of the alfalfa and clover out of the ground.

In the great plains region an entirely different situation is found. The rainfall there, throughout the western Dakotas, Nebraska, Montana, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma, is far below normal. There is a serious shortage of subsoil moisture, while the dry top soil provides good ammunition for destructive dust storms.

Same Situation in Canada.

This summary of the crop situation, as revealed by the survey of the country's bread basket, is also true of Canada. There rains have retarded field work in Manitoba, while unusually dry weather threatens to make the spring wheat yield of western Canada 50 per cent of normal.

In northern Illinois, where rainfall has been from one to two inches above normal, farmers report delays of from three weeks to a month in their usual spring schedule. In many counties less than half the oats have been seeded, though this work is usually finished by this time.

Cook county truck gardeners are equally concerned over water-logged fields. Their lettuce, spinach, and other such crops grow best in cool weather, and if they cannot be planted soon the summer heat may prove disastrous.

Rain Light Downstate.

Southern and central Illinois farmers report their oat seeding nearly completed. The rain there has been light for the most part. They are also assured of a good winter wheat yield. Reports indicate a satisfactory rye crop, while corn planting has already started in many sections.

A few days of warm, drying weather will let Wisconsin farmers get their spring planting out of the way in time for corn planting, which usually starts May 7. But they report much of the farm land is still too wet for working.

Indiana should have plenty of subsoil moisture this year, but the heavy rains, particularly in the last week, delayed all field operations, though aiding cereals and grasses.

Southern Crops Progressing.

Except in the south, there has been little seeding or planting of potatoes. The southern Indiana rye and wheat crops also are in good shape. In the same sections orchards are progressing, but there is no fruit in bloom in the north.

Winter wheat, clover, and alfalfa are growing well in Michigan and the fruit buds are swelling. But again the late spring has slowed up the spring plowing. Should normal weather conditions prevail through May, however, the farmers in general expect their crops will not be greatly affected.

The rainfall in Michigan is approaching seven inches, which would be a record. This, according to crop reports, has slowed up seeding oats, sugar beets, barley, and onions.

Conditions in West Iowa.

Although the season is generally two to three weeks late, the rain and recent heavy snow in western Iowa are expected to prove an aid to all crops. In the north central and northeast sections oats and barley are only four-fifths seeded. Corn planting, on the other hand, has made considerable progress.

In 1927 Iowa had one of its latest springs. Yet crop experts pointed out that the oat yield was well above normal, although some oats were not sowed until May 12. A late spring also usually increases the corn acreage.

Farmers throughout all the central western states, where rain has been heavy, are divided on the opinion of whether the excess water has drowned out chinch bugs and grasshoppers. Iowa entomologists believe the precipitation came too early. Nebraskans

Bill Would Cut Price Paid for Foreign Gold

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—A resolution forbidding the secretary of the treasury from purchasing any more gold from foreign countries at more than $25 an ounce was introduced in the house today by Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. [R., N. Y.].

Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr.

The Roosevelt administration has accumulated 12 billions of gold of which 4 billions have been imported from foreign nations at $35 an ounce, or approximately twice the cost of production, Fish declared.

"This is the outstanding financial blunder of the New Deal," he said.

Origin a Mystery.

"The origin of this gold policy is shrouded in mystery, and no responsible New Deal office claims parentage, but the two men who are responsible for leading us into this fool's paradise are President Roosevelt and Secretary Morgenthau, neither of whom has had any experience or knowledge in banking or finances.

"It is not surprising, therefore, that we have blundered blindly into this disastrous financial mess and have become the Santa Claus for the gold producing countries of the world and those with large gold resources. I estimate that Great Britain has unloaded 2 billions of dollars on the taxpayers of the United States since the gold policy went into effect in January, 1934, at a profit of a billion dollars. France has sold the United States government a billion and a half and likewise has made a tremendous profit. Both of these countries have repudiated their war debts, not even paying the interest on them.

America "Angel of Europe."

"The American taxpayers, under the ruinous gold policy of the President and the secretary of the treasury, have become the 'angels' of Europe, and are now engaged in helping to finance these countries in their mad armament race. All of the nations of the world, including Soviet Russia, have naturally unloaded their gold upon us at exhorbitant profits, which, if we tried to sell back, we probably could not get 50 cents on the dollar.

"This insane and costly gold policy is almost on a par with the high financing of John Law's Mississippi bubble. The American people have been turned into milch cows, to be milked by every foreign country. We have already had an unfortunate experience with the war debts, but at least they originally had some worthy purpose. Later on, we were milked by the sale of German bonds and marks to the extent of several billions of dollars, through which Germany paid reparations to France and other countries. We are now being deliberately milked by every nation as a result of the financial blundering and stupidity of the administration."

STANDARD OF IND. QUITS EMPLOYE REPRESENTATION

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana last night announced the abandonment of its employé representation plan which was established in 1919. The step follows similar action by other large concerns since the Supreme court validation of the Wagner labor act. The act outlaws labor organizations in which the employer exercises any direct or indirect control.

The company itself established the present representation plan and under it appoints half of the representatives.

Edward G. Seubert, president, advised employés to work out some new method for bargaining with the management.

YEAR'S LARGEST GOLD SHIPMENT ENGAGED IN LONDON FOR U. S.

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Bankers engaged $21,603,000 of gold in England today for shipment to New York, augmenting the trans-Atlantic metal flow. It was the biggest gold consignment arranged at one time this year, Wall street reports said, and surprised financial observers in the light of indications that London was a substantial seller of American stocks on the decline in speculative markets here. It brought the total since Sept. 26 to $483,800,000.

With merchandise imports this year showing an excess over exports, exchange men inferred the undiminished gold flow indicated accumulation in this country for foreign account of large balances, either for potential purchases of goods or as temporary haven for capital. Soviet Russia has been reported selling $200,000,000 gold in the London market. It was suggested the large engagements may have included more soviet metal.

The French franc advanced sharply yesterday in the foreign exchange market and the British pound registered a moderate gain. The franc recovered .01 3-16 cent, lifting the rise to 4.46 15-16 cents. The pound advanced a quarter cent to $4.94⅝.

MOVE TO REPORT INSURANCE CODE ENDS IN DISORDER

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—(AP)—The house insurance committee hearing on the administration approved insurance code ended in disorder today as a vain attempt was made to report the measure out with a recommendation for passage.

Shouts for adjournment and threats of efforts to kill the bill on the house floor were heard as the clerk called the roll on the motion of Nicholas Hubbard, Mount Pulaski Democrat, to send the measure out. Hubbard withdrew his motion as a preponderance of votes against the action was recorded. Further consideration of the bill was postponed until next week.

The disorder apparently arose from the vote by which an amendment of Stanley A. Halick, Chicago Democrat, was tabled. The amendment would reduce the interest rate on loans on insurance policies from six to four and one-half per cent. Several committeemen charged the vote ended in a tie and that another member voted after announcement of the result, which they contended was contrary to the rules.

Before the outburst occurred, the committee tabled an amendment to reduce requirements which would be imposed against Lloyds of London. The vote was 19 to 3.

The code, already passed by the senate, thus far has not been amended to change any of the major provisions as originally written.

LEADERS URGE CO-ORDINATION OF ALL TRANSPORT

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—A long-time government policy looking toward the coördination of all means of transport was advocated today by leaders in air, land, and water transportation at a round table discussion held in connection with the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The speakers agreed that government regulation, and in some cases government aid, was essential now and in the future.

At another meeting of the convention government spending was assailed as inflationary. Business leaders were told at one group meeting that administration farm officials hope to develop a long-time national farm program with funds now earmarked by congress for existing AAA programs.

Bank of America Approves Two for One Stock Splitup

San Francisco, Cal., April 28.—(AP)—The Bank of America announced today its stockholders had approved a 2 for 1 stock split to facilitate distribution of the stock to Transamerica shareholders. The bank is more than 99 per cent owned by Transamerica corporation, which recently announced it was considering a division of part of the stock among the corporation's owners.

Nature Stages Corner in Corn So Price Soars

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Yesterday's closing prices on grain for delivery in July, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk. ago.	Mo. ago.
Wheat ...	$1.17⅜	$1.17⅛	$1.20⅜	$1.27¾
Corn	1.18¼	1.17⅝	1.17⅛	1.15¼
Oats	.44½	.44⅞	.44¾	.46⅜
Rye	1.02	1.00½	1.04½	1.07⅞
Soy beans..	1.70½	1.69	1.76	1.60½

The price of May corn soared yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade as the result of an unusual market situation which brokers described as "a natural corner." Deliveries under the May future contracts will begin in three days but the scarcity of supplies in Chicago elevators is making it difficult for traders to deliver against their market commitments.

The lack of grain in Chicago is the result of last season's short crop, which was insufficient to cover normal commercial market requirements. Thus a market "squeeze" has developed without any apparent manipulation on the part of traders. The corner is the result of a lack of supplies rather than a monopoly of supplies by any trader or group of traders.

Part of Upturn Lost.

May corn sold 3⅞ cents a bushel above the preceding day's price at the peak yesterday. This was within an eighth of a cent of the maximum fluctuation permitted under exchange rules. It closed at $1.30 a bushel, with a net gain of 2⅞ cents. On Tuesday it advanced 4 cents a bushel.

July corn rose ⅝ cent a bushel to $1.18¼. At their closing quotations both May and July corn, on which deliveries must be made out of supplies now on hand, were selling above the comparable future contracts for wheat.

Wheat prices were moderately higher, closing with gains of ¼ to ⅞ cent a bushel. May rye advanced sharply as the delivery date approached, closing with a gain of 2½ cents a bushel. Oat prices were unsettled and soy beans advanced up to 1½ cents a bushel.

Little Corn in Chicago.

There are less than 1,000,000 bushels of domestic corn in Chicago elevators, but practically all of the grain is understood to have been sold.

At the opening of the session yesterday there were uncompleted contracts of 5,528,000 bushels of new style May corn and 588,000 bushels of old style. No. 2 yellow corn sold 10 to 11 cents a bushel over May in the cash market yesterday.

Rumors of financial difficulties in the London and Paris markets as the result of heavy speculation in commodities were largely responsible for a break of 1¼ to 2⅜ cents a bushel in Liverpool wheat futures. Winnipeg declined sharply early but rallied with American markets and closed ⅜ cent lower to ⅜ cent a bushel higher.

Recommend Tax on Gas Piped Into Illinois

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—By a vote of 11 to 0, the senate revenue committee today recommended passage of the bill introduced by James O. Monroe [D., Collinsville], imposing a tax of 5 cents per 1,000 feet of natural gas piped into Illinois. Proponents, mostly spokesmen for labor groups, claimed that pipeline gas displaces about 3 million tons of Illinois coal each year. Funds collected, should the bill become law, would be used for relief purposes.

House Bill Would Cut Margins to 35 Per Cent

STOCK MARKETS BREAK AGAIN AS OWNERS UNLOAD

European Selling Is Reported Heavy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 28.—Climaxing the almost continuous decline that began early in March, the stock market was subjected to a terrific selling barrage today that leveled the industrial averages to their lowest mark in many months and left the entire list in a weak and bedraggled condition. Only 40 issues advanced as 812 declined. Turnover for the day was 2,525,480 shares.

The decline was attributed by brokers to a number of factors. Among there were overnight Washington news that the administration will put new teeth in monopoly laws to stem a possible inflationary boom and new warnings by the President on public stock market speculation and the dangers of spiraling living costs.

European Selling Reported.

A major influence was also seen in a renewal of security offerings from abroad, principally from London and continental houses that lost heavily in slipping prices of commodities and African gold shares and were forced to obtain funds to meet losses elsewhere.

Cables from Paris disclosed the private American banking firm of Cudebec & Co. had suspended when it was unable to meet immediate commitments in the United States. London reported one house in difficulties, but aided by banks. London rumors said several other firms were hard pressed.

The financial community did not overlook the proposal of Representative Hamilton Fish for legislation prohibiting the government from paying more than $25 an ounce for gold purchased abroad.

All in all, Wall street appears to have its eyes focused exclusively on Washington developments, inasmuch as traders paid scant attention to favorable elements in the business news and the many bullish earnings statements.

Stocks Weak at Start.

Stocks were weak from the opening bell as floor brokers rushed from post to post to execute a flood of selling orders. Many issues probed new bottoms—at one time 300 issues were at their lowest levels of the year—with losses in the leaders running as high as 9 points.

Every group of stock on the board was affected by the lack of nearby bids. Dozens of active issues fell 3 or more points. United States Steel, despite its excellent statement, came close to being ousted from the 100 club as it plummeted down to 100⅞, its lowest mark of the year. It rose to 101⅛ before the close, to take a net loss of 6⅞ points.

Other issues in the so-called "blue chips" that touched new depths included Chrysler, Standard Oil of New Jersey, and General Motors. Bethlehem sagged 4½ points, Caterpillar Tractor gave up 3, Anaconda lost 3⅜, and Continental Can lost 2¾.

Other Large Losses.

Similar losses were turned in by Yellow Truck, whose earnings statement was regarded as surprisingly poor, Deere, Boeing Air, Johns-Manville, Union Bag, Homestake Mining, Coca-Cola, International Paper, Howe Sound, and International Nickel.

Allied Chemical fell 9 points and Paramount first preferred registered the biggest loss of all, 12¾ points.

Railroad stocks suffered wide losses despite excellent earnings reports for March. Utility stocks were led downward by American Telephone, which dipped to a new low on a loss in excess of 3 points.

SEARS, ROEBUCK REPORTS RECORD SALES VOLUME

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday reported gross sales of $43,412,403 for the period from March 27 to April 23, the third period of the fiscal year. This in an increase of 20.5 per cent over the corresponding 1936 period.

Sales from Jan. 30, the beginning of the current fiscal year, to April 23 totaled $114,313,225, an increase of 19.6 per cent over the comparable 1936 period. Sales for both the four week period and three months established new records.

Continued Rise in Food Prices Predicted by U. S.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—Federal food experts predicted today the average family will need a little more money in the next few weeks to pay the grocer, the butcher, and the baker. Agriculture department surveys showed the general level of retail food costs recently has been at the highest level in six years. The economists said the general trend "will continue slightly upward during May and remain above last year's level."

Blame New Deal's Change of Front for Crash in Prices

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Chief topic of conversation among financial men during the sharp break in the markets yesterday was the manner in which government officials in Washington appear to be making every effort to push commodity and stock prices downward.

Critics of the administration's borrowing and spending program, who have long warned of the inevitable inflationary results of such a course, yesterday were pointing out that the New Dealers now are trying to escape the blame for the consequences of their own inflation scheme by criticizing the consequences and forgetting the cause.

Several Factors Contribute.

The following moves by the administration are believed to have contributed greatly to the setback in the stock and commodity markets recently:

1. Threat of revival of the NRA. President Roosevelt, in opposing the Miller-Tydings bill, which would leave control of corporate price fixing in the hands of state governments, is believed to be preparing the way for a comprehensive scheme of federal regulation of business and prices similar to that contained in the old NRA.

2. Proposal by Attorney General Cummings that the anti-trust laws should be revised "to prevent monopoly and unfair competition." Although the New Deal plan for preventing "unfair competition" under the NRA in reality fostered monopoly under federal supervision, Cummings' outburst was interpreted as the sign of an impending resumption of the attack on big business generally. The department of justice move to dissolve the Aluminum Company of America is believed to be the first step in such a campaign.

President's Warnings.

3. Warnings against rising prices by President Roosevelt. Early this month the President declared at a press conference that prices of certain raw materials were rising too fast. Just before departing on his fishing excursion to Texas he issued an additional warning Tuesday night against "undue advances in prices." Yesterday the stock market experienced one of its worst declines in several years.

4. Remarks by Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board on the monetary situation. Beginning about the middle of March Eccles made a series of statements warning that continuation of government spending would lead to drastic inflation. He asserted that one way of holding back a runaway upward surge of prices would be to reduce the price of gold. This comment by the boss man of the federal agency which holds the controls of the nation's banking structure threw a scare into investors and speculators—foreign and domestic—which hasn't yet been exorcised despite several official denials of intention to cut the gold price by the treasury and the White House.

Reserve Boost Plays Part.

5. The federal reserve board's action in boosting to the maximum legal limit the amount of cash reserves required to be pledged with the reserve system by the commercial member banks. The final instalment of this money is to be placed with the reserve system on Saturday.

Bankers and brokers yesterday admitted that they were mystified by the administration's seemingly sudden about face. After four years of talking about "reflation" and pushing up price levels the key men in Washington have suddenly begun trying to move in the opposite direction.

In the financial community the recent weakening of the credit of the federal government, as evidenced by the recent decline in government bond prices, is believed to have had something to do with the sudden attempt to check the effects of inflation.

AGGREGATE RESOURCES OF 863 ILLINOIS BANKS RISE 12.7% LAST YEAR

Resources of 863 commercial banks in Illinois increased 12.7 per cent during 1936, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation reported yesterday. Total resources of Illinois banks insured by the corporation were $4,430,407,000 on Dec. 31, 1936, an increase of $497,608,000, compared with a year earlier.

Loans and discounts of the 863 banks increased $193,235,000, or approximately 26 per cent during 1936, bringing the total to $924,932,000. The banks held $515,044,000 of government securities at the year end. Deposits increased $490,101,000, or about 14 per cent during the year.

The growth in bank resources in Illinois last year was larger than for the country as a whole, in which total resources gained 10.4 per cent.

LONG SHORT HAUL RELIEF GRANTED ON SAND, PAPER

Washington, D. C., April 28.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today granted the Canadian National railways and eight domestic carriers relief from the long and short haul provision of the interstate commerce act on shipments of newsprint paper from Donnacona, Quebec to Chicago. The authorization, effective from May 1 to Nov. 30, specified the rate be not lower than 31 cents per 100 pounds from Donnacona, Quebec, to Chicago. higher rates to intermediate points.

The commission also granted the Chicago and North Western railway relief until Nov. 16 from the long and short haul provision on shipments of sand and gravel from Janesville and Afton, Wis., to Arlington Heights, Ill. The commission set the authorized rates at not less than 50 cents a ton, with higher rates on shipments from, to, and between intermediate points.

AMERICAN BANK IN PARIS CLOSED BY PRICE DROP

PARIS, April 28.—[Special.]—Cudebec et Compagnie, a small American private bank here, suspended operations today. The sharp drop in commodity prices on world markets resulted in the bank's being unable to meet its New York commitments. Albert Cudebec, head of the firm, said the bank would be in the hands of a "friendly" liquidator tomorrow.

Bourse circles attributed the drop in commodity prices to American governmental efforts to discourage rising prices. Cudebec said the bank had been unable to collect its assets rapidly enough to meet its liabilities in the face of the rapid decline.

FLOODS CURTAIL STEEL ACTIVITY; OUTPUT DROPS

Interruption of operations in several plants in Pittsburgh and Wheeling as a result of flood conditions resulted in a drop of 1½ points this week in steel ingot production to 90½ per cent of capacity, the magazine Iron Age reported yesterday. The rate at Pittsburgh this week was estimated at 92 per cent, off 2 points from last week, and the Wheeling rate was placed at 75 per cent, against 99 per cent last week.

Aside from flood consequences no marked change from a 90 to 92 per cent rate of operations for the industry is looked for before the end of May at least, the journal said.

An easier situation prevails in the steel market following announcement that present prices will be continued through the third quarter. Incoming business compares favorably with the February volume, but is considerably below that of March.

In contrast with strength in pig iron and coke scrap prices continued to decline last week, with losses of 75 cents at Chicago and $1.50 at Pittsburgh. The Iron Age scrap composite price dropped 75 cents to $20, the third consecutive weekly decline.

FRANCE PLANS TO NATIONALIZE RAIL SYSTEMS

Move to Relieve Big Treasury Drain.

PARIS, April 28.—[Special.]—Plans for nationalizing the French railroads as a means of relieving the desperate French financial situation today were disclosed by Finance Minister Vincent Auriol. Deficits of the railroads, which have been paid for many years by the government, have comprised large parts of national budgets.

Vincent Auriol.

Under state ownership freight rates would be increased 10 to 15 per cent, the minister said. There are six principal railroad systems in France, only two of which, a line serving the northwest part of the nation and another in Alsace-Lorraine, are under state operation.

Owe State Vast Sum.

The railroads, Auriol pointed out, owe the state 25,000,000,000 francs [about $1,115,000,000], although their joint capitalization amounts to only 8,000,000,000 francs [approximately $358,800,000]. Under the plan all the roads would be amalgamated into one company with the state owning 80 per cent of the stock.

In disclosing the rail nationalization plan, Auriol said the government would follow the same policies as adopted for acquisition of control of munitions factories.

All private railroads in France are operated under 99 year state leases, which expire between 1950 and 1960. The French rail systems were coordinated shortly after the war and a central fund created into which they were to pay profits and out of which deficits were to be paid.

Rails' Revenues Fall.

Subsequent economic collapse and loss of world trade caused revenue declines, and as of Dec. 31, 1936, when accumulated deficit of the common fund had risen to 22 billion francs, the resultant drain on the national budget was approximately 1 billion francs a year.

Total railroad mileage in France is approximately 26,000.

Auriol also disclosed that the finance committee of the government had refused to float a long term loan despite the general financial condition and repeated demands of the General Confederation of Labor for financing a big public works program.

The minister declared that such a loan would carry a "mortal blow" to laboring classes because it was certain to fail.

HOW YOU CAN HELP STOP AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Better Lighting of Highways Is Urgently Needed Today

By Robert E. Kenyon

Night traffic on streets and highways is only about a fourth or fifth as heavy as during the day, but night driving is eight or ten times as dangerous. A decade ago only about a third of all motor accidents occurred at night, but today they represent about two-thirds. Daytime accidents, according to many estimates, have actually fallen off. A very large proportion of rural accidents occur at night. One authority says night accidents cost the country a billion and a half dollars annually.

Safer night driving, then, is certainly one of the most important considerations in cutting automobile accidents. Our most important highways should be fully lighted. One authority suggests that all major highways carrying heavy traffic should be fully illuminated. He says that there are about 50,000 miles of this type of road out of a total of 350,000 miles in our state systems. Such a program, if carried out, would probably save 5,000 lives every year and prevent 50,000 motor casualties. It would be a great contribution toward more safety on our streets and highways.

Detroit found that proper lighting meant the end of motor fatalities on three sections of street during a certain period, while 40 fatalities occurred at these points in the previous two and a half years. On two parkways in New York, night accidents went up 37% when lighting was turned off for economy reasons. Indiana is considering lighting 1,000 miles of highway, and Ohio is working on a program for 48 demonstration highways, all properly lighted. Other states are making progress, including Illinois.

Citizens will be doing a public service by demanding better lighting on heavy-traffic highways. Science and engineering are ready to co-operate with several types of economical lighting adaptable for this purpose. Compared with the expense of eliminating grade crossings, the cost will be moderate. Better lighting is one of the essentials of our efforts for cutting motor accidents.

Securing better lighted streets and highways is in a class with securing sound drivers' license laws everywhere—they can be done now if public opinion will demand them. And adequate insurance protection for every automobile is something we can have now—and it is absolutely essential. Every careful driver will appreciate that fact. For careful drivers only, we offer the best in automobile insurance at savings in cost from 20% to 28%. If you can qualify as a careful driver we would be pleased to have your inquiry so we can supply more details of our protection. CHICAGO LLOYDS

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—The bond market sold off today, with losses particularly heavy in lower grade issues and convertible bonds. High grade liens were little affected by selling, however, and government bonds finished moderately higher in a number of instances.

Strength in governments was attributed to reports from Washington that President Roosevelt is supporting a legislative move to cut appropriations for the next fiscal year by 15 per cent and to renewed assurances that the federal reserve banks were actively supporting the government list.

Issues convertible into stock such as Studebaker 6s, Republic Steel convertible 4½s, and Youngstown Sheet and Tubs 3½s—all big gainers in the recent rise in stocks—were among the heaviest losers.

Most of the foreign section fared poorly. Polish and Colombian issues were among those having declines of 1 to 2½ points. Abitibi Paper and Power 5s slumped 3¾. Cuban, Italian, and Uruguayan bonds also were weak.

Volume of trading totaled $11,682,000, par value, against $8,918,000 yesterday.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks yesterday declined as much as 5 points. Public Service of Northern Illinois lost this amount, the no par also dropped 5 points, Chicago Electric Manufacturing lost a similar sum, Commonwealth Edison dropped 2 points, Ken-Rad Tube dipped 3 points, and Zenith Radio was off 2¼ points. Among the few to move against the trend, Illinois Brick picked up ½ point to close at 13. Chicago corporation was the most active issue in the list, declining ⅛ on a turnover of 4,550 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were weak yesterday. Continental Illinois declined $5 to $7 as quoted by various dealers, and First National was $8 lower. Chicago Title and Trust dropped $2 to $3 a share and Harris Trust and Savings was unchanged to $10 lower on the bid price.

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was stated in an item yesterday that Gen. Charles G. Dawes had been elected chairman of the board of the Stevens Hotel corporation. This was incorrect. The position is held by Rufus C. Dawes, brother of Gen. Dawes, who has served since the formation of the company more than a year ago. No change has been made nor is any contemplated.

RAIN REPLACES DROUTH AS PERIL TO FARM CROPS

Field Work Delayed by Spring Downpours.

believe it killed off most of the grasshopper threat.

Although late rains delayed somewhat the seeding in eastern Nebraska farmlands, in general the crops of that state are said to be promising. The western section, however, reports damage from high winds and dust storms.

Similar conditions prevail in North and South Dakota. The eastern sections of both states have had excessive precipitation, which retarded all field work. But in the west, where moisture is badly needed, high winds are shifting the top soil and blowing out seedlings.

Except for the western area, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma farmlands are found coming along under normal spring weather.

On the eastern fringe of the farming belt the late spring weather has hampered crops but slightly.

DOWNPOURS CONTINUE

Most sections of the middle western grain belt received more rainfall in the week ended Tuesday than in the preceding seven day period, according to the weekly report of the weather bureau released yesterday. Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois showed marked increases in the moisture received.

The following table shows the rain fall reported by the federal bureau for the week ended April 27, together with figures for the period from April 6 to 27 compared with normal:

TVA, UTILITY MEN CLASH OVER DIP IN SECURITY PRICES

Willkie Says Power Raid Depresses Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—A row concerning the reason for the depression in the market price of utility securities in the southeast developed today between David E. Lilienthal, Tennessee Valley authority power director, and Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation.

Wendell L. Willkie.

David E. Lilienthal.

In testimony of Lilienthal before the house appropriations committee, released for publication today, the director asserted that one of the main reasons for the lowered prices of utility securities in the TVA area was the discouraging statements of company managements concerning the destructive activities of the TVA.

Lilienthal's Statement.

"When the management constantly states to the public that their company is going to the eternal bowwows, blaming it all on the TVA," said Lilienthal, "it is too much to expect any investor to think very highly of the securities of that company and they have been depressed on account of that factor, among others."

"Would you call that psychological effect?" inquired Representative Louis Ludlow [D., Ind.], member of the committee.

"Yes," responded Lilienthal, "and since the market prices of the securities are so largely affected by factors of that kind, what the management said obviously would be reflected in the market quotations."

Lilienthal's comment was prompted by Ludlow's statement that "I have had some expressions from insurance companies that hold bonds of private compaines voicing a good deal of concern over the probable effect of the TVA on their bondholdings."

Wilkie Issues Reply.

Wilkie, after reading Lilienthal's testimony, issued the following statement:

"Mr. Lilienthal's statement is amusing to any one acquainted with the causes affecting market prices. The depressed prices of these senior securities is due not to what either Mr. Lilienthal or the managament of these companies say—these depressed prices are due to what the Tennessee Valley authority does.

"If th Tennessee Valley authority instead of discussing market prices would promptly and permanently discontinue its policy of duplicating the existing facilities of the utilities in the southeast, raiding their territory, taking away their customers, the prices of utilities securities in that area would take care of themselves.

"It is interetsing to note that the Tennessee Valley authority optimistically expects to have an annual income in 1943 of 11½ million dollars from an investment of 520 million dollars. This is at a gross rate of about 2 per cent with no provision whatsoever for operating expenses or taxes. Utilities pay this much annually in taxes alone on the same amount of property."

NONSTOP DENVER AIR SERVICE WILL BE STARTED SOON

One Round Trip Flight to Be Made Daily.

A nonstop air service between Chicago and Denver will be inaugurated about May 15 by United Air Lines, W. A. Patterson, president, announced yesterday. One round trip daily will be flown at first, with improved service soon afterward, he said.

W. A. Patterson.

Denver is the last city of its size in the United States to be without a direct east-west air mail and air transportation service. It has been placed on air mail route No. 1 by the postoffice department, however, and thus becomes a regular stop on United's San Francisco, Chicago, New York airway. Action of the postoffice in authorizing United Air Lines to fly 96 miles south of its regular route is based upon an important opinion rendered two days ago by Carl A. Crowley, solicitor for the department.

Ruling by Crowley.

In effect, Crowley said that an airway was not to be construed a mere geometic line on a map to which an air transportation company must cling. Instead, he ruled, an airway should be considered a "zone of influence." The air transport line should be allowed to serve communities which are within reasonable distance of its regular air route.

This opinion follows closely upon the ruling of the postoffice that Northwest Airlines should be allowed to fly 60 miles south of its regular route through Washington so that it can serve Yakima. It also is consistent with the postoffice department's actions in the past in ordering airlines to give air mail service to various cities along regular routes.

Daylight Flights at Start.

For the time, Patterson said, the service into Denver will be flown as a daylight operation only, as no radio or light facilities are available over the route the company proposes to fly. This will be from Chicago to a point west of Omaha on the regular airway.

Thence the company's planes will bear south over the great plains area, crossing over Lexington, Neb., and straight into Denver. West bound out of Denver the planes will fly north almost to Cheyenne and make connections with the regular airway. Denver has an excellent airport.

BUSINESS BITS

Cal Sivright yesterday was elected president of the Oliver Farm Equipment company to succeed C. R. Messinger, who was reëlected as chairman of the board. A. King McCord, who has been assistant to the president, and J. M. Tucker, general sales manager, were elected vice presidents.

L. J. Janata of the International Dairy company, was reëlected president of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., an organization of 115 Chicago milk distributors, at the group's annual meeting in the Stevens hotel yesterday. Paul Potter was reëlected executive secretary.

Paul P. Hastings has been appointed freight trafic manager of the Santa Fe railroad, succeeding the late C. C. Dana.
